Premier Of Laos Flees, Big Battle For Capital Near

Anti-Red Forces Gathered For Siege Against Leftists

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A pitched battle for this southeast Asian capital started today after neutralists Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma fled the country, his hopes of a negotiated peace shattered.

The departure of the premier at dusk last night came shortly after two advance battalions of anti-Communist Gen. Phoumi Nosavan reached the outskirts of the city and began setting up siege artillery.

SAFE IN CAMBODIA

Souvanna arrived safely in Phnom Penh, Cambodia today. Six members of his Cabinet and several members of Parliament were reported to have flown there with him in five planes.

U.S. Embassy sources in Cambodia said preparations were being made to evacuate all of the several hundred male employes of the Vientiane Embassy, aid missions and other U.S. agencies. Women and children were evacuated last summer. The Vientiane Embassy was said to be awaiting instructions from Washington before starting the evacuation.

EXPECT BATTLE

Red-kerchifed paratroopers loyal to left-leaning Capt. Kong Le, who took over the capital in a surprise coup early yesterday, expected Phoumi's troops to storm the city at almost any hour.

Vientiane was under curfew. Streets were deserted except for an occasional jeepload of soldiers.

Phoumi's right-wing forces, estimated to total 2,000 men and backed by armor and artillery such as Laos has not seen in six years of intermittent warfare with pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels, began reaching the outskirts late Friday.

Religious Sect Riots In Seoul, 1,000 Arrested

SEOUL (UPI) — A mob of religious rioters smashed into the offices of Korea's largest newspaper here today, ransacked the premises and then battled 1,500 policemen in a club-swinging melee that left scores of persons injured.

Police, who battled with truncheons and tear gas, announced they had arrested 1,101 of the rioters, including more than 700 women. The wholesale arrests filled up almost every jail in the city's district police stations.

Police tonight issued a nationwide alert after learning that headquarters of the "Olive Tree" sect had wired all branch churches — with a membership of some 100,000 persons — to send reinforcements to renew the demonstrations.

Sen. Fulbright, Dillon Might Not Get Jobs

NEW YORK (UPI)—President-elect John F. Kennedy has all but ruled out Sen. J. William Fulbright, (D-Ark.), as secretary of state in his new administration, the New York Daily News reported today.

Quoting "highly informed sources" in a dispatch from Palm Beach, Fla., the News also said Kennedy has offered the secretary of treasury portfolio to Republican Under Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon.

But Dillon said in a statement in Washington, D.C., that he has "not been offered a position" in the cabinet. He and Kennedy held a conference Thursday night.

A Dillon spokesman said they "discussed foreign trade policies, the balance of payments problem, the mutual security program, and the scheduled establishment next week in Paris of the new organization for economic cooperations and development."

Marin Gets Only Light Rainfall

A steady drizzle this morning gave Marin a light soaking that ranged from a fraction of an inch to almost a half inch of rain.

More of the same weather was forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

The weatherman predicted moderate to heavy rainfall throughout the state this weekend. There probably will be snow in the mountains from Yosemite northward. Snow is expected to the 5,000-foot altitude in the Sierras and 3,000-foot level in the Siskiyous.

About 11 o'clock this morning, Corte Madera had .38 inch of precipitation. Other spot checks showed .03 inch in San Anselmo at 11 a.m., .46 inch in Larkspur at noon, and .40 in San Rafael at noon.

California State Automobile Assn. and the Ski Tow Operators Assn., report good ski conditions, with no chains required on the major highways.

Driver Hurt, Gets Ride In His Ambulance

Vehicle Rolls Into Turrini As He Helps Boy

An ambulance driver joined his patient in the ambulance today when both were taken to San Rafael General Hospital after the ambulance rolled into the driver while he was helping the patient aboard.

Angelo Turrini, 46, of 11 Oakwood Drive, San Rafael, owner of United Ambulance Co., rolled his ambulance to the Rafael Theater shortly before noon in response to a call on an injured child.

The youngster, Wesley Cadra, 9, of 120-B Ross Street, San Rafael, was injured when pushed to the sidewalk by an unidentified boy while the two were standing in line at the box office.

According to San Rafael police, Turrini stepped out of the ambulance to assist the boy when the vehicle rolled backward, pinning his leg between its bumper and another car.

Rafael G. Dufficy, Marin County Physician, who happened to be passing, stepped into the breech and drove both driver and patient to the hospital.

Turrini was admitted to the hospital with cuts and bruises on his right leg. Wesley was sent home after having his right eyebrow stitched and dressed.

Oldest Pilot In U.S. Dies

PALO ALTO (AP)—Frank Coffyn, 82, last of the five original members of the Wright Brothers exhibition flying team and developer of many pioneer aids to aviation, died today.

He was the oldest pilot in the United States. In 1944, when he was 66 years old, he qualified for a helicopter license, No. 3. His airplane pilot's license was No. 26.

Oroville Wright taught Coffyn to fly, at Dayton, Ohio, in 1910. Three of the five original Wright team members were killed in air accidents in a year.

In the spring of 1912, after he left the Wrights, Coffyn took the first motion pictures from an aircraft. They were used as newsreels.

Later he helped develop an electric motion picture camera for use in airplanes.

He participate in making the first aluminum pontoons for aircraft, in 1914. In those years, he was free lancing in the New York area.

Mrs. Donnelly, in her letter of resignation, gave pressure of other duties as her reason for resigning, Flautt reported.

A successor to Mrs. Donnelly will be considered by the San Anselmo City Council at its regular meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

'Live Bomb' Truck Smashes House, Causes Power Failure

A "live bomb" in the form of a driverless, loaded butane truck yesterday afternoon careened down a steep Black Point hill, sheared off a power pole and crashed into a house in which there were three children.

The impact ripped the kitchen wall from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wescott at 131 Iolanthus Avenue.

The driver of the truck, Walter Santos of Petaluma, told California Highway Patrolmen he had stopped to deliver fuel to a house on Laurel Avenue and was placing a block in front of the wheels when the truck broke loose, knocking him down.

It traveled an estimated 70 yards, knocking down a power pole and transformer before crashing into the hillside home.

Wescott's son Wayne, 11, was in the kitchen at the time of the crash. Also in the house were their other two children, Vicky, 15, and Cindy, 11. Both parents were away. Wescott is a truck driver employed by Pacific Motor Transport.

Wescott said Santos' first act was to see to the safety of the children, then shut off all gas and electricity in the house. Santos then called the California Highway Patrol and his employer, Decarli Bros. Petaluma Butane.

Novato firemen blocked traffic from the area most of yesterday evening because of the danger of fire and explosion. The truck was drained of its load of about 250 gallons of fuel before it was removed this morning.

The area was blacked out for several hours before PG&E crews replaced the pole and transformer. Damage to the house was not estimated.

The children's grandfather, George Bruce of 105 Iolanthus Avenue, said Wayne and Cindy ran to his house and "borrowed two saw horses" which they used to set up a traffic blockade after hearing firemen talk of the danger of an explosion.

Asked if he was scared when the truck opened up the kitchen wall in front of him, Wayne said "I guess so—my knees were sure knocking."

JURY DEADLOCKED

Garety, Former Boss Battle To A Draw

Former Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich, in his new role as defense lawyer, and new Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety battled to a draw last night in their first jury trial encounter in Marin Municipal Court.

A jury, sitting before Judge Leonard A. Thomas, came out hopelessly deadlocked 9 to 3 for acquittal of San Francisco brewery worker Hans Joachim Kiepe, 51, accused of drunken driving. After two and one-half hours of deliberation, the jurors tossed in the towel.

Whether or not Kiepe will have to face a new trial depends on Garety.

Kiepe was arrested last Aug. 17 on the Sausalito lateral. A blood sample taken after his arrest showed an alcoholic content of .173, well above the .150, which is considered the borderline beyond which drivers should not be on the road.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Kiepe freely admitted he had six martinis before the arrest and conceded his blood alcohol content could well have been .173. However, he maintained that he had been brought up on beer since age 5 and had more tolerance to liquor than the average person. Therefore, he was not drunk.

Under Weissich's questioning, Kiepe said his grandfather started him off at 5 by taking him to beer gardens in his native Germany. He said the brewing company where he now works provides "beer breaks" instead of "coffee breaks."

"Is the brewery required to provide beer to its employees?" Weissich asked. "Yes, all we can drink," Kiepe told the amused jurors.

'Raid' Yields Cans, Bottles

They were having a great time in a shack at the end of Lisbon Street last night—until the San Rafael police arrived unexpectedly.

Three police officers were dispatched to investigate a noisy party in the area at 10:30 p.m. When they pulled up in front of the building 25 to 35 young people began to pour from the windows and doors, the police reported.

The shack emptied quickly and by the time the police got inside all they found was about 50 beer cans, wine bottles and assorted hard liquors.

Prison Fight Injures Inmate

A San Quentin Prison fight, with fists and a metal mop handle, sent one inmate to the hospital and another into isolation last night.

Charles William Conley, 29, who is serving a term for assault in Los Angeles, was "resting comfortably in satisfactory condition," today according to Howard McGarry, correctional counselor at the prison. Conley suffered head and arm injuries.

Kenneth Van Brunt, 22, the other half of the battle, received bruises on his shoulder. He is serving time for first degree robbery in Fresno. He was placed in isolation pending investigation by the disciplinary committee.

Cause of the fight is not known. Prison officials said the two men tore into each other about 10 p.m. They struggled over a pipe-like metal part of a mop handle, using that as a weapon.

Settlers Turn Algiers Into Battleground

Two Killed, 200 Injured As Tanks Patrol Streets

ALGIERS (UPI) — Rioting French settlers turned the heart of Algiers into a battlefield today and fought with Moslems and riot police in Oran in the second straight day of near-insurrection against the visit of President Charles De Gaulle.

At least two persons were killed, both Moslems, and an estimated 200 persons were injured in barrages of flaming Molotov cocktails, brickbats, paving blocks and chunks of roofing tile. A number of casualties were caused by tanks and armored cars grinding through the streets.

For the first time there were serious clashes between Europeans and Moslems. A mob of 2,000 Arabs smashed European car windows and threw stones at police in the Belcourt suburb of Algiers and battled in the gutters with whites in Oran.

HOLY WAR BANNERS

Some of the Moslems in both cities bore banners with the dread call for a "Jihad"—a holy war.

De Gaulle continued his tour, riding into Orleansville in western Algeria shortly after a wild clash in the center of the city between extremist settlers and Moslems who charged the European sector, burning stores and attacking whites.

The cry "vive de Gaulle" vied with the shout "de Gaulle to the gallows" across the length and breadth of the wartorn north African country.

De Gaulle visited the Cherchell Infantry School 80 miles west of Algiers where he pleaded for army support in his plan to create a semi-independent Algeria. He was greeted there by Moslem cheers and boos from European settlers.

De Gaulle told fledgling army officers "I am counting on the army, on its faith and discipline."

The Cherchell school was founded in 1943 to turn out officers for de Gaulle's Free French forces.

MARCH ON PALACE

In Algiers, French army tanks rumbled into action against thousands of anti-de Gaulle demonstrators who marched on the French governor's palace and erected new barricades to show their displeasure for de Gaulle and his Algerian program.

De Gaulle has proposed that the residents of Algeria vote in a referendum in January to determine their own future.

De Gaulle believes this method is the only way to end the six-year Moslem rebellion that has cost hundreds of thousands of lives and bled France with war costs of a billion dollars a year.

Police estimated that 10,000 to 15,000 rioters surged through the streets of Algiers today in the second day of protests against the man they fear will turn over the Algeria of their forefathers to the Moslems.

Senator-Elect Dies

CODY, Wyo. (AP)—U.S. Rep. and Sen.-elect Keith Thomson, 41, (R-Wyo.), died yesterday, apparently of a heart attack, at the home of a friend. Thomson, was first elected to Congress in 1954 and was elected to the U.S. Senate in the Nov. 8 election.

Fireman Routs Smoke From His Own House

When Victor Pizarro, one of the firemen on the San Rafael Fire Department, answered a call yesterday he was more than concerned. It was his own house!

The screen on top of his fireplace at his home at 15 Billou Street in San Rafael plugged up and sent smoke throughout his house, causing smoke damage to the curtains, lampshades, and walls.

His wife took their three children next door to the home of Donald Christensen, another fireman, and called the fire department.

Pizarro responded and chased the smoke out with a smoke ejector.

Mill Valleyan Hurt As Auto Rolls Over

Harry Brogioli, 23, of 218 Amicita Avenue, Mill Valley, was in "serious condition" at San Francisco Mission Emergency Hospital today from injuries suffered in a one-car accident on the San Francisco approach to Golden Gate Bridge.

California Highway Patrolmen said Brogioli was riding in a car driven by Guy Hopkins, 19, of 230 Diviso Street, Tiburon, at about 1:50 this morning when the car hit a guard rail and flipped. Hopkins received only bruises.

Hospital officials said the extent of Brogioli's injuries was not known, but he may have suffered a punctured lung.

The cause of the mishap was not known. Officers said the car apparently made a complete roll and righted itself.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Carolers Cheering Shut Ins Of County

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

And a caroling they will go, these hardy singers who for seven years have met to carry cheer to the shut-ins. Under the direction of Dr. Martin Griffin, who plays the guitar, 40 couples sing Christmas carols. They will meet on Sunday night, Dec. 18, at the Lucas Valley home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bellamy and go to the hospitals and to the new convalescent home at Terra Linda. Attire for the singers will be varied, but warm. Everything, from Beaver coats to Alaskan outfits, is appropriate. After the caroling is over the group will return to the Bellamys for a buffet supper.

CARRYING out a custom of many years, the Charles Rosenbaums are entertaining at a cocktail and buffet luncheon party on the afternoon of Christmas Day. They've invited many of their neighbors. The party is smaller this year as both daughters will only arrive home in time for the party. Leta is a San Francisco career girl. Carla will be visiting in San Fernando Valley with her University of California classmate, Judy Daniels, who will return with her for a week's visit.

THE NEWLY MARRIED Robert and Louise Gunn were honored at the cocktail party given by his brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Denicke of Ross, last Sunday. The couple first met when Louise was visiting her brother, Theodore Herbert of Greenbrae, last summer. The wedding took place in Huntington, Long Island in November. Among the wedding guests were the Alan Laidlaws, former Sausalitans, who were here for the party. Alan is with the State Department and he and his wife have just returned from Formosa. They are now in California for a vacation. Incidentally, the Donald Perrys, who were also guests at the party, are hosting a party for the Laidlaws on Dec. 22. Others at the wedding in Long Island were the Joseph S. Blacketts, formerly of Mill Valley, who live in New York City. Bob and Louise went to Nassau on their wedding trip and are now living in Sausalito.

THE COLLEGE SET will converge on the Ross home of the Edgar Lindners a week from today. Their son, Eric, a freshman at University of Oregon, is flying down the night before and will host a TV party and buffet luncheon on Saturday. His guests, many of them Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity brothers, will view the University of Oregon-Pennsylvania State University game being played in Pennsylvania. Oregon colors, gold and green, will be the decorations. A number of Eric's guests are remaining for a weekend in Marin.

Today the Lindners' daughters, Jane and Maudie are attending the children's Christmas party at the Woman's Athletic Club in San Francisco as the guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Adolph Lindner, who is resident of the club.

EVER SINCE the Frank Dettners moved into their home in Ross they have entertained at a Christmas party. Date for this year's informal event, at which the guests will enjoy cocktails and a smorgasbord, has been set for Dec. 22.

THE GREENBRAE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Wishard Brown will be the setting for their cocktail party tomorrow to which they've invited 40 couples.

THE CENTURY CLUB in San Francisco is holding its Christmas luncheon on Dec. 14 and Mrs. Frank Baumgarten will be hostess at one table. Her guests are mostly San Franciscans. She and Frank will remain in town to entertain that night at a dinner at the University Club.

A GLOGG PARTY will be hosted by Dr. and Mrs. James Green of Ross on Dec. 17. For those who do not know what Glogg (pronounced glue-g) is, Adelaide explains it is a Scandinavian holiday drink, served warm, with wine, sometimes stronger beverages as the base.

A HOLIDAY LUNCHEON will be given by Mrs. Willard Frier of Ross on Dec. 16. She will not be home for Christmas. She and Dr. Frier will spend it with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Norton (Sally Frier) and their two small children at their home at Lake Tahoe. Going north with the Friers will be their two other daughters, Sandra and Susan. Their son, Donald Frier and his wife, the former Dorothy Cooke, with their three children are living in Arlington, Va. while Don attends the Dental College of Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

FORMER MARINITES, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Diner entertained last Sunday in the lovely three-story home they are leasing on Russian Hill. The 'double' party was in honor of Leo's birthday, and the Diners' young granddaughter, Laurie Donohoe, celebrating her first birthday. Laurie presided at a sit-down supper, while the adults had a gay reunion and later enjoyed a buffet supper. Marin guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Day and their son Don; Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Kitchak and their children, Rusty and Tracy; Mr. and Mrs. John Dowling; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Diner; Mrs. James H. Donnelly and her children Frank and Sheila; Mrs. Geneva Rapuano, her daughter Sallee, and Miss Sharon Thomas. Mrs. Donnelly's older daughter Eileen attends St. Mary of the Wasatch in Salt Lake City, Utah and will fly to California next week to be home for the holidays.

San Francisco friends (all former Marinites) were Mr. and Mrs. Perry Lamson and their daughter Jocelyn; Miss Helen Grossman, Isabel Collins and her brother Dr. Frank Collins (visiting from New York) and Ralph Raymond. The hosts Yo and Leo, their sons J.P. and Christopher and their daughter Adrian, her husband John (Jed) Donohue and little Laurie completed the party. The Diners' oldest son Roy is with the U.S. Army Engineers for three years, presently stationed at Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri.

IT'S BECOME a tradition—the holiday party the Walter Bairds host. They've set the date for this one on Dec. 17. Sixty guests will enjoy the hospitality of their San Rafael home.

GLIMPSED AT THE Christmas party at the San Francisco Museum of Art Thursday night were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Welisch and the Thomas Stantons over from Belvedere. Incidentally, one of the most exciting displays was that put in by a Belvedere man, Everett Brown. It was a Christmas room for children with a puppet show going on. The antique chairs for the youngsters harmonized with the orange and white background. The American Institute of Decorators designed 12 Christmas settings, adaptable for home decorations. Prizes were also awarded for the most outstanding Christmas trees. Early arrivals had an opportunity to enjoy them. The museum was so jam packed later that it was impossible to see all the displays. Oh, yes, also seen at the party were Jules and Jody Becker, the Sanford Paganuccis and Charles Cains.

OVER BELVEDERE WAY there are many parties in the making. Tonight Dr. and Mrs. Benton Mathews are giving a cocktail party and buffet supper at their home on the Lagoon. Tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. Alex Tarics, who also reside on the Lagoon, will entertain at a dinner. In Sea Firth two parties are taking place tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Souza will serve hors d'oeuvres and potables. Dr. and Mrs. Frank J. Kelly will entertain at a cocktail and buffet supper party. Mrs. Stephen Nash, who resides in Belvedere, will give her Christmas tea party on Dec. 15.

MRS. WALTER S. HELLER of San Rafael with her champion Chesapeake, Nelgard's Baron, covered herself with glory at the recent National Amateur Retriever Trials and Baron, bless his golden heart, barely missed being champion. Mrs. Heller was the only woman left in the finals of the series. This is the second time she qualified a retriever for the national trials. This year's trials were held in the August A. Busch Memorial Wildlife Area in Weldon Spring, Mo. The 55 retrievers in the national had been weeded out from thousands in the lesser field trials during the spring and summer. Sports Illustrated in its Dec. 5 issue reporting on the championship trials devoted the greater part of two pages to Mrs. Heller. It says "That she is a woman makes her unique in retriever circles but Mrs. Heller considers it an advantage—with Chesapeakes anyway. 'To be responsive to the handler,' she says, 'the Chesapeake must be smothered with love and understanding, and few handlers have the time for that sort of thing." The article states: "In a field trial, which tests a dog's ability to recover birds he has seen fall as well as those he has not, the handler is 50 per cent of the team." Baron, as I have told you before has four gold teeth, which were put in because a previous owner had the others filed down. Sports Illustrated says "So excellently did the sweetly dispositioned Baron perform that he came within the skin of his expensive canines of winning the championship." Two pictures of Mrs. Heller with Baron accompany the article.

Eloise Heller, president of the American Chesapeake Club, in her letter in the official publication, told of the entrants in the trials and in conclusion said "When he (Baron) finished this trial he was the first Chesapeake to complete and Open National and he was in real contention to the end. On this happy note, Baron is retired." May he enjoy his retirement, which I doubt. But he is nine years old and suffers from arthritis so he is entitled to a real rest.

FASHIONABLE SKI enthusiasts were out in full force Monday night at Nancy and Allen Loeffler's cocktail-fashion soiree held at Zack's-by-the-Bay in Sausalito. Models included Mrs. Jack Wellisch, Mrs. William Donohoe, Mrs. Jack Himmelwright, Mrs. Blanche McKee, Mrs. Maury Saltzman of Marin; Mrs. Thayer Raggio of San Francisco; Mrs. Dwight Atherton and Mrs. Alfred Zuckerman of Stockton. Dr. Benton Mathews and Warren Finke joined the modeling corps as well as former Olympic ski star, Betsy Snite.

Seen in the crowd were the William Hoffmans, the G. M. Howards, the Walter Machettes, and Mr. and Mrs. William Winter. Fashions shown ranged from slim, taut stretch pants, dark and pale pastels for the ski slopes to the most elegant of brocades for the fireplace. Handsome packets and beautiful bulky sweaters were paired with ski pants for smart costumes to wear from Sugar Bowl to the Swiss Alps.

THE CHRISTMAS CAROUSEL of the Florence Crittenton Home Auxiliary yesterday in the Gold Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel was followed by many dinner parties. Mr. and Mrs. William Worrall of San Anselmo and their friends went on to dinner at the Fort Mason Officers Club. Dr. and Mrs. Laurens Garlington of Mill Valley dined with Dr. and Mrs. Philip Bailey of Sausalito and Mr. and Mrs Richard Stephens of Hillsborough at the Blue Fox. Robert Forood of Mill Valley was chairman of the carousel. Mrs. Robert F. Marquis of San Rafael is secretary of the home auxiliary.

SERIOUS MUSIC will be set aside while the Marin Music Study Club holds its annual Christmas dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schultz of Mill Valley tonight.

Carol singing will be enjoyed following a buffet dinner. Attending will be Messrs. and Mesdames Leslie Airth, A. J. Alstrom, Guy Barber, F. E. Baubel, John Robert Cunningham, E. T. Dooley, Joseph Giblin, Don Leatherwood, Howard Lisle, Herman G. Hein, Stephen Nash, Carl Nordstrand, Malcolm Jordan, Kermit Sather Otto Weissich, J. R. Witt and the Misses Francesca Livermore and Nancy Nissle.

Mrs. Schultz is a past president of the Marin Music Study Club and has been president of the Symphony Guild of Marin for two years. Mrs. Nash is now the president of the club, with Mrs. Airth, vice president and program chairman, and Mrs. Leatherwood, secretary-treasurer.

Terra Linda Nursery School To Hear Of Music For Young

Glen and Shirley Carlson, who own and operate the Creative Music School of San Rafael, will discuss "Music for the Young Child" with the parents of the Terra Linda Cooperative Nursery School on Monday night, Dec. 12. With their son, Minor aged 9, they will demonstrate through the use of folk songs and simple musical instruments like the auto-harp, banjo, recorder and guitar how children's enjoyment of music can be enriched through participation at an early age.

The Carlsons are well known in Marin County for their keen interest in music for children. At their Creative Music School for the past seven years they have offered private and group lessons in piano and guitar. They say group lessons stimulate interest in children and make the study of an instrument more fun. Mr. Carlson likes to incorporate some folk music for pleasure along with his classical instruction in guitar for children. Mrs. Carlson's piano pupils seem to enjoy the recital demonstrations as much as their parents because of the group lessons. Mrs. Carlson teaches piano for children from five years on.

Youths Convicted

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Two teenage youths were convicted of first-degree murder last Friday night, but a jury's recommendation for mercy spared them the death penalty.

The jury returned the guilty verdict against George H. Mitropoulos, Monterey, and Dale Johnson, Salt Lake City. Both are 15.

They were convicted of killing Gordon W. Bloxham, 18, a substitute night watchman at a suburban war surplus store Sept. 5.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The youthful slayer of actor Sabu's brother was sentenced yesterday 1 to 10 years in prison for involuntary manslaughter. Snowstorm Deaths

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A mighty snowstorm, already blamed for more than a dozen deaths, swung fresh punches today at a sector stretching from the central Rockies over much of the Southwest.

The icy storm isolated towns in several states, shattered communication lines, halted travel and knocked out power lines.

El Paso was buried in 6 to 8 inches of snow.

The storm slackened its fury in New Mexico and Arizona while dumping more than six inches at Canon City in south central Colorado since noon yesterday.

Big Fire In S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 4-alarm fire swept an industrial section near downtown San Francisco early today.

At least eight business establishments were gutted and five persons were injured, police said.

Nearly 200 spectators watched firemen bring leaping flames under control at a two-story wood frame and brick building at the corner of Third and Townsend streets, south of the city's business district.

A fireman suffered burns while rescuing a lone occupant in a small hotel. Cause of the fire was not known.

Sees Drug Overcharge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Druggists in California are overcharging consumers, says the state's consumer counsel.

Mrs. Helen Nelson told the State Assembly Interim Committee yesterday the markup on prescription drugs is 50 per cent. This compares, she said, with markups of 40 per cent on men's clothing, 34 per cent on furniture and hardware and 30 per cent on liquor.

Capsule Grab Due

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — The Discoverer XVIII satellite is scheduled to eject its 300-pound capsule containing radiation-testing and sky spy gear on its 48th trip around the earth late today. The Air Force said it would try to catch it.

Scissors Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 23-year-old mother of three daughters killed one of them with a pair of scissors in a fit of anger Friday night, police said.

Her mother, Joanne told police she was cutting another daughter's hair with a pair of 5-inch shears when Diane and Barbara, 5, began making noise.

"I became furious and threw the scissors down," she said. "I didn't realize what had happened until I heard crying."

By the time an ambulance arrived the child had bled to death.

Mrs. Guss was not charged.

Truman Predictions

CHICAGO (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman predicted today that Americans eventually will elect a Jew to the presidency and name a Negro vice president. "I'll probably be dead in 50 years when that happens, but I'd like to live to see it," Truman said.

Truman was here to accept the "Man of the Century" award at a dinner tonight.

They Will Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson intend to resign from the Senate shortly after the Electoral College makes their election as president and vice president official on Dec. 19. The resignations will open the way for the Democratic governors of Massachusetts and Texas to appoint two new senators.

Shaw's Letters To Actress To Be In Book

NEW YORK (AP)—A collection of letters written by the late George Bernard Shaw to an American actress—known only to a few persons and hidden for years — will be made public next week.

In the 125 letters, most of them discovered in an old trunk in Rome.

The letters were written between 1921 and 1949 to Molly Tompkins, an American actress. She died this year.

Was there a romance?

"Who knows and who cares," answers Mrs. Tompkins' son, Peter, a Washington, D.C. author who discovered the letters during World War II when he was an officer serving in Italy. She had hidden the letters before fleeing Italy at the outbreak of the war.

The letters will be published in an illustrated volume, "To a Young Actress," with a foreword by Tompkins.

Guest Speaker

Rev. William Crawford, editor of the Seabury Press of Greenwich, Conn., and a delegate to the recent general assembly of the National Council of Churches in San Francisco, will be guest preacher at both 9 and 11 a.m. Sunday services at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael.

It's Marin Catholic Vs. Tam Tonight In Cage Finals

By PAUL MILLER

Marin Catholic and Tamalpais high schools—two aggressive and skillful clubs—will clash tonight to determine which will become the 1960 champions of the Marin County Athletic League's second annual Christmas Basketball Tournament.

An overflowing crowd at the San Rafael High gymnasium last night watched a precisioned Marin Catholic team down the less smooth, but hard fighting San Rafael Bulldogs 42 to 38 while,

Tamalpais, which had moved into the semi-finals with a "bye," whipped Novato 34 to 14 in a mundane contest. The Hornets will go against San Rafael in the early tilt of tonight's double-header to determine third place.

The tournament's defending champ, Redwood, saw the celler last night, and were locked in it by fifth place Sir Francis Drake High 38 to 21. The Pirates looked strong as they moved ahead of the Giants in the first quarter and maintained domination until the final buzzer.

Last night's lineup of teams was a result of Tuesday's contests in which Marin beat Redwood 42 to 36, and San Rafael dumped Sir Francis Drake 41 to 27.

In the semi-finals, Marin Wildcats' Jerry Smith and Ed O'Connell lead their spirited squad with efficient ball handling and well-run offensive patterns. Although the Bulldogs had a slight edge on the backboards in hard playing Randy Petrini and Rich Robertson, the 'Cats operated a lethel defense on the floor.

Offensive leaders for San Rafael were Rich Curry and Denny Hall, who scored highs of 10 points each. Equally effective on defensive play was Joaquin Horton, a 5-foot, 10-inch senior.

The lead went back and forth until the final period in which Marin doubled San Rafael's five points, most of which were chalked in the final minutes by the red and white squad.

Marin Coach Bernie Schneider pointed up Smith, O'Connell and Jim Soden as outstanding performers. He also mentioned reserve defenders John Enos and Jim Purtell for their backboard work and ball-blocking. Smith was high pointer of all last night's games with 17. O'Connell recorded 10 digits.

Bulldog coach Robert Muster felt that his boys fell by the wayside because "their shooting was off." San Rafael hit about 25 per cent of the time. Muster said the norm was 34 per cent.

"However, Marin is a real good ball club—some real little horses—a team to be reckoned with in this league," he said.

Tam Coach Ed Chavez drew mostly from his reserve corps in the second and third period against Novato. The latter club was 10 points behind at the end of the first quarter when Chavez jerked out his first stringers. He put them back into action for about two and a half minutes of the fourth period. They scored four quick buckets and were rebenched. Reserve Indians finalized the game with one more basket.

The best defensive action for the Hornets was by Lu Haas. Novato forwards Jim Sewell and Bob "Moe" Sparrow, as leading scorers, were held to two free throws and one basket apiece.

Norm Kreuter sparked the Indians, both as defenders and aggressors. The 6 foot, 1½ inch, All League football player tallied a high of eight points, and stole most of the night's rebounds. Forward Dennis Langhoff followed Kreuter with six points.

Novato suffered from ball handling mistakes which included some poor passing; and the number of the team's successful shots from the floor was also lean.

Drake Coach Carl Brown said his boys played their best game of the year against Redwood. The Giants opened up the tilt with a flurry of points, but in about two minutes lost the lead for the rest of the game. Redwood's bucketeers were Herb Schrieber and Rich Brear with six apiece.

Brown's boys were led by Ed Collins who put 10 digits on the board, and by gridiron All-Leaguer Mike Bresnan who scored eight points.

Tonight's contest between Novato and San Rafael begins at 7 o'clock, and between Marin and Tam, for the championship, at 8:30 o'clock.

Champ Paret Defends Title Against Slugger Thompson

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny "Kid" Paret, the boxer, puts his world welterweight title on the line for the first time tonight when he takes on Federico Thompson, the slugger, in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

This second clash between the fancy Dan from Cuba and the hard-punching Argentine is expected to draw some 7,000. It'll be nationally-televised (ABC) starting at 7 p.m. (PST).

The first time they met, last March 25 at the Garden, it was a 12-round draw. Paret then hadn't won the 147-pound crown.

In 116 fights, Thompson has a record of 100 victories, including 53 knockouts. He is unbeaten in his last 35 bouts. Paret's record is 37-7-3 with only nine knockouts.

Both have used former champion Don Jordan as a stepping stone. Thompson jumped among the contenders after eight years of obscurity with a fourth-round knockout of Jordan in a non-title fight last December.

Paret lifted the crown from Jordan last May 27. Since then, Paret has broken even in two non-title fights. He knocked out Sugar Hart in six rounds and lost a 10-rounder to Denny Moyer.

It's a pick 'em affair tonight with Paret's age (23) and fancy boxing expected to offset the punching of the 33-year-old Thompson. In the first fight, Paret appeared the stronger at the end. But Thompson claimed he was handicapped by having less than two weeks to train after arriving in New York.

Novato Wrestlers Score First Win

Novato High School's wrestling team chalked up its first victory of the season this week against Las Lomas High School of Walnut Creek.

Winning two matches each for Coach Ralph Cutler's Novatans were Bill Carrigan in the 95-pound division, George Vandyke (112), Walt Halkovich (120) and Doug Simpson (145).

Mariners Get First Cage Win Of Season

College of Marin Tars—as a unified and high-scoring quintet—scored their first basketball victory of the season by dumping Santa Rosa Junior College at Kentfield last night 72 to 66.

The Tars jumped into the lead in the first period, and at half time had a 40-34 advantage. Santa Rosa, strengthening itself in the second half, managed to close the gap twice, once by a point, and again in the final period when the Tars led 66 to 64. But in the final minute and 10 seconds of play Tar guard John Blomquist iced it after he was fouled and scored both his free throws. During the final five minutes, although they got a few buckets, Marin played control-ball.

All five first-string Tars were strong. Lynn Levie, a guard, led the quintet with 20 points. He was followed by guard Blumquist (17); forwards Ron Blum (16) and Ernie Bray (10), and Mike Rawitser, pseudo-center (5).

Coach Cal Riemcke, who uses a weave offensive pattern in which any player may function as a center, saw his strategy result in 47 per cent of the field goals being successful, and 79 per cent of the free throws going through the loop.

Rebound robbers Ron Blum and Blomquist played an intense defensive game. Blumquist held Santa Rosa's outstanding shooter, Al Baccala, to one free throw.

Coach Riemcke said his players "have been pleased with the way they continue to improve."

"This was the first time we had no real lapse in the game and played consistently. The fact that they played together as a team was exemplified in the individual scoring," added Riemcke.

The defending Golden Valley Conference Champions will battle the alumni tonight, and Contra Costa Junior College Monday. Both tilts will be at Kentfield at 8 p.m.

Hub American Legion To Initiate Members

San Anselmo Post 179, American Legion, will initiate new members and hold its Christmas party Monday night at the Legion Log Cabin at Sonoma Avenue and Los Angeles Boulevard, San Anselmo.

Ceremonies will be conducted by members of the 40 and 8 initiation team. The Christmas party will follow the initiation.

Pressure On Colts In L.A. Tomorrow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was no sign of panic, but the pressure was on the Baltimore Colts today on the eve of their important game with the Los Angeles Rams in L. A. Memorial Coliseum.

The Rams have nothing but personal satisfaction as an incentive to win this one. They have a 3-6-1 record for the season.

But Coach Weeb Ewbanks' defending National Football League champions headed into the fray with a 6-4 record of wins and losses — tied in the Western Division with the Green Bay Packers and the San Francisco 49ers.

The entire herd of Colts tuned in on the nationally televised contest at San Francisco today between the 49ers and the Packers.

Quarterback Johnny Unitas and mates have lost two straight games, to San Francisco and last week to the Detroit Lions.

The Colts suffered a similar two-game setback in 1958 and 1959 and still came on for title victories.

Ram General Manager Elroy Hirsch predicted 65,000 die-hard fans, most of whom died hard last week when the club was beaten 23-7 by the 49ers, would be on hand for the kick-off at 1:35 p.m. tomorrow.

Coach Bob Waterfield, who has shuffled the starting quarterback assignment all season among Bill Wade, Frank Ryan and Buddy Humphreys, decided to give Ryan the opening shot against the Colts.

BASS TO START

He also named Dick Bass to move into the backfield with Jon Arnett and fullback Joe Marconi.

Baltimore will depend upon Billy Pricer to fill in for the injured Alan Ameche at fullback.

The Colts are 7-point favorites to make up the half-game edge slated for the winner of today's Packers-49ers showdown.

In the event of a Green Bay-San Francisco tie, the Colts will have a chance to move a half-game in front by beating the Rams, then clinch their third straight Western title by whipping the 49ers next weekend. The Packers play at Los Angeles next week.

If the Packers, 49ers and Colts all go 1-1 for the two remaining games, the Chicago Bears (5-4-1) could take it all by beating the Browns at Cleveland tomorrow and the Lions at Detroit next week.

LIONS HOPEFUL

The Lions (5-5), by defeating the Dallas Cowboys (0-10-1) at home, then the Bears, could force a four-way tie with the current leaders in the event of that threeway 1-1 split and a Bear falldown. The Lions are 13-point favorites, the Bears 7-point underdogs.

A four-way Western tie would push the title game—now set for Philadelphia on Dec. 26—back to Jan. 8. The first alternate date is Jan. 1.

With the Philadelphia Eagles (9-1) already assured of the Eastern crown, the question is who will finish second, the New York Giants (5-3-2) or the Browns (6-3-1)?

The Eagles are two-point favorites to defeat the Pittsburgh Steelers (4-5-1) at Pittsburgh. The Eagles have won nine straight, including a 34-7 victory over the Steelers at Philadelphia.

The Browns and Giants are the only teams with a chance to finish second in the East and gain a spot in the NFL runner-up playoff at Miami Jan. 7 against the Western second-place team. They meet next week in New York.

The Giants are favored by 7 points at Washington over the Redskins (1-7-2).

HUMBOLDT SLIM FAVORITE IN PLAYOFF TILT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Lenoir Rhyne and Humboldt State College square off tonight in a Holiday Bowl football game.

Humboldt, slightly favored, has run up a string of 20 consecutive victories. The Californians would become the 1960 National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics champion by winning this one.

Lenoir Rhyne of Hickory, N.C., goes into the title game with 10 victories and one tie for the season.

Yachts Race Tomorrow In Bay Regatta

Providing the weather is favorable, the Corinthian Midwinter regatta, the third event in the series of five, could well attract a 200 boat fleet tomorrow. And by favorable weather the emphasis is more on a healthy supply of wind rather than sunshine and clear skies.

In the two previous regattas, the entry lists have been large despite pre-race conditions that promised little or no winds and many of the boats failed to reach the finish line. Yet these winter racing cats are all born optimists. They always come back, so maybe tomorrow will be their day.

The same procedures of past races will be followed: The first contingent will get the starting gun at 11:30 a.m. and will comprise yachts in the Acorn and Pacific classes. The balance of the fleet will start at five-minute intervals as follows: 11:35, T. I., Junior Clipper; 11:40, Fleur Bleue, Carinita; 11:45, Maya, Yankee, Folkboat; 11:50, 210, Buccaneer, Sea Horse; 11:55, Div. 14, Div. 15, Div. 17; 12 noon, Div. 9, Div. 10, Div. 11; 12:05, Windward, Hurricane; 12:10, Bear, Knarr; 12:15, Rhodes 33, Spaulding 33; 12:20, I. C., Farallones; 12:25, P.I.C., Bird, Golden Gate; 12:30, Cruising Club, "A", "B", "C".

DAVIS CUP TRIUMPH

MacKay Upsets Staggering Odds

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Fighting staggering odds, stout-hearted Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, won a five-set victory over Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli today and sent the United States into an imposing 2-0 lead in the Davis Cup interzone tennis finals.

Pietrangeli, who saw eight match points go up in smoke in a heart-breaking two-day marathon, left the court in tears after MacKay had hammered out an 8-6,3-6, 8-10, 8-6, 13-11 triumph.

The U.S. Davis Cup captain, David Freed, said he felt so sorry for the beaten Italian star that "I could not stand up and cheer. I wanted to cry with him."

The triumph which followed Earl Buchholz's victory over Orlando Sirola in the opening singles Friday puts the Americans within one point of clinching the spot in the challenge round. They could grab this point in the doubles which were postponed today because of the length of the MacKay-Pietrangeli match. Pietrangeli and Sirola will be favored over the St. Louis schoolboy pair of Buchholz and Chuck McKinley.

The final singles now postponed until Monday sends Buchholz against Pietrangeli in the first match and MacKay against Sirola in the final.

The winner of the best of the five match series qualifies to meet Australia in the challenge round starting Dec. 26.

MARINITE'S PAINTING

This is Tiburon artist Frank Milner's "And All Their Kings Shall Meet," one of 40 entries in a fine-art exhibit held this week in San Francisco during the assembly of the National Council of Churches. The Church World Service, which sponsored the display, announced its purpose was to ". . . visualize concern for human suffering, and to enlarge the meaning of Christian moral obligation to meet it."

Southern Baptist Mission Becomes Mill Valley Church

The Mill Valley Mission which was under the auspices of the Southern Baptist Church of Novato has become the First Southern Baptist Church of Mill Valley by a vote of the congregation in formal organizational services held last Sunday.

Fifteen months as a mission, the new church is led by Rev. R. Young Gerrard of Mill Valley and has a congregation of 59, reported Mrs. Elizabeth J. Marble, member.

Taking part in the services at the church, which meets in the Masonic Temple on Corte Madera Avenue, were Dr. Elmer L. Grey, interim pastor of the First Baptist Church of Novato who presided; Rev. T. J. Du Bose of Vallejo; William Porter of Novato; Rev. Wallace Hough, pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Rafael and congregation members.

The church began holding services in the Masonic Temple in July, 1959. Its program includes Sunday school classes and Baptist Training Unions for all ages; Woman's Missionary Union with missionary education groups for young people and children, and midweek prayer meeting.

Sunday services are at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The church sponsored vacation Bible schools last summer in Mill Valley and in Tamalpais Valley.

Japan Missionary To Speak In Novato

Missionary Pastor Harold Eimon of the Japanese Mission Field of the American Lutheran Church, will be guest pastor at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Novato tomorrow.

Rev. Eimon, on leave from Japan, will preach at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services, as well at give an informal presentation with visual aids at a family potluck dinner at the church at 6:30 p.m.

The missionary and his family are presently residing at the Presbyterian Mission House in Berkeley.

Rev. Eimon is a graduate of St. Olaf College and was in the same class as Pastor Ole Winter of Good Shepherd Lutheran.

Letter To President

In a letter to President-elect John F. Kennedy, Dr. John W. Behnken, president of the Lutheran Church's Missouri Synod, pledged the support of the 2,400,000-member church body with its prayers "as it ever does in its prayers for the President of our beloved country," reported the Lutheran Layman newspaper last week.

School For Alaskans

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — After 15 years of proposing, planning, fund-raising and building, the Methodist Church has opened its new Alaska Methodist University on the outskirts of Anchorage, with an enrollment of 150 students. President Dr. Fred P. McGinnis heads a faculty of 15 full-time professors and 11 part-time instructors.

Ministers Comment On Merger Proposal

In view of the dramatic proposal made this week at the assembly of the National Council of Churches in San Francisco that four major Protestant denominations merge, representative ministers in Marin County were asked to comment.

Pastors of the United Church of Christ, the Episcopal Church, the United Presbyterian Church and the Methodist Church in Marin were asked by the Independent-Journal whether or not they favored a merger, and why?

Three of the four preachers questioned approved of unification.

Rev. Edgar Nelson, pastor of the Methodist Church of Mill Valley expressed disfavor with formation of his denomination and any others under one authority.

ONE BIG BUNDLE

The problems that "face religion are not going to be solved by placing them in one great big bundle," he said.

"The so-called spirit of competition and 'good' rivalry aid, rather than injure, the cause of the Christian community. Different denominations form a set of checks and balances similar to those in our federal government," he declared.

The Methodist minister explained, however, that he did favor the past mergers of the segments of the Methodist Church within its own denominations because "we (Methodists) all come from the same theological stock."

FAVORS PRINCIPLE

Rev. D. Murray Hammond, dean of the Episcopal Convocation of Marin, and rector of the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley, said that without committing himself on "any particular plan" he favors the principle of unification as expressed by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia.

"While recognizing the fact that there are many differences that cannot be ignored in the four groups, each group does bring traditions of values and traditions of shortcomings," he said.

"I favor a merger because I feel that there is too much disunity—perhaps to say that disunity is a 'scandal' in view of the fact that we preach a 'oneness' in Jesus Christ," said the dean.

BROAD CHURCH

Rev. Hammond felt that "all sorts of responses" would be expressed by Episcopalians regarding a merger. He added that the Episcopal congregations within Marin County exemplify this broadness.

"I'm glad that the proposal was made," said Rev. Jack E. Biersdorf, pastor of the Fairfax Community Church which is a member of the United Church of Christ.

"If there is a union, much work must be done to preserve the strength of all the denominations' traditions, and to insure that there be a lasting and effective union," he said.

Rev. Biersdorf stated that the recent merger of the Congregational, Evangelical and Reformed Churches into the United Church of Christ has "shown that a vitality is created in unity, but that careful and extremely thorough work is necessary in the formation of a united church.

SHOULD NOT OBSCURE

"I feel that this rather sensational proposal by Dr. Blake should not obscure the steady effort in the area of unification through education in local churches by the Faith and Order Department of the NCC," said Rev. Biersdorf.

The Fairfax pastor declared that "organizational juggling" was not the important factor in a merger, but rather the "awareness and realization of a single mission by the Christian community because it is in Jesus Christ."

Rev. John C. Bonner, president of the Marin County Council of Churches, and pastor of the Community Presbyterian Church of San Geronimo stated he favored a merger, "principally because I feel that when groups unite to present a more composite front for christendom, this is always better than all the groups doing a lot of little jobs. It presents a better operating program and it is more in keeping with the ecumenical nature of the Christian church at large—the church should be united rather than divided."

Rev. Bonner felt also that the church could "use a more authoritative speaking voice to the non-Christian world. He said the theological differences within the Christian world could be "ironed out, when, from a Christian perspective, one looks at the Bible as signifying one faith, one Lord, and one Baptism."

Adventists Begin Caroling Tonight

Tonight and tomorrow night members of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Marin County will be carolling along with other Adventists throughout the United States for the church's annual "In-gathering for the Up-lifting of Humanity."

Rev. John H. Toppenberg announced that Marin members would be carolling periodically from now until Christmas, and that tonight and tomorrow's group will leave the Adventist Church at 75 Park Road in Fairfax at 6 o'clock.

Christmas Music

The chancel choir of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo tomorrow will present a Christmas Choral program at 4:30 p.m. entitled "Twilight Music," which will include a choral cantata, "Rejoice Beloved Christians," and a motet, "Open to Me the Gates of Justice."

The choir will be directed by Wilbur Russell and will be accompanied by violin and organ music.

Christian Scientists Hear Healing Lecture

A free public lecture on "How Christian Science Heals Fear," will be held at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Mill Valley at Lovell and Olive Streets Monday at 8 p.m.

Richard L. Glendon, currently on tour in the Bay Area as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak in the edifice. Glendon of Los Angeles, entered the full-time practice of Christian Science healing in 1934.

During World War II, he was a Christian Science wartime minister, and has served as moderator of several television programs of the series, "How Christian Science Heals."

Young Pair With Insanity In Families Should Take Problem To Psychiatrist

P.L. "There is insanity in my family and in my husband's. He and I have been well all of our lives. So have our children. However, our daughter wants to marry a boy whose mother is in a mental hospital. We're worried. Will their children by crazy?"

Reply. Mental ill health usually is the product of two factors, heredity and environment. Both factors are complex and hard to analyze. It's safe to say that the odds won't be as favorable for your daughter's children as they would be for youngsters born to families in which there has been no mental illness. However, the right care and upbringing could do much to protect them.

Have your girl and her fiance prepare family trees, showing where and when mental illness has appeared. Have them take them to a psychiatrist to discuss the possibilities. The odds may be better than you think.

Mrs. F.B. "My son was tested by a psychologist, who said he was highly gifted. However, he never has learned to work. He gets A grades, but idles his way through school. I want him to buckle down. He is in the eighth grade now. Is he unusual? How can I make him work?"

Reply. He is not unusual. Many highly gifted children loaf their way through school when their studies are geared to their more average classmates. Some schools now are setting up special programs for them. Talk with your boy's school counselor. Ask to have him programmed with the fastest pupils in the school.

Are there any accelerated, high speed classes? If so, ask to have him admitted. Set up a regular study routine at home and do your best to follow it. Encourage him to develop special hobbies. Many gifted idlers learn to work hard in this way. For further suggestions talk with the psychologist who tested him.

Garage Damaged In Mill Valley Fire

Fire, believed to have started in a storage box beside a hot water heater, caused $6,000 damage to the home of Mrs. Bert Worthheimer yesterday noon in Mill Valley.

No one was home in the building at 426 East Blithedale Avenue when a neighbor saw smoke coming out of the garage and reported it to the fire department.

Fire went through an air duct from the garage where the fire started to the living room, burning the wall, mantlepiece, several pieces of furniture and rugs. There was smoke damage throughout the house and some water damage in a small apartment downstairs.

3 Pioneer Journalists Enter Hall Of Fame

Three pioneer journalists were added to the honor roll of California's Newspaper Hall of Fame last night at the annual banquet of the California Press Assn. in San Francisco.

Justus F. Craemer, chairman of the Independent-Journal's corporate board of directors, is president of the California Press Assn.

The three, all active in the 1880s, were the late Duncan McPherson of Santa Cruz, Henry Kuchel of Anaheim and William Pitt Bartlett.

McPherson, who came to California from New York in 1856, first owned the San Mateo Gazette starting in 1871. His most notable effort there was his advocacy of construction of the Dumbarton Bridge.

He acquired control of the Santa Cruz Sentinel in 1874, and the newspaper still is owned by the McPherson family. His grandson, Fred Jr., is present editor and publisher. The Hall of Fame honoree installed one of the first typesetting machines in the state, championed the building of a street car system in Santa Cruz, and was a leader in the conservation effort which saved the Big Basin redwoods as a state park.

On hand to acknowledge the award was Mrs. Fred McPherson Sr., daughter-in-law of the honoree and mother of the present Santa Cruz Sentinel editor and publisher.

Henry Kuchel, a native San Franciscan, acquired the Anaheim Gazette in 1887, although he was employed there as early as 1870. His outspoken newspaper was widely circulated to state and national leaders in politics, journalism and civic affairs.

His efforts are credited with the formation of Orange County in 1889. Although blind in later years, his influence increased; politicians, national figures and the famous came to visit his country editorial office.

Present last night to acknowledge the honor were Kuchel's widow, who took dictation for him during his blind years, and his two sons, U.S. Sen. Thomas Kuchel and Ted Kuchel, still associated with the Gazette in Anaheim, both of whom read extensively to their father when he was sightless.

William P. Bartlett was the founder of the Livermore Herald in 1877 in then-tiny Livermore. His influence through his newspaper is credited with saving the town from extinction during its trying first decade. He wrote two books on early California history. He was a staunch advocate of improving schools and after he sold the Livermore Herald and went to Porterville, his efforts there were recognized by naming a park and a junior high school after him.

Bartlett's election to the Hall of Fame was acknowledged by Maitland Henry, veteran publisher of the Livermore Herald.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Tiburon Families Patrons Of Art

Twenty prominent families on the Tiburon peninsula have become Patrons of the Arts by their support of the Cove Players little theater group, according to president Arny Schultz.

For their financial support of the group, the families receive two tickets to each of the three plays staged in the theater season and their names listed on the programs; Schultz said.

Financial support is necessary because of the $1,500 fixed cost for use of the Tiburon Playhouse theater and the $3,000 annual production costs, Schultz pointed out.

Police Warn New Orleans Lawbreakers

Governor Urges Segregationists To 'Stand Fast'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Police Chief Joseph I. Giarrusso warned today that he will crack down on lawless acts in the wake of harrassment and threats to white parents who ran a segregationists blockade to put their children in a desegregated school.

Despite the protection of U.S. marshals who escorted the whites to the William Frantz School, the parents continued to receive telephone threats throughout the night. The threats also were levelled at persons who helped the parents get their children to the school.

"FAIR WARNING"

Giarrusso issued a "fair warning to all of our citizens, no matter what their sentiments are, that I am not going to tolerate open lawlessness."

Gov. Jimmie Davis, in a statewide telecast, pledged the state would "avoid violence in its efforts to maintain state sovereignty," but urged segregationists to "stand fast" and not "break ranks."

Davis said he would continue "vigorous and legal denial of federal authority to interfere with the operations of the federal schools.

ASKS INVESTIGATION

In Shreveport, in North Louisiana, the Louisiana Assn. of Citizens Councils called for an investigation of persons who have helped white parents slip their children through stone-throwing crowds who tried to blockade the streets around Frantz.

The association's president, Charles Barnett, suggested "subversives" were among those who supplied cars to the blockade-running effort.

Barnett also accused the New Orleans police of thwarting "the school mother (segregationist) pickets."

Defected Red Sailor Sees Disneyland

ANAHEIM (UPI) — A Soviet sailor who defected to the United States from Nikita Khrushchev's ship, has accomplished what the Russian leader could not— a red carpet visit to Disneyland.

Viktor Jaanimets, 29, escaped from the Soviet liner Baltika in New York last October because, he said, his travels had shown him what the free world was really like.

After a Los Angeles press conference yesterday, he did what most visitors to Southern California get around to doing sooner or later—took a trip to the world-famed amusement park.

Khrushchev, however, did not go during his visit here in September, 1959. Almost every week since he has bemoaned the fact, saying that he wasn't permitted to do so.

As early as the day following his departure for San Francisco, the Soviet premier expressed disappointment for "not getting closer to the American people and visiting Disneyland."

Recreation Programs End For Yule

Recreation programs at eight school playgrounds in San Rafael ended yesterday with the beginning of the San Rafael Park and Recreation Department's Christmas vacation program.

Albert Park will be the only supervised play area until Jan. 3. It will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. everyday except Christmas and New Year's Day.

Included in the vacation program is a production of "Christmas Around the World" to be presented on Dec. 21, at 8 p.m. in the E Street School auditorium.

Featured will be the tableaux by children from six San Rafael elementary schools depicting songs and traditions of Germany, France, England, China, Italy and the United States. Also on the program are the San Rafael Recreation Chorale under direction of Byron Jones and a guest choir from Trinity Lutheran Church of San Rafael under direction of Mrs. Lloyd W. Casselman.

Free tickets are available at the Recreation Department office at Albert Field between 9 a.m. and noon every day. Seating is limited.

Beginning Dec. 17, the sports program at Albert Park will emphasize archery instructions for youngsters eight to 14 years old and basketball contests for boys nine to 14.

Archery instruction will be held from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Dec. 19, 21, 26 and 28. Recreation officials warned that only a limited amount of equipment is available.

Basketball playdays will be held on Dec. 20 and 22. There will be contests and awards.

Other games being sponsored during the vacation program include four-square, kickball and football.

Tiburon Chamber To Elect Officers At Lunch Tuesday

The Tiburon Chamber of Commerce will elect officers for 1961 at its noon luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Anchor Cafe on Tiburon's Main Street.

The nominating committee's slate of officers presented at the last meeting is: president, William S. Johnstone; vice president, Mrs. Elva Paske; secretary, Fred C. Hannahs; treasurer, Howard J. Langford. Running for two-year directorships are current president Robert A. Sterling, David Allen and George Bitter.

Nominating committee chairman Stuart Burt said nominations may be made from the floor at the meeting. Richard C. Less, Langford and Bitter served on the nominating committee.

Also on the agenda are committee reports on the year's activities and discussion of the children's movie Christmas program sponsored by the chamber, scheduled for Dec. 23.

Surgery Slated

Rev. Aloysius Sullivan, former parish administrator of Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato, is scheduled to undergo surgery Monday at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco. Father Sullivan entered the hospital about a week ago.

Two Promotions Announced By Marin Bank

Horace N. Corona today was named assistant manager of the Novato office of the First National Bank in San Rafael, replacing Glen E. Tovani, who was appointed manager of the bank's new Terra Linda office.

Replacing Corona in the Mill Valley office will be Fred H. Brylka.

Brylka has been with the First National since 1950 and has held posts in the San Rafael, San Anselmo and Petaluma offices. During 1952 and 1953 he served with the Army in Korea.

He is on the board of governors of the Marin chapter of the American Institute of Banking and is treasurer of the Marin Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Corona joined First National in 1952. He was chief clerk in the San Rafael office and assistant manager of the Mill Valley office. A veteran of the Air Force, he served in World War II.

He is a governing member of the Y.M.C.A., on the board of directors of the San Rafael Little League, president of the Marin chapter of the American Institute of Banking and a member of Lions Internatitonal.

Slay Charge Filed Against Former Barber

A murder charge was filed yesterday against Elwood Williams, San Rafael barber who allegedly shot his wife to death, then fired a bullet in his own chest in Woodland, Yolo County on Nov. 10.

The warrant will not be served, however, until Williams has sufficiently recovered from his self-inflicted wound, said Yolo County Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas Purtell.

Williams has undergone three operations since the shooting. Yolo General Hospital attendants said. They described his condition as "good" and said he was improving. The .22 caliber bullet entered a lung, hospital reports indicated.

The 29-year-old barber reportedly killed his wife, Holly Germaine, 27, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Jonellen Goddard of Woodland. He had followed his wife there to talk her out of divorce proceedings, police said.

Sewer Hookup Delays Granted

Time extension to Jan. 9 for making hookups to sewer lines of the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District was granted by the district board Thursday to 23 residents of the Golf Links Tract, annexed to the district last summer.

All connections were to have been made by Nov. 26 and more than 75 residents, three-quarters of those affected, did the necessary work in time, the board was told. Septic tanks had been in use previously.

Portola Gardens sanitary affairs have all been taken over by the district as result of annexation last summer, with funds turned in and obligations assumed, according to another report.

School Committee Meeting Monday

Larkspur School District's citizens advisory committee, organized last month, will hold its second meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in Larkspur-Corte Madera School, chairman Donald Fox of Larkspur announced.

A subcommittee to explore summer school matters will make its report. Other subcommittees on various school problems are still working.

Fox said anything the public wants to bring up will be discussed.

Group Asks $5.5 Million For Shelters

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The governor's shelter committee yesterday approved a $5.5 million building program to keep California's state and local governments operating in case of nuclear attack.

The approval came in a 10-point program covering all aspects of radiation shelters. The program now goes to Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who will decide whether to ask the legislature for necessary funds.

Allan K. Jonas, committee chairman and director of the California Disaster Office, said that the federal government would pay 50 per cent of the building costs. His group's program asked that "immediate steps be taken" to construct or remodel buildings into "emergency operation centers."

PROPOSED CONSTRUCTION

A $2 million addition to a proposed structure here would become the state's government center. Six other centers would be situated over the state for county and city governments in their regions.

The committee, composed of representatives from the departments of finance, public works and education, began studying shelters last September. It found that "the advantages of community type shelters appear far more numerous than those of family shelters."

LESS EXPENSIVE

It explained that community shelters were less expensive and made more equipment and skills available to their occupants.

The committee also asked for A state constitutional amendment exempting shelter construction from ad valorem taxes; and legislation to allow an accelerated depreciation of a shelter's value for state income tax purposes.

Federal government financing or guarantees for shelter construction costs.

State aid for shelter construction at six "pilot study" schools, if federal funds are not available.

Permission for residents of a given area to create a "shelter district" for community construction and maintenance of a shelter.

U.N. Forces Told To Shoot If Necessary

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Army strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu ignored an ultimatum for the release of ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba today and kept him in prison in Thysville hours after the expiration of the deadline.

The pro-Lumumba triumvirate ruling Stanleyville, Oriental province, threatened to arrest all whites in the province and start cutting off the heads of some of the Belgians unless Mobutu freed Lumumba.

The ultimatum's 48-hour deadline passed at 3 p.m. yesterday. Lumumba was still in army jail.

U.N. forces in Stanleyville were ordered to resist with bullets if necessary to protect the white population.

Consular officials from five Western embassies—the United states, British, French, Greek and Portuguese—flew to Stanleyville under U.N. protection. They will make arrangements for protection of their citizens and a possible mass airlift out of the province.

Stanleyville, 775 airline miles northeast of Leopoldville and capital of Oriental Province, is ruled by three men—Lumumba's former secretary, Bernard Salumu, Lumumba's brother, Louis, and Communist-leaning Antoine Gizenga, former Congo deputy premier.

U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold gave orders for the U.N. force of 1,800 Ethiopians in Stanleyville to use force if necessary to protect the 1,000 white Europeans in Stanleyville. Eighty per cent of the whites are Belgians. Two American missionaries are among the whites trapped in the isolated city.

Ex-Marin Student To Play Trumpet At Inauguration

Richard Simon, a former Redwood High School student, will attend the inauguration of President-Elect John K. Kennedy as a member of the prize-winning Capuchino High School band in San Bruno.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mort Simon, who recently moved to San Bruno from Marin. Richard attended Neil Cummins School where he received his music training. He transferred from Redwood to Capuchino High and joined the trumpet section of the marching band.

The band won first place in the Class B division in the all-western band competition at Long Beach. Roger Kent of Kentfield, Democratic Party state chairman, invited the band to represent California at the inauguration parade in Washington. Band members and parents are now conducting a campaign to raise the $40,000 necessary for the trip.

Daring Havana Stand: 'Cuba Yes, Russia No'

HAVANA (AP)—Trouble piled up today for Prime Minister Fidel Castro on the labor, church and military fronts with the issue of Communist infiltration of his regime playing a central role.

Shouts of "Cuba yes, Russia no" came from demonstrators in front of the presidential palace—and they got away with it.

BOLD ASSEMBLY

Anti-Communist leaders of the Electrical Workers Union took a bold and daring stand by boycotting a Communist-managed union general assembly, which voted to demand their ouster.

In Santa Clara, five Cuban men were sentenced to death by a firing squad for trying to hijack a Cuban airliner in flight over Cienfuegos Thursday night. They were thwarted when the pilot crashlanded. One woman defendant was sentenced to 30 years, another woman acquitted. One of the condemned men escaped in the landing and is still at large.

The palace demonstration was by members of the Electric Workers Union.

The union leaders' defiant refusal to bow to the Red-leaning Confederation of Cuban Workers (CTC), which demanded their ouster, could have troublesome repercussions for Castro in the labor sector—mostly docile up to now.

MARCH ON PALACE

Several hundred members of the union marched on the presidental palace last night, protesting what they called Communist infiltration of their union.

Led by their popular secretary-general, Amaury Fraginals, the shouting workers demanded an audience with Castro or President Osvaldo Dorticos.

The peaceful demonstration broke up quickly after a commission headed by Fraginals was admitted to the palace. But informants said the commission never got to see Dorticos, as promised, or even his secretary, Luis Buch.

The ouster movement against Fraginals was cloaked behind a CTC call for a union general assembly to condemn sabotage of Cuban Electric Company facilities, formerly U.S.-owned but now run by Castro's regime.

Bianchi Elected To Farm Position

Alfred J. Bianchi, Point Reyes rancher, has been elected chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Marin County Committeemen who will assist the secretary of agriculture in administering the 1961 agricultural stabilization program in Marin.

Others chosen are David B. Burbank, vice chairman; Tom Furlong Jr., regular member; Christian Baur, first alternate; Alfred Grossi, second alternate.

ELECTION PRANK

'Kennedy Quarters' Circulating

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strange red-and-silver quarters featuring George Washington dressed as a Roman Catholic cardinal are being widely circulated in some parts of the country—and there's no law against it.

The coins are known as "Kennedy quarters" and represent an elaborate post-election prank. They are named, of course, for Sen. John F. Kennedy who on Jan. 20 will become the first Roman Catholic to serve as president.

Mint officials said today the coins are standard 25-cent pieces doctored to disguise Washington as a prelate.

The doctoring is done in any of several ways. Some of the coins are painted with red enamel and some are dressed up with pieces of red plastic tape in appropriate shape.

The mint has no evidence that "Kennedy quarters" are being mass produced by any particular group or organization.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Don Jensen Has Done Fine Job For The County

Just five years ago next week, the Marin County Board of Supervisors, by a 4 to 1 vote, passed an ordinance setting up the office of county administrator, and started the search for a man to fill the job.

From some 120 applicants, Donald A. Jensen was selected to be the county's first administrator.

Frankly, we didn't give him much chance of lasting out a full year of service. We would have almost wagered he wouldn't last two years. There were too many things apparently going against him.

To begin with, he did not have the unanimous backing of his bosses, the supervisors. In addition to this there was unrest in the courthouse. A county-wide reappraisal of the entire county was underway, independent and over the protests of the county assessor. There was much talk about a county charter, one which might eliminate some of the department heads. Elective office holders were touchy about their prerogatives and department heads nervous about possible infringement upon their authority.

Into this situation Jensen was thrust. His job was to organize county government on a more efficient and effective basis, keep the supervisors happy, eliminate friction in the courthouse and handle the multiple problems of an expanding community.

The fact that he has remained nearly five years, until his resignation to take a state position, is a tribute in itself.

We are sure that even he is not 100 per cent satisfied with the job he has done. It has been too necessary to make major compromises, it has been too necessary to worry about how each action will affect so many people for an administrator to do the kind of a job he'd like to.

But we think there is little doubt that Marin county government has moved forward more in the last five years than in any other period of our history. Much of it would have come without Jensen's presence. But he has been the guiding hand, the soothing voice and the easy scapegoat for a period of terrific change.

He has proven, we believe, the effectiveness of the necessity for a county administrator, or even a county manager. He has accomplished a great deal in organizing a more effective and efficient operation in county government.

We haven't always agreed with him, but we appreciate the job he has done for the county. We are truly grateful.

We wish Don Jensen success in the future. And success too, to Alan Bruce, who succeeds him as county administrator.

Bouquets And Brickbats

A BOUQUET to 16-year-old Bill E. Rubinsak, son of a Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant, whose quick-witted alarms probably saved the lives of two persons in a burning building at the base.

BRICKBATS to those among you who forgot that today is the last day to pay the first installment on your property taxes; if you hurry you can still get it in the mail so it will have a Dec. 10 postmark.

A BOUQUET to William O. Weissich for making a test case on the point that two persons, joint owners of a car, can be fined for the parking offense of one (maybe somebody else altogether).

A BOUQUET to Larkspur Councilman James T. Lienkaemper, who is encouraging active participation by and full information for the citizens of Larkspur in the activities of their city government.

A BRICKBAT to each unsportsmanlike bass angler who brawled over use of an overtaxed public boat launching ramp in Sausalito last Sunday.

BOUQUETS to the members and staff of Marin County Humane Society who, in the past year, have handled nearly 10,800 animals and returned to their owners or found homes for more than 2,000 of them; that's about six animals a day.

WORK CAN BE A PLEASURE

"Labor is a pleasure in itself," is an ancient maxim that many moderns would regard with jaundiced eye. The press of hard facts, however, forces upon men sooner or later the awareness that they never find true fulfillment without hard and rewarding work.

Before the coming of Christ, Virgil, the Roman poet, said: "Labor conquers all things." His comment was echoed by that of Horace: "Life gives nothing to man without labor."

The early Christians sanctified, or made holy, all work in the home, at study, in the fields, shops and arts. They knew that their efforts, however insignificant, had a part to play in rebuilding the earth according to God's design for man's happiness in time and eternity.

See in each day's tasks a fresh opportunity to participate in the creative power of Him who made the world. Armed with this positive viewpoint, you will have discovered the deepest joy of labor.

"Come to me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will refresh you."
(Matthew 11:28)

Thank You, O heavenly Father, for allowing me to be Your co-worker in renewing the face of the earth.

LEGISLATIVE PROBLEM

North-South Split In Demos Faces Kennedy

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — Statistics on the outgoing 86th Congress indicate the magnitude of the problem President-designate John F. Kennedy may face in bringing his fellow Democrats into line behind his 1961 legislative program.

A Congressional Quarterly voting study shows that Northern and Southern Democrats were divided—that is, a majority of Southern senators and representatives in the party opposed the stand taken by a majority of the Northern members—on 40 per cent of the Congressional roll-call votes of 1960.

SOUTHERN SUCCESSES against their fellow party members in the Northern states are almost totally dependent, however, on the support of Republicans for the Southern position. The Southern Democratic position prevailed over that of the North on only three roll-call votes of 1960 where a majority of Republicans did not support the Southern view.

Kennedy backers are hoping that the new President will be able, by using the full powers and persuasions of his office, to swing enough votes from both Republicans and Southern Democrats to carry his program through.

Of the 207 Senate roll-calls of the year, Southerners opposed the Northern view 85 times. In the House, the split occurred on 34 of the 93 roll-calls of the year. The CQ survey counts a North-South split whenever a majority of voting Northern Democrats opposed the stand taken by a majority of voting Southern Democrats.

THE OVERALL percentage of North-South splits was about 10 per cent higher than in most recent years, due in large part to a group of 33 House and Senate roll-call votes on the explosive civil rights issue which occupied the attention of Congress from mid-January to April.

In addition to civil rights, Northern and Southern Democrats disagreed on a wide variety of domestic and foreign policy issues:

DEPRESSED AREAS. In 1960, a majority of Southern Democrats voted against the area development bill which had Kennedy's support—then and during the subsequent Presidential campaign.

FOREIGN AID. Southern Senators and Representatives consistently voted against mutual security program authorizations and appropriations, and they opposed the new International Development Assn. (IDA) to aid underdeveloped nations.

TAXES. Various tax reforms, backed by Northern Democrats, were opposed by a majority of the Southerners. Among them were moves to reduce gas and oil depletion allowances, to establish a withholding tax on income from interest and dividends, to repeal the 4 per cent tax credit on dividend income and to curtail tax deductions for business entertainment.

MINIMUM WAGE. Southern Democrats opposed the $1.25 minimum wage backed by Kennedy and other Northern Democrats, and they favored a minimum extension of current minimum wage coverage.

AID TO EDUCATION. Southern Democrats in 1960 opposed federal aid to education, either for school construction or for teachers' salaries.

HOUSING. Southern Democratic Senators opposed increased public housing authorizations, while Southern Representatives voted against urban renewal and slum clearance grants.

FARM PRICE SUPPORTS. Southern Senators voted to reduce price supports for wheat, in opposition to the stand of Northern Democratic Senators.

MEDICAL CARE FOR AGED. Southern Senators voted overwhelmingly against the Kennedy-backed plan to provide medical benefits for Social Security retirees, financed through an increased Social Security payroll tax.

Education Study Faces Questionable Future

By CHAPIN A. DAY

The two-year study—made by the Citizens Advisory Commission on Public Education faces a questionable future in Sacramento.

The report, and its accompanying minority report, were presented to the legislature's Joint Interim on Education this week. At first it appeared as if the committee wouldn't even discuss them.

Chairman G. H. Winton Jr. (D, Merced-assemblyman) had a letter of transmittal to the legislature all ready for committee consideration. It said that because there had not been time to "make the thorough study necessary to review the report in detail," the joint committee "has made no independent recommendations and merely transmits the commission's report, together with the minority expressions, to the legislature without critical analysis."

THIS PROSPECT bothered some of the committee members. "What," they asked, "are we here for if it isn't to consider and discuss the report?"

There was plenty to discuss. The commission's final report makes 104 recommendations for improvement of the state's school system. Of these, 54 involve legislative matters. The others are recommendations to school boards, administrators, and other education officials.

The minority report, signed by three members of the 27-man commission, contained 42 recommendations. Some of these concerned matters covered in the majority report, but half dealt with matters either considered and rejected by the majority or not taken up by the full group.

THE MINORITY report came under fire of the commission majority chairman, Dr. William V. Lawlor, Glendale dentist. He told the committee that the minority report is not truly a product of the committee. He said the report had not been submitted to the majority although "an opportunity was made for its presentation and they (the minority) decided not to present it."

Minority members have stated they offered to present their views, but that the majority had decided not to hear them.

ASSEMBLYMAN Carlos Bee of the committee objected to some of the language in the minority report. He said its introduction and parts of the text referred to "the commission," when it actually meant the minority.

More specifically he objected to three statements in the introduction to the minority report: (1) that the "commission has found considerable evidence that the State Department of Education is deliberately flouting the laws of the state," (2) that the departments philosophy of "Progressive Education" is "using all the children of this state as guinea pigs"; (3) that "additional funds will not solve the problems of education in California."

Bee said he failed to find evidence in the report to back up these statements in the introduction.

MEMBERS OF the committee expressed interest in further discussion of the report and of hearing more about the evidence behind the recommendations of both the majority and the minority. They refused to approve Winton's proposed letter of transmittal and set next Wednesday at 10 a.m. as time for a joint meeting of the committee and the commission.

They indicated they would print and circulate both of the reports in substantially the manner in which they were received, although they will probably make changes in the minority report to make clear that it represents the thinking of the three signers and not that of the entire commission.

Will the committee make recommendations for legislation to carry out the recommendations? Not if Chairman Winton has his way. He says the committee does not have time to study the reports point by point and prepare legislation on them. He urges individual members of the committee, however, to select portions they wish turned into law and submit their individual bills on them to the legislature. The interim committee would have no stand as a unit either for or against such proposals.

Some of the committee think this is wrong, that they should implement at least some of the recommendations by committee action before the legislature.

Next week's meeting should indicate whether the chairman or the committeemen will prevail.

Better Year For Needy Children

Independent-Journal:

Thanks to your readers' generosity, and to the outstanding support your newspaper gave the Trick or Treat for UNICEF program in your community, 1961 will be a better year for needy children in many parts of the world.

The Halloween collection figure of "more than $3,500" you recently published will translate itself into any one of the following in terms of aid given by the United Nations Children's Fund:

The vaccine to protect 350,000 children from tuberculosis; a daily glass of milk for 87,500 school children for four weeks; the penicillin to cure 70,000 children of yaws, a crippling tropical disease; the antibiotics to save 17,500 children from the blindness of trachoma; the DDT to protect 28,000 children against malaria for a year; the sulfone to treat 3,500 young leprosy victims successfully for three years; 1,400,000 vitamin capsules for children suffering from malnutrition.

Please share the assurance of our heartfelt gratitude with your readers and with your staff.

Recalls Historic Old Oak Tree

Independent-Journal:

The story that appeared in the paper of Dec. 5 re the cutting of the old cypress tree in the side yard of the San Rafael Library property reminded me of the story of a few years ago of the cutting down of the oak tree in the middle of "E" Street.

The tree was located between the Library and the Presbyterian Church. It was described, a number of years ago, in the Believe It Or Not column of Robert Ripley.

The old oak was the smallest park in the world. Captain John Fremont is supposed to have camped under its spreading branches. It also served as San Rafael's hanging tree. I recall hearing the story of an Indian who had committed a crime and had been sentenced to hang. He asked for a few days reprieve so that he could say goodbye to his family and friends. In exchange for the few days he agreed to return. He lived up to his promise and was hung on schedule.

The location of the old oak tree can still easily be found by the patch on "E" Street, unless in the last paving job done by the city, it was covered over.

Everybody Rakes In When Stripers Begin To Run In Bay

The fabulous striper runs at Sausalito and Tiburon have far-reaching effects. Party boats rake in, anglers rake in, and then the Marin courts begin to rake in.

After last week's striped bass haul, a stream of fishermen have begun to show up in court to pay fines. Most of them were caught with more than their limit of three. Many were caught using two or three poles at the same time.

Fines are running as high as $75.

BUT THE ODDEST looking fisherman of the week was San Rafael photographer Ken Molino. He dressed up in Sunday best, suit and tie, to take fashion shots of beauties on water skis off Sausalito waterfront.

He snapped the pictures about 100 yards offshore from a boat, wiped his hands with his silk handkerchief and sat back for the short ride back to the pier.

Suddenly the skipper says, "Here, hang on to this pole. Might as well troll even for the few remaining yards."

Then bang, bang. Two big ones hit. In 12 minutes, he had 15 pounds of fish.

Startled, and worried about the creases in his suit, Molino didn't have time for another cast before the boat docked.

PEOPLE STILL can't believe that San Rafael fashion model Marian Bellamy voted for Richard Nixon—she looks so much like Jackie Kennedy.

SHERIFF'S DEPUTY Ted Hughes, who's getting to look more and more like Santa Claus, is not playing the part this year. He's the one that headed the toys for Christmas drive in past years. He regrets he can't carry on this year, but his law enforcement duties make it impossible. So, please don't send him any more toys.

AN "EXPERT" on bad checks gave some free advice to Bay Area peace officers at a check conference in Oakland last Wednesday.

Introduced as a "Mr. Bagette" from Sacramento, he turned out to be none other than the state's most wanted check passer, Clarence Pomeroy Rand, 66. They had got him special court permission to leave Oakland jail to speak to the group.

After six years of field training before being caught, Rand told the investigators how he passed more than a thousand checks with arthritic hands that could barely scrawl the 150 aliases he used.

HERE ARE TIPS from expert Rand:

For some unknown reason, store owners are suspicious of $25 checks. But $35 checks go like life jackets at a ship sinking. The people he feared the most were women who specialize in check cashing at large department stores.

"The moment she glances at the check, gives me a quick once-over and says, 'Will you wait a moment, sir,' I get out of there. She knows her business!"

SANTA CLAUS must be overworked this season. He's sending all kinds of things in the mail that customers did not order.

A San Rafael woman reached into the mailbox and came up with a handful of dollar bills.

Mailman Bob Pillus found six gas tank caps inside the mail collection box in Terra Linda.

Gardeners Are Easy To Shop For

By EARL AARONSON

And how's your gift list coming?

We thought we'd offer a few suggestions, including back liniment for over-enthusiastic garden addicts. How about some books, with a comfortable chair attachment for relaxed reading?

Then there are gloves that bear the forthright, war-like legend, "I hate weeds." They come in men's and women's sizes.

Watering cans, made of metal or plastic, come in several sizes. One hold nine quarts. There is also a small one with a brass plunger that forces out a gentle mist for small plants. If your plants are big and hardy you can get one that squirts less gracefully. If you have lots of surplus bottles kicking around, you can get a plunge sprayer that screws into the bottle top.

Do a little investigating before you buy your friends garden gradgets or tools for Christmas. For instance, don't buy the hedgeless fellow a hedge trimmer. If you are going to send a subscription to a garden magazine, make sure the recipient doesn't get that magazine already.

For outdoors, how about garden accessories such as ornamental pots, planting boxes or tubs, sundials or bird houses?

Gift certificates for roses are popular. So are packets of seeds or house plants. There are gift packs that include seeds, small hand tools, plastic bags for cuttings, peat moss pots in which to start seedlings indoors early, and a thermometer.

And what would I like? If the heirs and heiress keep their promises to help in the garden next spring, especially digging new ground, especially weeding, especially pruning, especially grass cutting and trimming, I'm going to need a comfortable hammock and wide-brimmed straw hat to keep the sun out of my eyes. Bet I get a new hoe. I can always lean on it when I get tired of looking for the heirs and heiress.

Men Of All Sizes Can Dress Stylish

One of the real developments in men's fashions has been the broadening of styles for all men. No longer does one have to be a "perfect size 40" to wear the smart fashions: No longer must a bigger or smaller man take whatever he can get.

Look at some of today's best-dressed men — huge Jackie Gleason, tall Bud Palmer, thin Frank Sinatra, etc. So whatever your size, and whatever your taste—you can be as smartly-groomed as the fellow who wears size 40.

Gifts That Protect The Health

The greatest gift any man can bestow on his family is the gift of health.

You can't buy health in a department store, of course, but there are a surprising number of gifts a family can select for each other that will mean better health for all its members.

Important among these is an automatic electric dishwasher. This work-saving appliance sanitizes dishes, glasses, pots, pans, utensils, and silverware with ultra hot water and special detergents, making them cleaner and more germ-free than if washed by hand. This sharply reduces the threat of spreading colds and other diseases from one family member to another.

Today's dishwashers are available in built-in or portable models. For families who rent or live in an apartment, portable models are ideal because they go along like a piece of furniture.

Another important gift healthwise is today's new electric refrigerator-freezer. This remarkable new electric appliance offers so much storage space and so many other space-age features that it actually can become the key to more nutritive, healthful meals in any kitchen.

For example, a new electric refrigerator-freezer keeps more frozen and fresh foods longer and better. This means that a supply of foods for nutritious meals is constantly on hand, resulting in better, more appetizing meals everyone will enjoy.

Modern refrigerator-freezer combinations are compact yet spacious enough to hold sufficient food so that only one weekly visit to the supermarket is necessary, saving wear and tear on the family shopper and freeing her for other duties.

Some other appliances available to assist families retain better health are humidifiers to add needed moisture to dry air; electric heaters to warm cold spots; food blenders for vitamin-rich drinks and dishes, and electric blankets for cold weather sleeping comfort.

Put System In Shopping

To put a little fun into your life at Christmas shopping time—or at least to take some of the misery out of making the rounds of the beautifully decorated stores try using a systematic approach.

The American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear points out that systematic shopping for wearables for the men on your list will make the task easier and pleasanter and, more than likely, will result in gifts that are "right" for the men who receive them.

An accurate listing of the correct sizes and likeliest possibilities for gifts for dad, big brother or boyfriend, little brother and granddad can turn a confusing, time-consuming chore into an easier, more rewarding job.

PRACTICAL LUXURY . . . GOLDEN ARROW S. D. C.
A gift that will make a lasting impression — the first all-cotton shirt that never ever needs ironing, dries perfectly, permanently smooth no matter how it's washed. The new self-ironing Belfast cotton is silkier, more luxurious, more comfortable. It never discolors and is the fastest-drying cotton of all. "Sanforized-Plus." Lacquered Furniture For Color

Combine the colorful gaiety of the Christmas season with the very stylish trend of brightly or subtly lacquered furniture and you've chosen a "right" gift, advises the Home Furnishings Industry Committee.

Committee director, Virginia Pegram, says colored lacquered finishes also appear in all style ranges from provincial to sophisticated traditional and on into the most modern style.

These colorful finishes are created with modern lacquers which are compounded to take the "gaff" of day to day living. They can be easily cleaned with a mild soap and water. They are applied in several coats, so that chipping is no problem.

One new group of classic styled furniture includes a terra - cotta shade accented with gold and black lines and motifs on drawer or cabinet fronts. In a large collection of Early American cherry furniture several subtle pastels are included. These are in the cooler shades, such as pale blue-green, soft gold, or soft dark green.

Gay and charming as Venice itself are the colors on some Italian Provincial pieces. A tall arched top secretary desk is painted chalky white. Arched panels of the doors and drawer fronts are outlined in Mediterranean blue. The surprise when the doors are open; the shelves of the cabinet are painted shocking pink.

Some Gifts Of Comfort

Getting together for an old fashioned Christmas this year? Well, get together and buy mother a leather chair she'll treasure for many years to come.

Rich, warm-looking, and easy to care for, furniture in the new lightweight, supple upholstery leathers blend with the decor of any home—period or modern — and merge beautifully with the whole range of walnut, mahogany, cherry, fruitwood and other favorite furniture woods.

Leather upholstered chairs and couches are available in literally hundreds of colors, from cool greens to warm beiges and tans, hot corals and reds, to jet black.

Coffee tables covered in lavishly tooled red-brown leather bring a "cherry" note into a period room. A high lamp with base and column in starling oyster white leather draws the eye in a modern room.

Leather chairs lend style to a quiet dining room or feminine frippery in a boudoir. Quilted leather headboards and stripped leather venetian blinds — both easily wiped clean with a damp sponge — introduce a note of luxury in a bedroom.

No man can resist the inviting comfort of a deep leather armchair. Nor can he fail to get that VIP feeling when his new desk has a leather top.

Wrap Cookies Well For Safe Delivery

Planning to send a box of cookies in the mail? After all the time and effort you've spent baking—be sure to expend just a bit more to assure that they arrive looking as pretty as when they were sent.

First, wrap each cookie seperately in a small piece of waxed paper, aluminum foil or Saran Wrap.

If you are using a cardboard box, line it with waxed paper. Then place a sheet of cardboard and several layers of waxed paper between each layer of cookies.

When packing a metal container, make a cushion of wrapping paper at the bottom. Separate each layer of cookies here, too.

Next, wrap the box with corrugated paper; cover with wrapping paper and tie securely with cord.

One sure way to "snap" into your Christmas gift list is by giving a camera. Photography is a hobby that belongs to every age group; and fortunately, it now belongs to every income group.

There's hardly anyone who doesn't want to "get into the pictures," and the nice part is you needn't be afraid of giving a beginner one of the current advanced models.

However, to play it safe, you can buy any number of cameras in the inexpensive group that are ideal for the amateur. They come boxed, including all the essentials — batteries, flash attachment, film, bulbs — and, in some cases, a slide projector and screen.

Another nice feature about giving a camera is that a second, or even a third, one isn't "overdoing it." A person interested in shooting pictures actually wants several cameras, as each type (and there's a large variety) does a special job.

If you're buying a gift for someone who already owns several cameras, your local photographic shop can advise you on supplementary items which are favorites with a "camera bug."

Inquire about the 35-millimeter camera which takes both prints and slides, filter kits, exposure meters, range finders, dark room supplies, and film.

And don't overlook an album or a leather carrying case. Good pictures look even better when they're kept in the proper setting.

Dressy Nightwear

Remember when nightwear and robes were the most drab of all attire? Today's—or tonight's — casual living, however, has brought about a style step-up, and a man can be dressed right in the confines of his home as at any other place or time, notes the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. Pajamas and robes, incidentally, rate high on the lists of Christmas gifts for men.

Nautical Gifts For The Kids

If your boating activities are a family affair — and whose aren't?—nautical gifts can help solve the problem of what to buy the kids for Christmas. Having their own "gear" on board will make boating an even brighter pastime for the youngsters.

The Mercury outboard people suggest these last-minute gifts to gladden the heart of any junior boatman:

If the child is young, his very own lifejacket, suitably labeled with his name, will add a proprietary note to his zest for boating.

Perhaps it is time for the novice water skiers to have their own skis. Skilled skiers will appreciate the new two-way radio built into the tow handle to enable communication between skier and observer.

It will probably be lost or worn out before he ever gets near the water next spring, but a "captain's hat" with a bright gold medallion is sure to be a hit with a young boy. You'd better plan on having one for his sister, too, especially if she's under 10 years old.

There are many inexpensive brands of sleeping bags on the market. Not only will they make sleeping aboard a more exciting event, but kids are crazy about them. They will probably camp out on the bedroom floor Christmas night.

Most manufacturers of canvas-and-rubber boating shoes make them in children's sizes. The kids will love this symbol of the "professional" boater. They're safer for climbing around the boat, easier on the deck finish, and can save a good pair of shoes from accidental soaking.

Battery-powered miniature outboard motors, available at marine dealers, will work equally well in the bathtub on a rainy, "What shall I do?" afternoon, or at the lake while dad is launching the full-sized boat.

Poinsettias Require Care

Jot down poinsettia on your shopping list to help bring the warmth and cheer to the holidays into your own home or that of a friend's.

You'll find it takes care and known-how to keep this fiery plant bright and lovely throughout the wintry days.

Poinsettias can't take sudden changes in temperature and humidity without losing their leaves. The correct day temperature is under 72 degrees and the night temperature in the room should be no colder than 60 degrees. Never let the plant dry out between waterings.

Over-heating and underwatering will cause leaves to turn yellow and drop off.

The poinsettia is a real sun worshiper, so place it where it will receive as much direct sunlight as possible — away from drafts and hot air registers. The higher the humidity in the home, the better poinsettias will thrive.

Marin County Has Become Mecca For Craftsmen In Ceramics Field

THIS EDITION of your Independent-Journal Marin Magazine contains a story about a current pottery show at the De Young Museum in San Francisco, and takes special note of the large number of Marin craftsmen who are represented in the exhibition.

Just a few weeks ago this magazine ran another story about a weavers' exhibit at the same museum. And again the large Marin representation merited special mention.

It's an old story.

Whenever you visit an arts or crafts show in the Bay Area, you can just about bet that you will run into the work of a sizeable number of talented Marinites.

And this is to say nothing of the considerable number of such shows which creative Marinites conduct with success in their own home county.

We wondered just how many artists and craftsmen actually do make their home in Marin. And we asked Edwin A. Cadogan, head of the fine arts division at the College of Marin in Kentfield, if he could supply the figure.

Ed says that the best estimate he has seen is that Marin County now has in its population about 1,000 artists representing all the various creative fields. It's a rough guess, he admits, but very probably a reasonably accurate one. And certainly it is an impressive figure.

Ed notes that the vigorous community interest in things artistic is reflected in the size and scope of the art classes, both day and night, at the college as well as numerous private and local community groups.

For instance: The ceramic department at the College of Marin is one of the best equipped in the entire country — bar none. And it currently has a whopping enrollment of 250 students.

Ed also points out that the college program has achieved sufficient stature to attract students not only from many states of the Union, but also from foreign countries. College of Marin has become one of "the places" in which to study pottery.

And in addition to the studio potters who operate either as a vocation or avocation, Marin, or more specifically Sausalito, is also the home of Heath Ceramics, whose products are widely distributed and much admired.

Nor does a Marin "census" of its ceramic craftsmen give the total picture of this county's influence in this particular art field. Cadogan notes that no small number of the potters participating in the current De Young Museum exhibit with non-Marin home addresses nevertheless received their schooling in ceramics at the Kentfield college.

Marin is influential in all art fields and activities in the Bay Area. But in ceramics it is more than influential. It is the pacesetter. It predominates.

Just something to keep in mind if you are fortunate enough to get to see the present show at De Young. And if you don't make it to that exhibit, bear it in mind next time you do attend a showing of fine ceramic work in the Bay Area. Note just how many of these topflight craftsmen-artists are your fellow Marinites.

The Key Club Motto: Youth Serves Youth

33 Students At San Rafael High Are Dedicated To This Program

By DON KEOWN

"I pledge on my honor to uphold the objectives of Key Club International; to build my home, school and community; to serve my nation and God and combat all forces which tend to undermine these institutions."

This is the pledge taken each year by a select group of boys at San Rafael High School.

THEY ARE the fortunate ones chosen for membership in Marin's only chapter of Key Club International, a service group for high school youth sponsored by Kiwanis International.

"Youth Serves Youth" is the organization's motto.

And currently dedicated to that motto are 33 young member of the San Rafael chapter.

Membership is by application. Acceptance, by a screening committee from the club, is on the basis of grades and activities.

The boys meet once a week during the school noon hour for their business sessions, where they discuss projects such as the painting of garbage cans on the school grounds, the conducting of a book cover sale, work days on floats for school parades, etc.

Each such meeting is attended by an observer from the sponsoring Kiwanis.

AND WHILE the Key Clubbers frequently call upon the experience of their Kiwanis Club "big brothers," the high schoolers are proud that they are financially self-sufficient, raising their own funds for their own activities and for charitable causes.

Those activities have included a breakfast served to all the male faculty members as a means of fostering better understanding between teachers and students.

Also included is the annual Moonlight and Mistletoe dance, held during the holidays in the school gymnasium. This year's event is scheduled for next Saturday night with the band of Justin Murray of San Francisco scheduled to provide the music.

The Key Club has raised funds for such worthy purposes as Guide Dogs for the Blind, American Field Service, etc., through a variety of money-making projects including the book cover and a peach sale.

WHEN THE Parent-Teacher Assn. encountered a problem in decorating the school gym for an evening dance because the gym had to be in use for school purposes well into the afternoon, the Key Clubbers stepped into the breach. After school they pitched in, and by evening and dance-time, attractive decorations were awaiting the P-TA members.

When the Key Club boys noticed that the garbage cans on the school grounds had become battered and scarred, a "paint day" was scheduled. And the cans were soon all a gleaming white.

The San Rafael High School youths are members of an international organization that had its birth in May of 1925 at Sacramento when the Kiwanis Club of that city founded the unit primarily to carry an active vocational guidance program directly to the whole student body on a year-around basis. As it developed this work, many other opportunities for service on the school level were noted and carried out. And so today the Key Club is, in fact, the service club of its high school. No job is too large or too small. The members thrive on active work and service for others.

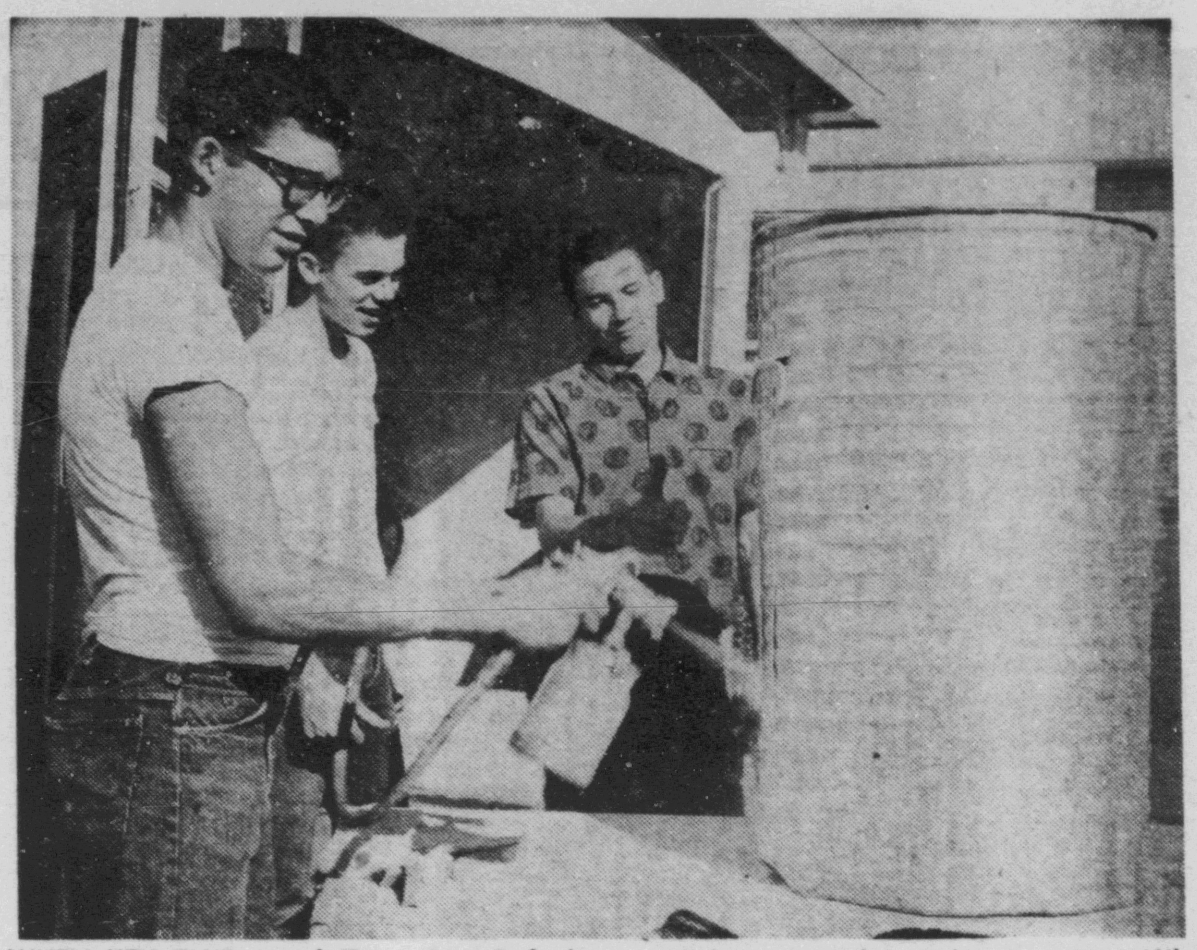
FROM THE original Sacramento club, the idea spread among the Kiwanians of other communities. By 1939 the first convention was held in Florida. And finally in 1943 an international organization was formed.

International by-laws and a constitution were adopted at the third Key Club international convention in 1946. And these have served as the firm foundation for today's vigorous and growing organization.

The current leadership of the San Rafael chapter lies in the hands of a set of officers headed by Jim Kuehn as president and Mike Casselman, vice president; Warren Davis, secretary; Mike Fennel, treasurer, and Jim Rosa, sergeant at arms.

Patrick Costello is the faculty adviser.

New officers will take over the reins next semester. But, regardless of whom they might be, you can bet they will be students who will continue to steer their organization on the path of service to their school, to their community and to their country.



WHEN KEY CLUB members at San Rafael High School noticed that the garbage cans at the school had become scarred and battered, they grabbed paint spray guns and set about remedying the situation. Mike Fennel operates the spray gun here with fellow Key Club members Jim Morehouse and John Taylor helping out. (Photos by Rich Rains and Ken Nunes)

THIS IS the emblem which the boys of Key Club International wear so proudly.

JIM KUEHN is the current president of the San Rafael High School chapter of Key Club International. Here he wears his Key Club jacket with the club emblem over his heart.

STEREO HI-FI

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

The other evening I decided to explore some Baroque music. I chose a Kapp Stereo Record, "Trumpet and Orchestra." Partly because at one time I made a living playing trumpet, and secondly I was curious to see how a conductor like Emmanuel Vardi would blend a solo trumpet into a background of strings. The results were delightful.

A few evenings prior to my Baroque excusion, I was listening to a copy of Ernie Heckscher's new disc called "Dancing on Broadway." Ernie's discs have all been excellent, but this one adds a new touch. It is a unique blending of voices and instruments and should be a must on everyone's Christmas shopping list.

By this time, my readers are probably wondering if I have given up engineering and taken up record reviewing. Certainly not. I am trying to make two points clear. One, that even though I spend most of my time in my Hi-Fi Stereo Store talking and demonstrating music quality, I still spend a considerable amount of time in my own living room listening to music, serious undisturbed listening. Secondly, as easily as selecting a disc or tape from your collection you can whisk yourself back to the 17th and 18th centuries, or return to the 20th Century.

Since music can be such a wonderful part of our lives, and since music can keep on giving enjoyment for years, why don't you make this a musical Christmas? Choose records, tapes and even a stereo system for the family.

BOB TROPPMANN

Builder Of Champs At Redwood High

By JIM GILMARTIN

A high school coach is many things to a boy. He's a brother, a father, a teacher, a babysitter, a nurse and, most of all, a pal, all wrapped up in one package.

When we asked a high school football star the most enjoyment he got out of his team, his answer was simple: "My coach."

When asked to elaborate, the star needed no coaxing. He stated, "Well, all the guys on the team are like a big happy family and the coach is like our dad. Heck, he's like one of us. I mean, he'll clown around with us, but also he keeps us on our toes with an iron hand and won't put up with any guff. I know I speak for the rest of the guys that he's the real champ on our club."

The player was a member of Redwood High School's championship team and he was speaking, of course, of Bob Troppmann, one of northern California's most respected high school mentors.

TROPPMANN recently completed his second straight championship season in the Marin County Athletic League, but he didn't close his football book until next fall like many coaches. "My hobby," he explains, "is football. To me it's enjoyment for 24 hours a day, 12 months a year."

His enthusiasm is partly detected in a recent note to the Independent-Journal sports department. It read: "Come on, gang, let's get hustling. Only 276 more days until the 1961 football season."

Besides producing championship timber among the Redwoods, Troppmann compiles thorough files on all his players, past, present and future; statistics and records of all his teams; generates intense enthusiasm toward football in his school; has written eight articles published in the Athletic Journal, a national sports magazine; and has written a booklet on "Championship Drills," for the Continental Athletic Supply Co.

He is also originator and chairman of Redwood High's football coaches clinic, the largest of its kind in the state, held annually during March.

Some of his other projects have included sitting in as a member of the Corte Madera Park Commission and serving as a director in the Northern California Pop Warner Conference, first vice president of the California Coaches Assn. and as Marin County representative for the East-West high school all-star game in San Francisco.

ALONG WITH his numerous duties as coach, director of athletics and recreation director, Troppmann has maintained a tremendous interest in his first love — football, and his teams show it. A former Marine Corps officer, he demands neat appearance and rigid adherence to training rules from his athletes.

Each player must sign an "athletic contract" before he can turn out for the team and enforcement of the rules is strict. For example, close-cropped haircuts are a must. Neckties and suits are mandatory on road trips; levy trousers are not worn with the school's lettermen sweaters; a player may not date a girl friend at any time during the season; and all players must be home by 9:30 each night.

On the field Troppmann's teams are models of discipline and polished execution of plays. During practice and games, helmets are worn continually, even by the bench-warmers. And players are not permitted a swig of water at any time.

Explains the coach, "We started a tradition at Redwood of taking pride in our appearances and we intend to keep it that way. We want our teams to act like pros."

The Redwood record book is a success story in favor of Troppmann, even though his first team in 1958 won only four games while losing four and tying one. Last year Redwood went undefeated and won the mythical championship of Northern California schools in its enrollment bracket. This year the Giants won seven and lost two for their second straight title, and a three-year record of 19-6-1.

Against Marin County opposition Redwood has won 12 games and lost only one—a 25-12 setback to San Rafael in 1958.

REDWOOD TEAMS are noted for their ability to rise to the occasion and win the big, crucial games. Thanks to Troppmann's thorough scouting system, Redwood players know almost as much about their opponents as the foes do themselves.

In brief, Troppmann approaches his job with the finesse of a college mentor, a trait he absorbed while serving as an assistant coach at San Francisco State from 1950 through 1953.

Troppmann has been mentioned prominently for the last two years as possible coach for the North team in the annual North-South High School Shrine classic in Los Angeles. "That one goal I have," said the Redwood mentor, "and I'm sure that I share the ambition with every high school coach in the state."

Troppmann's life is wrapped up in young men and he loves it. "I find the challenge of working with teen-agers is stimulating," he says.

In football, Troppmann examines a boy's desire above all. "In my mind, desire is the first thing I look for — desire to compete, desire to do better and desire to be the best at whatever he does. Secondly, I look for speed, and lastly, size."

And, his favorite sport has provided Troppmann many thrills, including "the thrill of winning two championships, the thrill of seeing young boys rise to the occasion and become 'men' over night, the thrill of seeing the boys that I have coached go to college and play football. Every time you step on the field with your team is a thrill."

WHEN ASKED of his ambitions, Troppmann said, "Naturally all coaches would some day like to coach at Notre Dame and I think each coach should have a goal to become the best in his profession. However, there is nothing like coaching high school boys — to watch them from freshmen to seniors. And the relationship you have with them after graduation is something money can't buy."

Robert James Troppmann is a native of San Francisco, one of four children of Carl Martin and Clare Carberry Troppmann. His father died in 1937; his mother lives near him in Corte Madera; his sister Clare also resides in Corte Madera while brother Carl resides in Reno and another sis, Mrs. Jean Patterson, lives in Santa Rosa.

In school days Troppmann was a versatile athlete, competing in basketball, football (a center) and track at Lowell High School from 1939-41; football, boxing and track at University of San Francisco in 1942-43 and those same sports, plus basketball, at University of Redlands in 1943-44. His stay at Redlands was as part of the Navy's V-12 program, after which he was sent to Marine Corps Officers Training School in Quantico, Va.

After discharge from the Marines as a second lieutenant, with a 13-month tour of duty in Japan, Troppmann had a taste of professional football as a center for the San Francisco Clippers of the Pacific Coast League, the forerunner to the present day 49ers.

The Redwood coach, who gained his Bachelor of Arts and Masters degrees in physical education at San Francisco State in 1948, was baptized into the coaching profession at Richmond High from 1948-50, after which he moved to the S.F. State assistant's job, then to Drake in 1954 and to Redwood in 1958. "I dreamed of becoming a coach when I was a little guy," he reflects, "and if I had it to do over again, I'd do exactly the same thing."

Next month he will celebrate the 15th anniversary of his marriage to the former Marilyn Norton De Vore of Redlands, a marriage that has produced a team of five offspring: Jim, 14, Joan, 13, Janet, 12, Judith, 10, and John, 4½.

Next year Jim Troppmann will be old enough to play varsity football and his dad describes him as a promising quarterback.

However, Jim won't be anyone special on the team. He'll be just one of the guys on Redwood's "big happy family."

She Converts Your Old Memories Into New Jewelry

By JOANNE DREJES

A small gold nugget, the dirt still clinging to it, a handful of old jewelry and two loose stones — bits and pieces of useless things, but to their owner a small mound of memories hard to discard.

And for Amy Grant, Fairfax jeweler, these are the raw materials for a piece of new jewelry. A pendant is to be designed that will be in itself an exciting ornament while retaining its keepsake value for her client.

Designing and executing new jewelry from old is only a part of Amy Grant's new business. And the jewelry business is only a part of her day. As wife, mother and student there are many other things to do.

In many ways the problems and successes of Mrs. Grant are representative of a large number of Marin artists—men and women who desire to work with their hands, to create beauty from raw materials. People who have found a hobby to fulfill that desire have often also discovered an art that satisfied their own need of expression, and then supplied others with quality pieces of original work.

THE REALIZATION of this need to create is a curious thing. In some people it is so well defined that from the earliest years of life the course of study and practice is apparent. In others it can emerge suddenly, and at a time when even the thought of developing a new technique seems very remote.

For Amy Grant the discovery of art took just as long as her trip to Marin. Born in Hamburg, Germany, of Czechoslovakian parents, she came with her family to America in 1922 and lived with an aunt in Washington D.C. It was May, 1936, when she married John Grant and they moved farther west to Colorado where Jack was to major in sociology at Colorado A & M College. After his graduation, Jack took a teaching post at Walden in the northern Colorado mountains.

The new teacher, his wife and their 10-year-old son, John, Jr., found themselves living a pioneer existence. The school for the first eight grades was a one-room schoolhouse, and the teachers residence a log cabin. The cold was bitter and could not be kept outside. During the winter months at 2 in the morning the Grants would rise and build a fire to keep the room temperature high enough so that their supplies of canned goods would not freeze. Ironically enough, background music for this nightly chore was supplied by an Hawaiian radio station.

Finally the conflict of pines and palms was too great, at the end of the school year the Grants crated their belongings, booked reservations on an Hawaiian bound boat and made way for the port of San Francisco.

But 1949, the year of the great Colorado blizzard, was also the year of the dock strike in San Francisco. The Grants sat in their hotel room waiting for the ship to sail. The strike was long and their fare was used up in the waiting. Jack took a job teaching at a private school in San Francisco and the Hawaiian bound crates were unpacked in San Francisco quarters. A year later they moved to Marin when Jack took a civilian job with the Navy. Two years ago they moved to their present Fairfax home.

IT WAS CHRISTMAS, 1953, that Jack gave Amy a do-it-yourself jewelry kit, "because she loved jewelry and liked to work with her hands." The kit found itself in good hands and it is still a part of her Fairfax studio.

The "studio" is a tiny room just off the kitchen, and her most comfortable working surface is an ironing board. The room is banked with agate and amethyst, garnets, opals and apache tears, loops of gold and silver wire, kilns and torches, chains and findings. It's an exciting little room, and more fascinating still are the pieces of finished jewelry that leave it.

Copper enameling was the first step in development of her art. Research into copper techniques sparked an interest in gems and their setting. Since some of the gems were not complimented by the color of copper, she went into silver work and studied at the College of Marin under instructor Franz Bergman.

By 1955 she had attracted

JEWELRY-MAKING has become a family hobby and enterprise with the John Grants of Fairfax. Wife Amy has been known for a number of years for the striking design and fine craftsmanship of her exciting pieces of custom-made jewelry. Now husband John or Jack has taken up ceramic jewelry as an added hobby.

Amy Grant Enjoys Her Work, And The Contacts She Makes

the attention of other Marin artists. It was the late Henry Malcheski who insisted that she take a booth at the Sausalito Art Fair that year. So with a display of bracelets, necklaces, earrings, cuff links, rings, tie bars and equipment for an art-in-action exhibit, Amy Grant made her debut.

The wonderful response from her first fair prompted Amy to take her jewelry to other Bay Area exhibits. While the hours involved in setting up and maintaining a booth are long, this personal contact with the people who would buy her work proved to be satisfying and stimulating. All the hours of designing, ordering supplies and the actual working time were well repaid — not in a monetary sense, for the craftsman's hourly wage is very low — but by the reactions of her patrons.

THE MARIN Society of Artists has provided Amy Grant and hundreds of others of their members the opportunity to discuss new techniques in art and the problems that confront the artist. Through this organization Amy has come to study oil and watercolor painting under Anton Dahl and Richard Yip. She sold her first painting only a few months ago.

It was inevitable that this Grant home could not long persist without stimulating others of talent. Jack Grant, who was long satisfied with his photographic hobby—one that developed into his profession, is adding a new ceramic jewelry line to Amy's displays, and is studying ceramics at the College of Marin.

The wide variety of jewelry by Amy Grant can next be seen at the Marin Society of Artists Christmas Sale, Monday through Dec. 18, at the Frances Young Gallery in the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. Hours of the show are Monday through Thursday, 2 to 4 in the afternoons; next Friday 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.; and next Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 18, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Paintings and crafts of all kinds suitable for Christmas gifts are to be featured at the sale.

Hundreds of items at this sale will be the expressions of people like Amy Grant, who found the need to create and developed it into a fine art.

The original handicrafts and art work will be features at popular prices with the greatest percentage of work priced under 15 dollars.

During the first four days of the sale the gallery will be attended by a staff assisting Mae Ralston, chairman of the Christmas Sale. During the Friday, Saturday and Sunday hours the artists and craftsmen who created the articles will be on hand to make their own sales.

PORTRAIT artists Lucienne Bloch, Mary Rowley and Elizabeth Vreeland will be available for appointments during the last three days of the show.

An informal atmosphere is always characteristic of this gallery event. "Mamma" Gravander will have Swedish cookies and glug or coffee for patrons and guests.

Among the artists whose work will be featured are potters Bernice Brown, Evelyn Eoksuzian, Margaret Kintner, Eva Kamp, Gertrude Mueller, Ed Cadogan and Mary Plunkett; painters, Sonia Bermingham, Barbara Melichar, Winifred Koch, Louis Dessauer, Louise and John Bowman, Warren Brandon, Gay Fahrner, Barbara Carpenter, Viking Leon, Inez Martini and Very Borzy; weavers, Marianna Rauschnabel, Gerd Jakob, Gladys Fossey and Lois Purdom; jewelers Amy Grant, Alice Shannon and Beth Matajack; leather goods by Norma Sodaro and Mabel Moxom; Christmas cards by Carla Flood, and mosaics by Ruth Alexander and Nellie Rucker.

The Marin Society of Artists Christmas Sale will be only one of the special events at the Marin Art and Garden Center during the next week. The Decorators Guild will also hold its annual Greens Sale next weekend.

AMY GRANT JOINED several other Marin Society of Artists leaders that met at the home of Mrs. Arthur W. Ralston of Fairfax, chairman of the organization's annual Christmas Sale, to make plans for the event. Admiring some of the original Christmas cards which will be offered for sale are Mrs. Grant, Miss Leslie Ezekiel of Larkspur, Mrs. Carla Flood of Larkspur, and Mrs. Vera Harlan of Sausalito.

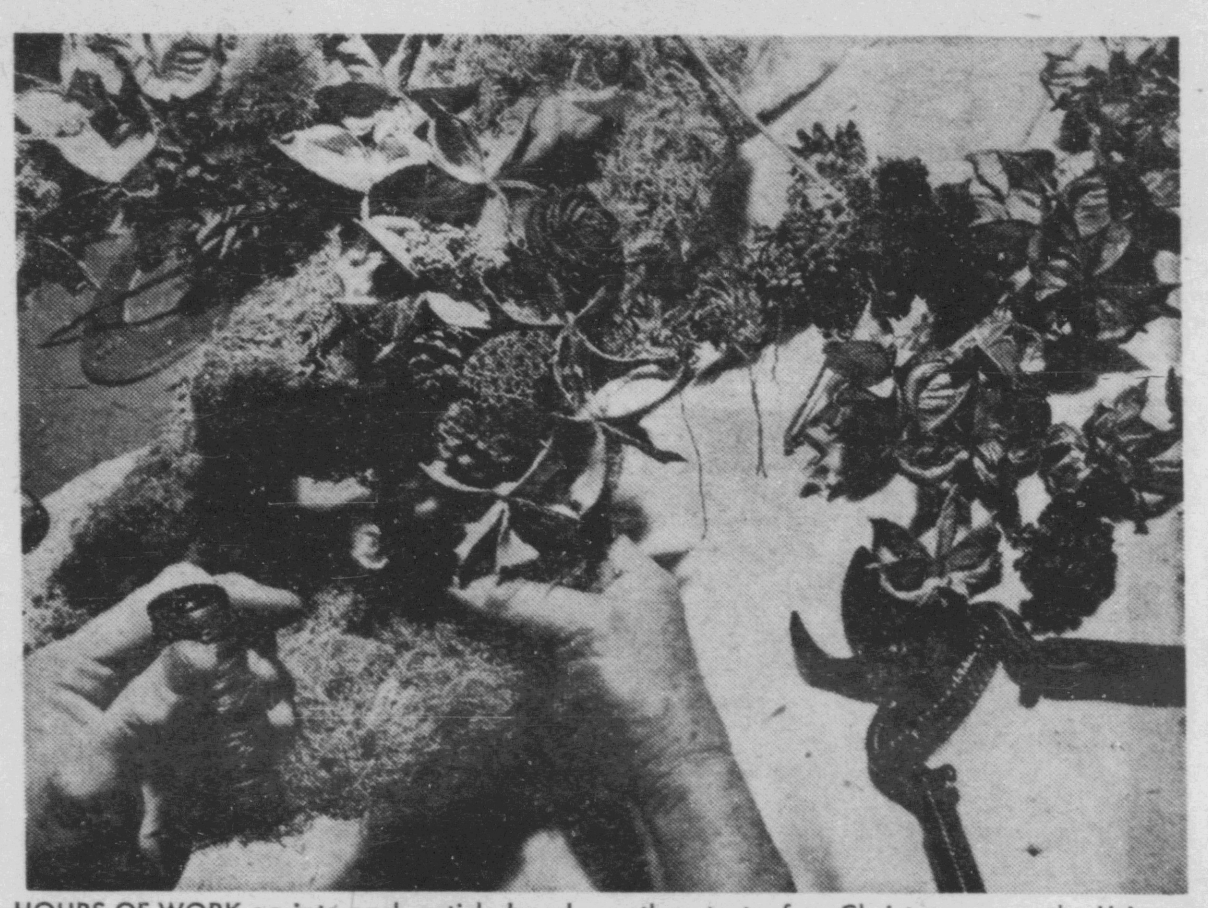
DRIED MATERIALS such as these — the oak calyx, buckeye balls, tanbark oak husks, deodora cones and cotton pods — would generally be wasted. But they are salvaged by members of the Decorations Guild who then use their creativity to fashion imaginative decorations that are especially popular during the holiday season. (Independent-Journal photos)



HOURS OF WORK go into each article hand made by members of the Decorations Guild. Here Mrs. Robert L. Tuckey demonstrates the start of a Christmas wreath. Using a wire frame, she painstakingly fastens to it cones, pods and dried plants in an imaginative pattern.

Christmas Greenery Adds Holiday Gaiety In Homes Of Marin

Objectives of the Decorations Guild, one of the most active groups at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, are to help support the center, "to stimulate the creation of objects of beauty . . . to promote and encourage skill, and to exalt hand work."

To this should be added: "To help conserve nature's materials which might otherwise go to waste."

Members of the guild do just that. They salvage literally hundreds of materials from California's forests, fields and home gardens, and use them for making "objects of beauty."

Cones from the mountains, palm fronds and stalks from the desert, seed pods, grasses and dried plants from everywhere go into the stock of raw materials at the Decorations Guild Building. With these the guild's volunteer members create decorative articles which they sell to help support the center.

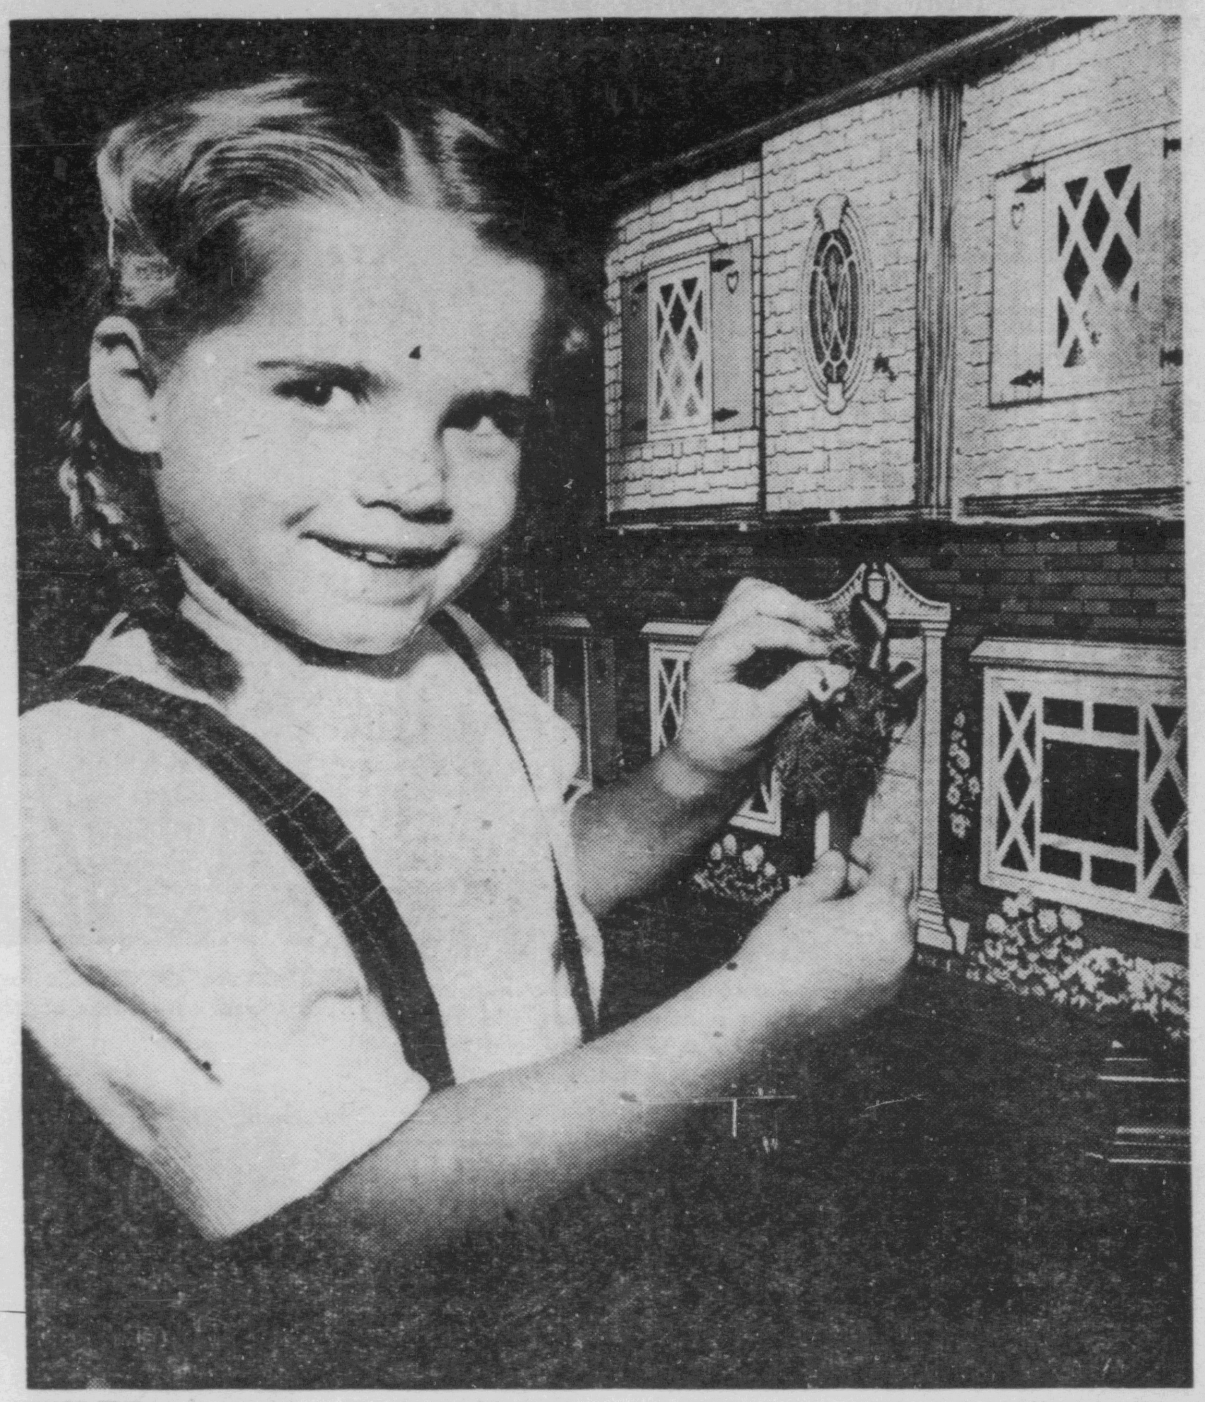
The guild has a year-round program of work and classes, but its most intensified efforts are directed toward a holiday sales program. This has become not only a major source of financial help for the center, but one of the biggest events of its kind in the entire Bay Area.

In December, work with permanent dried materials takes a temporary back seat as guild members turn their attention to fresh materials. Here again they work in the field of conservation, as they solicit evergreen cuttings from Marin residents and make them into the traditional fresh wreaths, garlands and swags for holiday-time decorating.

The guild's annual Christmas Greens Sale is on the calendar for next weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A public preview party, complete with music and free hot punch, is scheduled for 6 to 10 p.m. on Friday. Hours on Saturday and Sunday will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Christmas Cupboard, featuring homemade holiday foods, will be held at the same time under the sponsorship of the Pixie Parents, another center affiliate.

Also on next weekend's calendar at the center is the annual Christmas Sale sponsored by the Marin Society of Artists, to be held in the Frances Young Gallery. And the Northgate Group's Antique Shop will be open.



"JUST THE right size," says 4-year-old Dana Krohn, our little cover girl, as she tries a tiny Christmas wreath on the door of her doll house. Actually a lapel decoration, Dana's wreath is the smallest made by the Decorations Guild at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. Wreaths for "grown up" houses are far bigger.

THIS IS TONY Hartmann of Corte Madera, who like any other 3-year-old enjoys wearing a cowboy hat. But Tony is no ordinary child. He has muscular distrophy, a disease which lays waste to the voluntary muscle tissue of the body.

BECAUSE OF THE ravages of the dreaded disease which has attacked his small body, little Tony cannot run or even walk like most children. As his principal method of locomotion, he must depend upon crawling.

MARINITES JOIN BATTLE AGAINST DREAD DISEASE

Last Sunday volunteer marchers went house to house throughout the county to collect funds to finance the search for a cure for dreaded muscular dystrophy.

Marin householders donated generously.

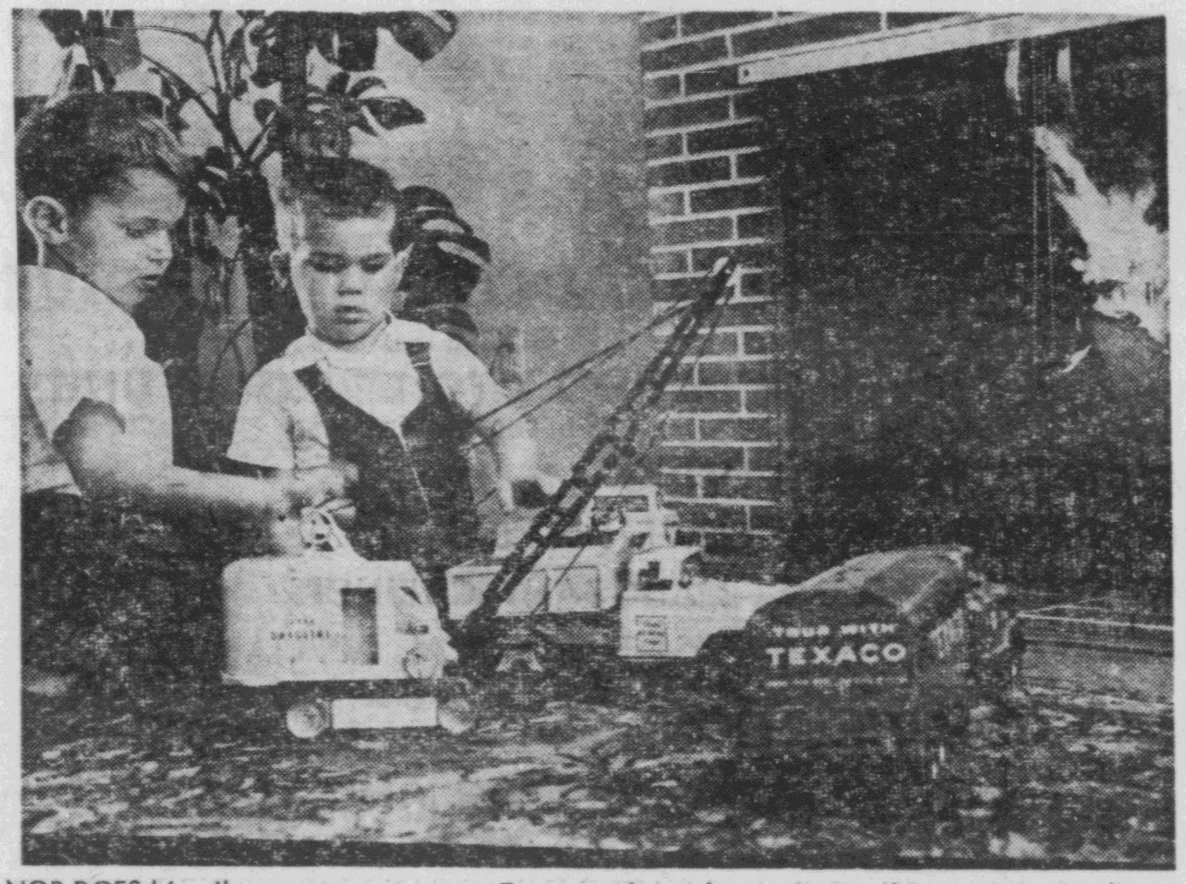
But at many homes the occupants were absent. And at these homes the marchers left behind addressed "sorry I missed you" envelopes for the householders to use in mailing in their contributions.

Today the Marin Muscular Dystrophy Chapter reminds you that, if you are among those who have not yet returned your envelope and contribution, your money is sorely needed by the Institute of Muscle Disease and its worldwide program against human suffering.

If volunteers failed to visit your house and you have no addressed envelope, you can still do your part. Just mail your donation to Marin County Chapter, Muscular Dystrophy, Box 604, Kentfield.

Little Tony Hartmann and many others like him will thank you.

DESPITE HIS HANDICAP, little Tony is a courageous and independent youngster. It is a difficult feat for him to feed himself, and his mother, Mrs. Hans Hartmann of 472 Corte Madera Avenue, sometimes has to help him a bit. But Tony prefers to feed himself.



NOR DOES his ailment prevent young Tony from being a happy child. He and his 5-year-old brother, Hans, are buddies. And here they enjoy a play session together in the Hartmann living room with a toy dragline and toy trucks.

TONY HAS THE advantage of a loving and caring family. His mother holds Tony on her lap while she reads to him, his brother Hans, and his sister, Margaret, 6. What Tony does not have is a weapon to cure his disease. That is what the Institute of Muscle Disease is seeking. And what the current Muscular Dystrophy Fund drive is all about. BOOK REVIEWS

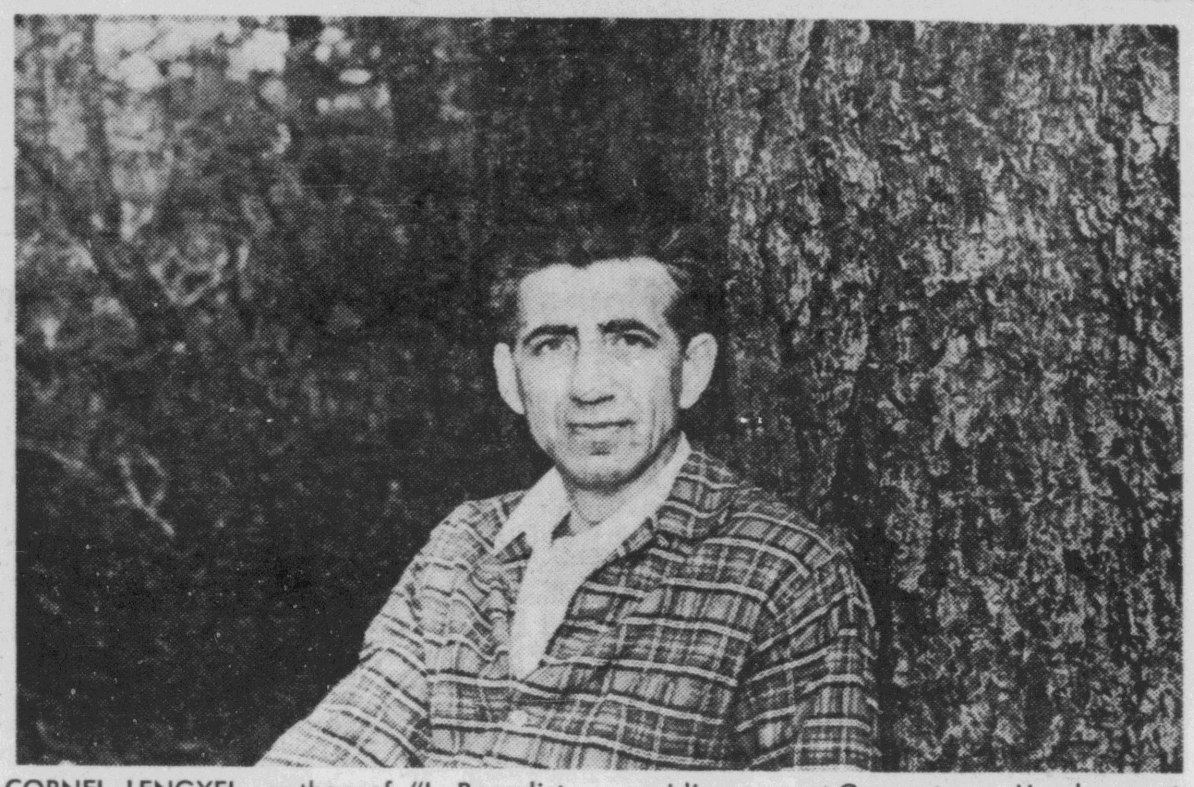
Story Of A Traitor Carries Its Warning



CORNEL LENGYEL, author of "I, Benedict Arnold," dealing with this country's most infamous case of treason, is a Californian, residing now at Georgetown. He also wrote "Four Days in July," the story of the Declaration of Independence.

I, BENEDICT ARNOLD, by Cornel Lengyel, Doubleday and Co., 214 pages, $3.95. Reviewed by Bryce W. Anderson.

The downward course of Benedict Arnold from being the first great hero of the American Revolution to becoming its greatest villain is made understandable — and highly readable — in "I, Benedict Arnold."

Author Cornel Lengyel, a Californian by adoption who lives on a homestead in El Dorado National Forest, has given his volume the sub-title, "The Anatomy of Treason."

It is, indeed, the anatomy of Arnold's treason. And running through it is the thread to be found in other famous —and infamous—lives: The same perversion of nationalism linked to a conscienceless hunger for power that made a French corporal the Emperor Napoleon and a German corporal the Reichsfueher Hitler; the same placing of self-interest above all that led Cesare Borgia to a kingdom and a dungeon cell, Ivar Krueger to a fabulous fortune and suicide.

The story takes Benedict Arnold from the height of his glory, when his horse fell atop him and broke his hip at Saratoga, to his death in England in 1801, a bitter, frustrated old man whose every scheme had been rejected—since the one scheme to deliver the fortress of West Point to His Brittanic Majesty's troops in September, 1780.

One is left with a little nagging wonder as to whether, if his injury had not incapacitated him for active field command, Arnold might not have gone on to greater glory as a leader of the American Revolution—glory, perhaps, to rival that of Washington himself? And if he had, might not the crown that Washington spurned have been placed upon Arnold's brow by the Tory schemers? The seed of treason was there in Arnold, coupled with the ability and the daring—the stuff that has made other heroes into despots from the earliest history to the present.

"I, Benedict Arnold" is worth reading for entertainment, for knowledge, for stimulation—and as a warning.

HENRY A. WALLACE. QUIXOTIC CRUSADE 1948 by Karl M. Schmidt, Syracuse University Press, 362 pages, $5.50. Reviewed by Don Keown.

Henry A. Wallace was, without question, one of the most controversial figures in American politics during the 1930s and 1940s.

There were those to whom he was a dangerous radical—a Communist dupe. There were others who regarded him as an impractical idealist or mystic. And there were still many others to whom he was an inspiring, courageous leader and humanitarian.

Professor Schmidt's book is more an account and analysis of the 1948 presidential campaign of the Progressive Party headed by Wallace than it is a biography of Wallace. And as such it presents a fascinating picture of a third party's struggles in this two-party country. But it also offers a sympathetic and enlightening picture of Wallace himself.

As Schmidt sees him, the two guiding principles of Wallace's political career were his complete devotion to Christian ideals and his steadfast dedication to the welfare of the common man. Schmidt sees Wallace as an effective, stimulating ideological leader, but at the same time as a man with no ability for or interest in political organization.

The Progressive Party's campaign of 1948 was a dismal failure, Schmidt believes, largely because of the swing to the left of the Democratic Party as engineered by Harry S. Truman, which stole much of the thunder from Wallace's domestic programs; the belligerence of Russia at a time when the Progressive candidates were trying to convince this nation it could deal with the Soviets in the interest of peace; and the success of the opposition in linking the new party with the Communists.

On the latter point, Schmidt feels that while the Communists influenced the course and policies of the Progressive Party, they did not control it. The Communists' voice would have been smaller, he adds, if more anti-red liberals had responded to the third party call.

He also feels that despite its resounding defeat at the polls and its subsequent disintegration, the Progressive Party did leave a lasting imprint upon the American political picture.

Professor Schmidt's research is exhaustive and scholarly, his writing lively and interesting. An excellent book for those who like to look and probe inside politics and politicians.

LISTEN, YANKEE by C. Wright Mills, Ballantine Books Inc., 192 pages, 50 cents. Reviewed by Don Keown.

Most Americans are not afraid to hear "the other side" in any controversy. This, then, is the Cuban side of the current controversy between the U. S. and the Castro government.

Written by C. Wright Mills, author of "The Causes of World War Three," "Power Elite," "White Collar" and other books, it is in the language of a Cuban revolutionary. This Castro-ite asserts, in brief, that the Cuban revolution has been misrepresented to the people of the U.S., that Cuban resentment against the U.S. is based on real grievances, and that unless the U.S. awakens to its mistakes it will lose out in Latin America, Asia and Africa.

It is an angry, outspoken, admittedly biased assertion of the Cuban point-of-view. But all of us should be willing, even anxious, to learn more about what the people in control of this Caribbean country at our doorstep are thinking—and why.

While the review copy we read was a paperback issued by Ballantine, the book has also been published simultaneously in hardcover form by the McGraw-Hill Book Co.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Mr. Wizard, TV Favorite, Now Available In Books

BEGINNING SCIENCE WITH MR. WIZARD by Don Herbert and Hy Ruchlis, Doubleday and Co., two books, 32 pages each. Reviewed by Don Keown.

The first two of a scheduled four-book series, these deal with flying and heat. Those yet to come will be on water and light.

Herbert or Mr. Wizard is, of course, the star of the television show which has both entertained and enlightened children for the past decade, and which has won numerous TV honors. Co-author Ruchlis is a science teacher.

In these books the two attempt to answer the questions of curious youngsters in the 6 to 10-year-old age range. They succeed well.

Simple and convincing experiments which any child can perform in his own home without special equipment are outlined. And black and white line drawings by Mel Hunter are a further aid to the young readers.

If your child enjoyed the Mr. Wizard TV shows or if he is at all curious about the natural world about him, he will both enjoy and profit from the books of this series.

A need for recognition, the ego's favorite food
is an essential part of diet for my growing brood.
The simple fare they ask for—their special cup of tea
and one they never tire of is "Mama, look at me!"

I've heard it from a treetop, and lifting fearful eyes have seen it wear a show-off smile when caution
it defies.
It also speeds around the block—no hands for me to see
and the catching of a garden snake prompts, "Mama, look at me!"

Marking time on the board at the summer pool
are two knobby knees shivering over waters cool—
then a frog-like leap toward the distant sea
carries the air-borne words, "Mama, look at me!"

And the sheep I envisage for counting at night
are frightened away by this freckled-face sprite
as he gambol's o'er fences, coaxing tired eyes to see with a "Don't sleep yet, Mama—first look at me!"

Tips on Purchase and Home Care of Your Wardrobe

By Bert Brown, Marin Cleaners of San Rafael and Bel Aire—GL 4-4792
Member Textile Maintenance Committee University of California

"IS WEIGHTED SILK SERVICEABLE?"

A silk is termed "Weighted" when it has metallic weighting usually tin salts, or some adulterating material in the fabric. The Federal Trade Commission has ruled that silk fabrics that have more than 10% weighting (in black silk 15% is permitted) must be labeled and sold as weighted silk and the amount of the weighting must be on the label.

Of course a weighted silk is not as serviceable as a pure dye silk. The more weighting a silk has, the less serviceable it becomes. A weighted silk may split or crack with very little wear or when it is dry cleaned. Perspiration and sunlight weaken it quickly. Removal of spots and stains is more difficult than in pure dye silks because the spot removal agents may react on the weighting and damage the fabrics.

But all is not gloom surrounding weighted silks. They are, in most cases, less expensive than pure dye silks. Frequently they drape better than comparable construction of pure dye silk fabrics. Also, weighted silk can be dry cleaned, wet cleaned or laundered, depending on the dye, the weighting and general construction.

In the case of "Silk," "Pure Dye Silk" or "All Silk" the Federal Trade Commission has ruled that these fabrics must not contain any weighting materials. Look for labels when selecting your silk fabrics. Weighted silks should so state. Both weighted and pure dye silks have their places in your wardrobe, and next week we will discuss "Pure Dye Silks."

THIS TALL VASE, 19½ inches high, stoneware, dipped glaze, dark blue and black, won for Edwin A. Cadogan of Kentfield the 25 dollar Heath Ceramics Award in the current Association of San Francisco Potters exhibition at the M. H. de Young Museum in San Francisco. The exhibition will continue through Jan. 4.

Marin Well Represented At Pottery Show In S.F.

The Marin influence is apparent at the current Association of San Francisco Potters juried exhibition of pottery and sculpture at San Francisco's M. H. de Young Museum.

Twelve of the 46 association members whose work was accepted for display are Marinites.

And perhaps the most influential single exhibitor of the lot is Edwin Cadogan, head of the art department of the College of Marin in Kentfield. His tall dip glazed blue and white stoneware vase won the 25-dollar Heath Ceramics Purchase Award.

Furthermore, everyone of the 11 other Marin potters represented in the exhibition have at one time or another worked and studied under Cadogan at the Collegeof Marin.

A native of San Francisco, Cadogan graduated from the California School of Fine Arts and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from San Francisco State College and a Master in Fine Arts degree from the California College of Arts and Crafts.

He started working in ceramics in 1934 and now teaches both regular and adult classes at the College of Marin, as well as being the head of the art department. He has done much experimenting with local clays and minerals.

He has won many local and national awards including Syracuse, N.Y., National annuals and Pacific Coast annuals, the California State Fair, the Richmond Art Museum annual, the Scripps College, Claremont, internationals and the Marin Society of Artists.

He also teaches painting at the College of Marin and has had one-man shows in Paris, where he studied painting, in New York City and at Gumps Gallery in San Francisco.

Other Marin exhibitors at the pottery show include Mrs. Esther L. STEREO NOTES

Two Of The Brightest Choices In The Deluge Of Yule Records

By JOHN SUNIER

CAROLS FOR CHRISTMAS by EILEEN FARRELL — Columbia MS 6165 — and THE HOLLY AND THE IVY by MORMON TABERNACLE CHOIR—Col. MS 6192.

Here are two bright choices out of the annual deluge of Christmas records, graced with beautiful stereo sound.

Eileen Farrell can sing just about anything, from gutsy blues to Bach arias, and her voice is one of today's musical wonders. She brings her usual fine musicianship and enthusiasm to this program of carols in special arrangements with orchestra and chorus conducted by Luther Henderson. The arrangements are different without being over-arranged.

The 375-voice Mormon Tabernacle Choir conducted by Richard P. Condie assemble in stereophonic grandeur amidst the cavernous acoustics of the Salt Lake City Tabernacle for their program of Christmas Carols. Being a larger group than Mrs. Farrell-Reagan, (some may disagree on that point) they would seem to be more difficult to understand, especially in the unfamiliar selections among the carols. However, the stereo sound makes enunciation much clearer. It has long seemed to me that the most startling realism in stereo reproduction was achieved with choral groups.

Both fine albums are excellent gifts.

SOUZA—Frederick Fennell and Eastman Wind Ensemble — Mercury SR90264.

Even people who don't especially like marches will be thrilled by this stirring effort of Maestro Fennell and his superb ensemble.

This is the second volume of Sousa marches by the group, the first being "Marching Along," also in stereo on Mercury. That must have included the more popular marches, because most of the ones in this set are rather unfamiliar to me.

The stereo effect is such that you will be tempted to move aside to let the band march right out of your loudspeakers!

THE MUSIC OF BOB COOPER — Stereo Records S7012—Bob, senior regular with Howard Rumsey's Lighthouse All-Stars, recently appeared at San Francisco's Blackhawk with that group. Perhaps a goodly number of records are sold to persons who have just heard the particular performer in person. At least that's what happened to me with Bob Cooper.

His clean, neat and imaginative solos on tenor sax and oboe made me want to hear more, and this Stereo Record provides its.

Side one is taken up by "Jazz Theme and Four Variations," a ballad theme followed by four variations in various moods, derived from parts of the original theme. The sextet consists of Lighthouser Frank Rosolino on trombone, Victor Feldman, vibes; Lou Levy, piano; Max Bennett, bass, and Mel Lewis, drums. On the second, third and fourth variations, the sextet is augmented by three trumpets and a trombone. Each variation allows plenty of improvisatory space, but still the whole work hangs together beautifully.

Side two presents five jazz standards, including a standout version of "Frankie and Johnny," a nice treatment of "Day Dream," a favorite of Bob's wife, singer June Christy. My only complaint is not hearing at least one track with Bob's famous oboe, on which he really wails.

The two-channelling sound engineering is superb and the music will withstand repeated hearing.

A fine addition to a stereo library of West Coast jazz.

THIS ALBUM cover is from the second volume of Souza marches recorded by Frederick Fennell and the Eastman Wind Ensemble on the Mercury label.

THREE CONVICTS help smooth the road to romance for this young couple — James Menlove of San Anselmo and Catherine Mersereau of Belvedere — in the current Cove Player attraction, "My Three Angels." It is seen Friday and Saturday nights in the Tiburon Playhouse, starting at 8:30 p.m. A three weekend run ends next weekend. (Photo by Ken Reichard)

Wood Box Handy When Winds Howl

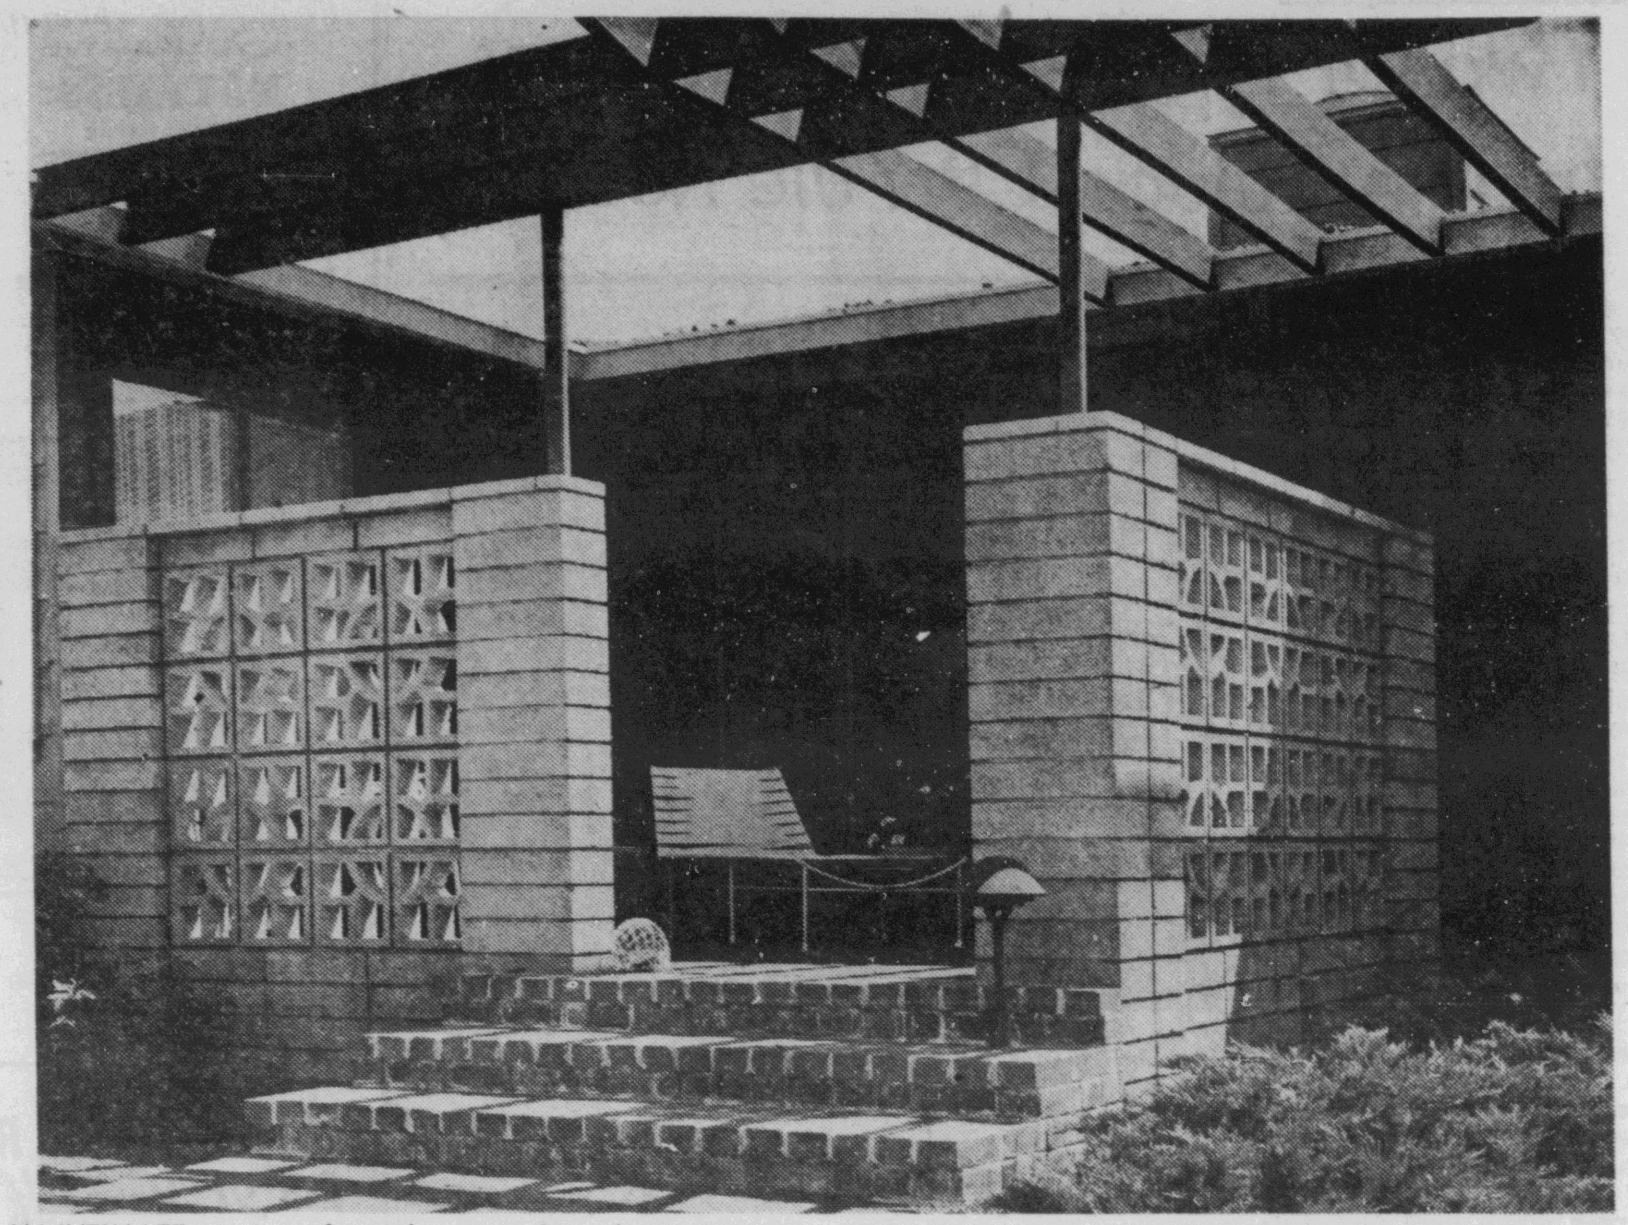
When winter winds howl and rain pelts against the windows, there's nothing like an open fire.

However, the man of the house usually resents (and rightly so) going to the cellar or the back yard for an armload of wood.

A rugged wood box can be built of rough-sawn lumber stained to match a rustic room. Or, you might prefer a smooth, painted surface. An interesting decorative idea is to stain the wood with color pigment to match or complement other colors in the room. The wood box may or may not have a top on it, as you like.

When selecting wood for the box, you will find the 10 western pine region species readily available at your retail lumber yard. These woods are easily shaped and worked, and may be finished to a wide variety of effects.

The Western Pine Assn. recommends using screws rather than nails in building the box. The screw heads may be inset and the holes filled with plastic wood. The result will be a sturdy, rugged box ready to add charm to your home . . . and pre-storm storage for your fireplace wood.



AN INTIMATE entrance from the street that also serves as a splendid winter sunning area (with western exposure), that's what landscape architect William Kapranos and landscape contractors Cagwin and Dorward provided at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hulme at 79 Summit Avenue in San Rafael. Marin Living

Kids Love A Living Yule Tree

There's no denying the charm of a "living Christmas tree."

Such ever-green, ever-fresh looks are not to be found in trees off a lot. And, of course, the "living Christmas tree" will stay fresh looking in your living room.

Kids love the idea of a real live tree—one that grows with them and shares their holiday seasons with them year after year. And you'll love having an attractive tubbed conifer to grace your outdoor living area during the other 11 months of the year.

Californians have long made use of "living Christmas trees" for outdoor use. Every year more people are discovering the joy of having them indoors, too. According to the California Assn. of Nurserymen, the Deodar Cedar has long been the favorite for hanging outside lights on. Its perfect, conical shape, lacy texture and full foliage have also put it among the top conifers for indoor use. It seems happy in a tub and will serve you well for several years when left in one. Foliage is light green with a silvery cast. Spruce hold heavy ornaments better.

In the spruce family, nurseries offer two lovely specimens for use indoors or out. Norway Spruce has been moving up the popularity scale as more people discover its merits—rich green foliage, full symmetrical form and short, trim "needles" which show off decorations to advantage. The other is Colorado Blue Spruce, whose fir-like foliage has a definite blue cast to it. Conical in shape, it is extremely full and attractive.

Of the Pines, Monterey Pine, and Japanese Black Pine start out slowly enough in life to be of use during the holidays. There is a certain rustic charm in their long needles that many people like, and the natural symmetry of young trees can be prolonged by growing them in containers. Plant them later in the garden and watch them grow to forest-size proportion. You get your money's worth for sure.

SOME DECEMBER SHORTS FOR MARIN GARDENERS

The mortality rate among Christmas gift plants is needlessly high. People get them, "ooh and ah" over them and expect them to take care of themselves. Don't forget that these same blooming specimens will live to bloom again and again if you take care of them. Plenty of water is the first need and can best be supplied if you occasionally sink the pot in a tub of water long enough for the root ball to soak through.

The call is out for holiday decor and you'll find plenty of answers at any nearby nursery lot. Pyracanthas are showy and colorful. Holley comes in myriad shapes and sizes. The native California Christmas Berry (Toyon) is one of the best not only in berry, but in foliage during the rest of the year. A trip through the nursery at this time will turn up others as well.

The deciduous Saucer Magnolias are one of the most colorful contributors to the garden in early spring. Their cups of bloom—usually white with varying degrees of purple—are borne in such profusion as to cover the tree or shrub entirely before the foliage arrives. Slow growing, they will fit into pocket-size situations in practically any garden.

EARLY ARRIVAL

The New Bareroot Roses Are Here, But Are You Ready?

Bareroot rose planting time is upon us in Marin.

The nurserymen tell us that the plants are arriving early this year.

And if you haven't already done so, then, they say, you should at once take a long, hard look at the roses you already grow. Are they performing as they should? Or has old age and/or neglect reduced them to only a fraction of their flower-producing capabilities? Are they the varieties you really want? Or would some of the newer roses be more to your liking?

Such decisions are yours and yours alone to make, but if uprooting a long-time resident of your garden is more than you can bear to do, your nearby nurseryman can lend you some moral support.

He reminds us that the rose is one of nature's most prolific flower-producing vehicles. It is not grown for foliage, but for the continuous weeks of color it offers us in spring, summer and fall. If a rose seems reluctant to produce this show, it is only natural to replace it. So harden your heart and pull. Then go shopping for new rose plants.

If your ground is poor, you should already be in the process of preparing planting holes for your new roses by working in liberal amounts of steer manure, some leaf mold and some bone meal.

If you are introducing roses into your garden for the first time, select a sunny site with enough room to accommodate rose bushes. While one rose may be better than none, several are a hundred times better than one.

Roses were meant for each other, and are far more effective when grown enmasse.

A CHECKLIST FOR MARIN GARDENERS

Here is the checklist for Marin Gardeners for the coming week:

- Deciduous fruit trees can be pruned now. Check with your nurseryman to find out which ones to prune and how much to prune them.
- Another planting of Ranunculus will keep the succession of bloom going longer next spring. Keep planting them through winter.
- The perennial vegetables — Artichoke, Asparagus and Rhubarb — can be planted this month and next. All three have some ornamental value.

ROOT FEEDING PEST
When insect damage occurs on leaves or twigs, it is fairly easy to find the responsible pest. Root-feeding insects are more difficult to detect.
The ground Mealybug—which sucks juices from the roots—is a common California example of the latter type. Control measures include Malathion or similar insecticides. For thorough inspection and estimate (no charge) call GL 3-3192.

Christmas To Make Itself Felt On Television During Coming Week

THE CHRISTMAS season will begin to make itself felt on television during the coming week.

One of the big holiday specials will be seen Friday at 8:30 p.m. on KRON-TV (Channel 4) when Patricia Neway, Brenda Lewis, Stephen Douglas and Jerome Hines star in Philip Bezanson's original opera, "The Golden Child." It has a California gold rush setting, a Christmas theme.

A holiday mood treat for the small ones will be a showing of the two-hour Judy Garland movie classic, "Wizard of Oz," over the CBS-TV network and KPIX-TV (Channel 5) tomorrow at 6 p.m. Richard Boone and his 7-year-old son, Peter, will act as hosts.

Adults will also have their funfest when the 90-minute TV version of Mary Chase's Pulitzer Prize-winning comedy, "Harvey," starring Art Carney, is repeated Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. on KPIX.

All will not be light and frothy, however. Recently TV showed us a stark documentary revealing the shameful plight of our migratory field workers.

Tonight KPIX will carry a report on another segment of the neglected—this time the 15 million refugees overseas. Actor Yul Brynner will narrate the film based on his recent visit to refugees in Europe and the Middle East in his role as special consultant to the United Nations high commissioner on refugees. It will be seen at 8:30 p.m.

Also tonight: A debate between Professors C. Wright Mills and Adolph A. Berle Jr. on U. S. Cuban and Latin American policy at 9:30 p.m. on KRON.

Sunday's best: An Omnibus report on New York's "Night People," 5 p.m., on KRON, and Nathaniel Hawthorne's masterful ghost story, "The House of the Seven Gables" with Shirley Temple, Agnes Moorehead, and Robert Culp, 7 p.m., also on Channel 4.

Monday at 9:30 p.m. Bob Hope will host Jimmy Durante in a battle of the noses, with pretty Polly Bergen refereeing: It will be seen on KRON. And again on KRON, Tuesday at 10 p.m., a one-hour adventure special, "O'Connor's Ocean," starring John Payne. It's a trial balloon for a possible series.

KQED's Tuesday night (8:30 p.m.) "Open End" program will be devoted to movie talk by a panel of writers, directors and producers. And Channel 9's Friday, 8:30 p.m., "Drama Festival" will repeat the BBC production of Maxim Gorsky's "Lower Depths" which was also seen this week.

And Wednesday's "Play of the Week" on KTVU-TV will be the Meade Roberts comedy, "Palm Tree in a Rose Garden," with Glenda Farrell and Barbara Baxley.

FOR THE SPORTS fans during the coming week:

For the second straight weekend this evening's Saturday night boxing bout will be a championship affair. Benny (Kid) Paret defends his welterweight title against Federico Thompson in a 15-round all-Latin American affair that will be seen at 7 p.m. on KGO-TV. And tonight's college basketball game, starting at 8 p.m. on KTVU-TV, will pit the St. Mary's Gaels against the California Golden Bears.

Two pro football games will be on TV tomorrow. KRON-TV will carry the Philadelphia Eagle-Pittsburgh Steeler clash starting at 11 a.m. And KPIX-TV (Channel 5) will air the Baltimore Colt-Los Angeles Ram tilt beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Next Saturday will be an even bigger football day. The bowl game season will get underway then as KRON-TV carries the Liberty Bowl contest between Pennsylvania State and the University of Oregon at 10 a.m., and KPIX covers the Bluebonnet Bowl tilt between Texas and Alabama universities beginning at 10:45 a.m. Then at 1:30 p.m. KPIX will shift to pro football and air the Green Bay Packer-Los Angeles Ram tussle.

ON THE MOVIE front this coming week:

KGO has scheduled a full week of Jimmy Stewart movies in its 11 p.m. time spot starting Monday.

Thursday at 3 p.m. KRON will show an Ingrid Bergman suspense film, "Fear." And an only average Bergman movie still ranks well above the best efforts of most of our other stars.

Other good bets: Tonight on KGO at 11 p.m., Ronald Colman in Charles Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities"; tomorrow at 1 p.m. on KGO, the Barrymores — John, Lionel and Ethel—in "Rasputin and the Empress"; Wednesday at 2 p.m. on KTVU, Paul Muni in "The Story of Louis Pasteuer"; and Friday at 11:15 p.m. on KPIX, Bing Crosby and Sir Cedric Hardwicke in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," a remake of the old Will Rogers classic.

LEE CROSBY, once with Marin's station KTIM, has joined the staff of KHIP-FM, San Francisco's 40,000 watt all-jazz radio station.

A specialist in traditional jazz, blues and American folk music, he is heard Monday through Saturday from 5 to 6 p.m., and on Sundays from 4 to 5 p.m.

Crosby is the founder and president of the Societe' Jazz Traditionale, an organization composed of several thousand devotees of Dixieland jazz.

Still another recent recruit at KHIP is John Sunier, the young Sausalitan who is an expert on just about everything stereo, and who writes record reviews for your Marin Magazine. He recently made the switch from another Bay Area station to rapidly-rising KHIP. Sunier now has a new program—"Sounds Different" from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

At KHIP Crosby and Sunier join the likes of Ralph Gleason and Jimmy Lyons and further strengthen a lively staff that has stolen the jazz limelight away from KJAZ which formerly held down that spot.

Premier Of Laos Flees, Big Battle For Capital Near

Anti-Red Forces Gathered For Siege Against Leftists

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A pitched battle for this southeast Asian capital started today after neutralists Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma fled the country, his hopes of a negotiated peace shattered.

The departure of the premier at dusk last night came shortly after two advance battalions of anti-Communist Gen. Phoumi Nosavan reached the outskirts of the city and began setting up siege artillery.

SAFE IN CAMBODIA

Souvanna arrived safely in Phnom Penh, Cambodia today. Six members of his Cabinet and several members of Parliament were reported to have flown there with him in five planes.

U.S. Embassy sources in Cambodia said preparations were being made to evacuate all of the several hundred male employes of the Vientiane Embassy, aid missions and other U.S. agencies. Women and children were evacuated last summer. The Vientiane Embassy was said to be awaiting instructions from Washington before starting the evacuation.

EXPECT BATTLE

Red-kerchifed paratroopers loyal to left-leaning Capt. Kong Le, who took over the capital in a surprise coup early yesterday, expected Phoumi's troops to storm the city at almost any hour.

Vientiane was under curfew. Streets were deserted except for an occasional jeepload of soldiers.

Phoumi's right-wing forces, estimated to total 2,000 men and backed by armor and artillery such as Laos has not seen in six years of intermittent warfare with pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels, began reaching the outskirts late Friday.

Religious Sect Riots In Seoul, 1,000 Arrested

SEOUL (UPI) — A mob of religious rioters smashed into the offices of Korea's largest newspaper here today, ransacked the premises and then battled 1,500 policemen in a club-swinging melee that left scores of persons injured.

Police, who battled with truncheons and tear gas, announced they had arrested 1,101 of the rioters, including more than 700 women. The wholesale arrests filled up almost every jail in the city's district police stations.

Police tonight issued a nationwide alert after learning that headquarters of the "Olive Tree" sect had wired all branch churches — with a membership of some 100,000 persons — to send reinforcements to renew the demonstrations.

Sen. Fulbright, Dillon Might Not Get Jobs

NEW YORK (UPI)—President-elect John F. Kennedy has all but ruled out Sen. J. William Fulbright, (D-Ark.), as secretary of state in his new administration, the New York Daily News reported today.

Quoting "highly informed sources" in a dispatch from Palm Beach, Fla., the News also said Kennedy has offered the secretary of treasury portfolio to Republican Under Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillion.

But Dillon said in a statement in Washington, D.C., that he has "not been offered a position" in the cabinet. He and Kennedy held a conference Thursday night.

A Dillon spokesman said they "discussed foreign trade policies, the balance of payments problem, the mutual security program, and the scheduled establishment next week in Paris of the new organization for economic cooperations and development."

Marin Gets Only Light Rainfall

A steady drizzle this morning gave Marin a light soaking that ranged from a fraction of an inch to almost a half inch of rain.

More of the same weather was forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

The weatherman predicted moderate to heavy rainfall throughout the state this weekend. There probably will be snow in the mountains from Yosemite northward. Snow is expected to the 5,000-foot altitude in the Sierras and 3,000-foot level in the Siskiyous.

About 11 o'clock this morning, Corte Madera had .38 inch of precipitation. Other spot checks showed .03 inch in San Anselmo at 11 a.m., .46 inch in Larkspur at noon, and .40 in San Rafael at noon.

California State Automobile Assn. and the Ski Tow Operators Assn., report good ski conditions, with no chains required on the major highways.

Driver Hurt, Gets Ride In His Ambulance

Vehicle Rolls Into Turrini As He Helps Boy

An ambulance driver joined his patient in the ambulance today when both were taken to San Rafael General Hospital after the ambulance rolled into the driver while he was helping the patient aboard.

Angelo Turrini, 46, of 11 Oakwood Drive, San Rafael, owner of United Ambulance Co., rolled his ambulance to the Rafael Theater shortly before noon in response to a call on an injured child.

The youngster, Wesley Cadra, 9, of 120-B Ross Street, San Rafael, was injured when pushed to the sidewalk by an unidentified boy while the two were standing in line at the box office.

According to San Rafael police, Turrini stepped out of the ambulance to assist the boy when the vehicle rolled backward, pinning his leg between its bumper and another car.

Rafael G. Dufficy, Marin County Physician, who happened to be passing, stepped into the breech and drove both driver and patient to the hospital.

Turrini was admitted to the hospital with cuts and bruises on his right leg. Wesley was sent home after having his right eyebrow stitched and dressed.

Oldest Pilot In U.S. Dies

PALO ALTO (AP)—Frank Coffyn, 82, last of the five original members of the Wright Brothers exhibition flying team and developer of many pioneer aids to aviation, died today.

He was the oldest pilot in the United States. In 1944, when he was 66 years old, he qualified for a helicopter license, No. 3. His airplane pilot's license was No. 26.

Oroville Wright taught Coffyn to fly, at Dayton, Ohio, in 1910. Three of the five original Wright team members were killed in air accidents in a year.

In the spring of 1912, after he left the Wrights, Coffyn took the first motion pictures from an aircraft. They were used as newsreels.

Later he helped develop an electric motion picture camera for use in airplanes.

He participate in making the first aluminum pontoons for aircraft, in 1914. In those years, he was free lancing in the New York area.

A successor to Mrs. Donnelly will be considered by the San Anselmo City Council at its regular meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

'Live Bomb' Truck Smashes House, Causes Power Failure

A "live bomb" in the form of a driverless, loaded butane truck yesterday afternoon careened down a steep Black Point hill, sheared off a power pole and crashed into a house in which there were three children.

The impact ripped the kitchen wall from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wescott at 131 Iolanthus Avenue.

The driver of the truck, Walter Santos of Petaluma, told California Highway Patrolmen he had stopped to deliver fuel to a house on Laurel Avenue and was placing a block in front of the wheels when the truck broke loose, knocking him down.

It traveled an estimated 70 yards, knocking down a power pole and transformer before crashing into the hillside home.

Wescott's son Wayne, 11, was in the kitchen at the time of the crash. Also in the house were their other two children, Vicky, 15, and Cindy, 11. Both parents were away. Wescott is a truck driver employed by Pacific Motor Transport.

Wescott said Santos' first act was to see to the safety of the children, then shut off all gas and electricity in the house. Santos then called the California Highway Patrol and his employer, Decarli Bros. Petaluma Butane.

Novato firemen blocked traffic from the area most of yesterday evening because of the danger of fire and explosion. The truck was drained of its load of about 250 gallons of fuel before it was removed this morning.

The area was blacked out for several hours before PG&E crews replaced the pole and transformer. Damage to the house was not estimated.

The children's grandfather, George Bruce of 105 Iolanthus Avenue, said Wayne and Cindy ran to his house and "borrowed two saw horses" which they used to set up a traffic blockade after hearing firemen talk of the danger of an explosion.

Asked if he was scared when the truck opened up the kitchen wall in front of him, Wayne said "I guess so—my knees were sure knocking."

JURY DEADLOCKED

Garety, Former Boss Battle To A Draw

Former Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich, in his new role as defense lawyer, and new Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety battled to a draw last night in their first jury trial encounter in Marin Municipal Court.

A jury, sitting before Judge Leonard A. Thomas, came out hopelessly deadlocked 9 to 3 for acquittal of San Francisco brewery worker Hans Joachim Kiepe, 51, accused of drunken driving. After two and one-half hours of deliberation, the jurors tossed in the towel.

Whether or not Kiepe will have to face a new trial depends on Garety.

Kiepe was arrested last Aug. 17 on the Sausalito lateral. A blood sample taken after his arrest showed an alcoholic content of .173, well above the .150, which is considered the borderline beyond which drivers should not be on the road.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Kiepe freely admitted he had six martinis before the arrest and conceded his blood alcohol content could well have been .173. However, he maintained that he had been brought up on beer since age 5 and had more tolerance to liquor than the average person. Therefore, he was not drunk.

Under Weissich's questioning, Kiepe said his grandfather started him off at 5 by taking him to beer gardens in his native Germany. He said the brewing company where he now works provides "beer breaks" instead of "coffee breaks."

"Is the brewery required to provide beer to its employees?" Weissich asked. "Yes, all we can drink," Kiepe told the amused jurors.

'Raid' Yields Cans, Bottles

They were having a great time in a shack at the end of Lisbon Street last night—until the San Rafael police arrived unexpectedly.

Three police officers were dispatched to investigate a noisy party in the area at 10:30 p.m. When they pulled up in front of the building 25 to 35 young people began to pour from the windows and doors, the police reported.

The shack emptied quickly and by the time the police got inside all they found was about 50 beer cans, wine bottles and assorted hard liquors.

Prison Fight Injures Inmate

A San Quentin Prison fight, with fists and a metal mop handle, sent one inmate to the hospital and another into isolation last night.

Charles William Conley, 29, who is serving a term for assault in Los Angeles, was "resting comfortably in satisfactory condition," today according to Howard McGarry, correctional counselor at the prison. Conley suffered head and arm injuries.

Kenneth Van Brunt, 22, the other half of the battle, received bruises on his shoulder. He is serving time for first degree robbery in Fresno. He was placed in isolation pending investigation by the disciplinary committee.

Cause of the fight is not known. Prison officials said the two men tore into each other about 10 p.m. They struggled over a pipe-like metal part of a mop handle, using that as a weapon.

Settlers Turn Algiers Into Battleground

Two Killed, 200 Injured As Tanks Patrol Streets

ALGIERS (UPI) — Rioting French settlers turned the heart of Algiers into a battlefield today and fought with Moslems and riot police in Oran in the second straight day of near-insurrection against the visit of President Charles De Gaulle.

At least two persons were killed, both Moslems, and an estimated 200 persons were injured in barrages of flaming Molotov cocktails, brickbats, paving blocks and chunks of roofing tile. A number of casualties were caused by tanks and armored cars grinding through the streets.

For the first time there were serious clashes between Europeans and Moslems. A mob of 2,000 Arabs smashed European car windows and threw stones at police in the Belcourt suburb of Algiers and battled in the gutters with whites in Oran.

HOLY WAR BANNERS

Some of the Moslems in both cities bore banners with the dread call for a "Jihad"—a holy war.

De Gaulle continued his tour, riding into Orleansville in western Algeria shortly after a wild clash in the center of the city between extremist settlers and Moslems who charged the European sector, burning stores and attacking whites.

The cry "vive de Gaulle" vied with the shout "de Gaulle to the gallows" across the length and breadth of the wartorn north African country.

De Gaulle visited the Cherchell Infantry School 80 miles west of Algiers where he pleaded for army support in his plan to create a semi-independent Algeria. He was greeted there by Moslem cheers and boos from European settlers.

De Gaulle told fledgling army officers "I am counting on the army, on its faith and discipline."

MARCH ON PALACE

In Algiers, French army tanks rumbled into action against thousands of anti-de Gaulle demonstrators who marched on the French governor's palace and erected new barricades to show their displeasure for de Gaulle and his Algerian program.

De Gaulle has proposed that the residents of Algeria vote in a referendum in January to determine their own future.

De Gaulle believes this method is the only way to end the six-year Moslem rebellion that has cost hundreds of thousands of lives and bled France with war costs of a billion dollars a year.

Police estimated that 10,000 to 15,000 rioters surged through the streets of Algiers today in the second day of protests against the man they fear will turn over the Algeria of their forefathers to the Moslems.

Senator-Elect Dies

CODY, Wyo. (AP)—U.S. Rep. and Sen.-elect Keith Thomson, 41, (R-Wyo.), died yesterday, apparently of a heart attack, at the home of a friend. Thomson, was first elected to Congress in 1954 and was elected to the U.S. Senate in the Nov. 8 election.

Fireman Routs Smoke From His Own House

When Victor Pizarro, one of the firemen on the San Rafael Fire Department, answered a call yesterday he was more than concerned. It was his own house!

The screen on top of his fireplace at his home at 15 Billou Street in San Rafael plugged up and sent smoke throughout his house, causing smoke damage to the curtains, lampshades, and walls.

His wife took their three children next door to the home of Donald Christensen, another fireman, and called the fire department.

Pizarro responded and chased the smoke out with a smoke ejector.

Mill Valleyan Hurt As Auto Rolls Over

Harry Brogioli, 23, of 218 Amicita Avenue, Mill Valley, was in "serious condition" at San Francisco Mission Emergency Hospital today from injuries suffered in a one-car accident on the San Francisco approach to Golden Gate Bridge.

California Highway Patrolmen said Brogioli was riding in a car driven by Guy Hopkins, 19, of 230 Diviso Street, Tiburon, at about 1:50 this morning when the car hit a guard rail and flipped. Hopkins received only bruises.

Hospital officials said the extent of Brogioli's injuries was not known, but he may have suffered a punctured lung.

The cause of the mishap was not known. Officers said the car apparently made a complete roll and righted itself.

Carolers Cheering Shut Ins Of County

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

And a caroling they will go, these hardy singers who for seven years have met to carry cheer to the shut-ins. Under the direction of Dr. Martin Griffin, who plays the guitar, 40 couples sing Christmas carols. They will meet on Sunday night, Dec. 18, at the Lucas Valley home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bellamy and go to the hospitals and to the new convalescent home at Terra Linda. Attire for the singers will be varied, but warm. Everything, from Beaver coats to Alaskan outfits, is appropriate. After the caroling is over the group will return to the Bellamys for a buffet supper.

CARRYING out a custom of many years, the Charles Rosenbaums are entertaining at a cocktail and buffet luncheon party on the afternoon of Christmas Day. They've invited many of their neighbors. The party is smaller this year as both daughters will only arrive home in time for the party. Leta is a San Francisco career girl. Carla will be visiting in San Fernando Valley with her University of California classmate, Judy Daniels, who will return with her for a week's visit.

THE NEWLY MARRIED Robert and Louise Gunn were honored at the cocktail party given by his brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Denicke of Ross, last Sunday. The couple first met when Louise was visiting her brother, Theodore Herbert of Greenbrae, last summer. The wedding took place in Huntington, Long Island in November. Among the wedding guests were the Alan Laidlaws, former Sausalitans, who were here for the party. Alan is with the State Department and he and his wife have just returned from Formosa. They are now in California for a vacation. Incidentally, the Donald Perrys, who were also guests at the party, are hosting a party for the Laidlaws on Dec. 22. Others at the wedding in Long Island were the Joseph S. Blacketts, formerly of Mill Valley, who live in New York City. Bob and Louise went to Nassau on their wedding trip and are now living in Sausalito.

THE COLLEGE SET will converge on the Ross home of the Edgar Lindners a week from today. Their son, Eric, a freshman at University of Oregon, is flying down the night before and will host a TV party and buffet luncheon on Saturday. His guests, many of them Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity brothers, will view the University of Oregon - Pennsylvania State University game being played in Pennsylvania. Oregon colors, gold and green, will be the decorations. A number of Eric's guests are remaining for a weekend in Marin.

Today the Lindners' daughters, Jane and Maudie are attending the children's Christmas party at the Woman's Athletic Club in San Francisco as the guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Adolph Lindner, who is resident of the club.

EVER SINCE the Frank Dettners moved into their home in Ross they have entertained at a Christmas party. Date for this year's informal event, at which the guests will enjoy cocktails and a smorgasbord, has been set for Dec. 22.

THE GREENBRAE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Wishard Brown will be the setting for their cocktail party tomorrow to which they've invited 40 couples.

THE CENTURY CLUB in San Francisco is holding its Christmas luncheon on Dec. 14 and Mrs. Frank Baumgarten will be hostess at one table. Her guests are mostly San Franciscans. She and Frank will remain in town to entertain that night at a dinner at the University Club.

A GLOGG PARTY will be hosted by Dr. and Mrs. James Green of Ross on Dec. 17. For those who do not know what Glogg (pronounced glue-g) is, Adelaide explains it is a Scandinavian holiday drink, served warm, with wine, sometimes stronger beverages as the base.

A HOLIDAY LUNCHEON will be given by Mrs. Willard Frier of Ross on Dec. 16. She will not be home for Christmas. She and Dr. Frier will spend it with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Norton (Sally Frier) and their two small children at their home at Lake Tahoe. Going north with the Friers will be their two other daughters, Sandra and Susan. Their son, Donald Frier and his wife, the former Dorothy Cooke, with their three children are living in Arlington, Va. while Don attends the Dental College of Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

FORMER MARINITES, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Diner entertained last Sunday in the lovely three-story home they are leasing on Russian Hill. The 'double' party was in honor of Leo's birthday, and the Diners' young granddaughter, Laurie Donohoe, celebrating her first birthday. Laurie presided at a sit-down supper, while the adults had a gay reunion and later enjoyed a buffet supper. Marin guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Day and their son Don; Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Kitchak and their children, Rusty and Tracy; Mr. and Mrs. John Dowling; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Diner; Mrs. James H. Donnelly and her children Frank and Sheila; Mrs. Geneva Rapuano, her daughter Sallee, and Miss Sharon Thomas. Mrs. Donnelly's older daughter Eileen attends St. Mary of the Wasatch in Salt Lake City, Utah and will fly to California next week to be home for the holidays.

San Francisco friends (all former Marinites) were Mr. and Mrs. Perry Lamson and their daughter Jocelyn; Miss Helen Grossman, Isabel Collins and her brother Dr. Frank Collins (visiting from New York) and Ralph Raymond. The hosts Yo and Leo, their sons J.P. and Christopher and their daughter Adrian, her husband John (Jed) Donohue and little Laurie completed the party. The Diners' oldest son Roy is with the U.S. Army Engineers for three years, presently stationed at Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri.

IT'S BECOME a tradition—the holiday party the Walter Bairds host. They've set the date for this one on Dec. 17. Sixty guests will enjoy the hospitality of their San Rafael home.

GLIMPSED AT THE Christmas party at the San Francisco Museum of Art Thursday night were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Welisch and the Thomas Stantons over from Belvedere. Incidentally, one of the most exciting displays was that put in by a Belvedere man, Everett Brown. It was a Christmas room for children with a puppet show going on. The antique chairs for the youngsters harmonized with the orange and white background. The American Institute of Decorators designed 12 Christmas settings, adaptable for home decorations. Prizes were also awarded for the most outstanding Christmas trees. Early arrivals had an opportunity to enjoy them. The museum was so jam packed later that it was impossible to see all the displays. Oh, yes, also seen at the party were Jules and Jody Becker, the Sanford Paganuccis and Charles Cains.

OVER BELVEDERE WAY there are many parties in the making. Tonight Dr. and Mrs. Benton Mathews are giving a cocktail party and buffet supper at their home on the Lagoon. Tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. Alex Tarics, who also reside on the Lagoon, will entertain at a dinner. In Sea Firth two parties are taking place tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Souza will serve hors d'oeuvres and potables. Dr. and Mrs. Frank J. Kelly will entertain at a cocktail and buffet supper party. Mrs. Stephen Nash, who resides in Belvedere, will give her Christmas tea party on Dec. 15.

MRS. WALTER S. HELLER of San Rafael with her champion Chesapeake, Nelgard's Baron, covered herself with glory at the recent National Amateur Retriever Trials and Baron, bless his golden heart, barely missed being champion. Mrs. Heller was the only woman left in the finals of the series. This is the second time she qualified a retriever for the national trials. This year's trials were held in the August A. Busch Memorial Wildlife Area in Weldon Spring, Mo. The 55 retrievers in the national had been weeded out from thousands in the lesser field trials during the spring and summer. Sports Illustrated in its Dec. 5 issue reporting on the championship trials devoted the greater part of two pages to Mrs. Heller. It says "That she is a woman makes her unique in retriever circles but Mrs. Heller considers it an advantage—with Chesapeakes anyway. 'To be responsive to the handler,' she says, 'the Chesapeake must be smothered with love and understanding, and few handlers have the time for that sort of thing." The article states: "In a field trial, which tests a dog's ability to recover birds he has seen fall as well as those he has not, the handler is 50 per cent of the team." Baron, as I have told you before has four gold teeth, which were put in because a previous owner had the others filed down. Sports Illustrated says "So excellently did the sweetly dispositioned Baron perform that he came within the skin of his expensive canines of winning the championship." Two pictures of Mrs. Heller with Baron accompany the article.

Eloise Heller, president of the American Chesapeake Club, in her letter in the official publication, told of the entrants in the trials and in conclusion said "When he (Baron) finished this trial he was the first Chesapeake to complete and Open National and he was in real contention to the end. On this happy note, Baron is retired." May he enjoy his retirement, which I doubt. But he is nine years old and suffers from arthritis so he is entitled to a real rest.

FASHIONABLE SKI enthusiasts were out in full force Monday night at Nancy and Allen Loeffler's cocktail-fashion soiree held at Zack's-by-the-Bay in Sausalito. Models included Mrs. Jack Wellisch, Mrs. William Donohoe, Mrs. Jack Himmelwright, Mrs. Blanche McKee, Mrs. Maury Saltzman of Marin; Mrs. Thayer Raggio of San Francisco; Mrs. Dwight Atherton and Mrs. Alfred Zuckerman of Stockton. Dr. Benton Mathews and Warren Finke joined the modeling corps as well as former Olympic ski star, Betsy Snite.

Seen in the crowd were the William Hoffmans, the G. M. Howards, the Walter Machettes, and Mr. and Mrs. William Winter. Fashions shown ranged from slim, taut stretch pants, dark and pale pastels for the ski slopes to the most elegant of brocades for the fireplace. Handsome packets and beautiful bulky sweaters were paired with ski pants for smart costumes to wear from Sugar Bowl to the Swiss Alps.

Marin Women

Terra Linda Nursery School To Hear Of Music For Young

Glen and Shirley Carlson, who own and operate the Creative Music School of San Rafael, will discuss "Music for the Young Child" with the parents of the Terra Linda Cooperative Nursery School on Monday night, Dec. 12. With their son, Minor aged 9, they will demonstrate through the use of folk songs and simple musical instruments like the auto-harp, banjo, recorder and guitar how children's enjoyment of music can be enriched through participation at an early age.

The Carlsons are well known in Marin County for their keen interest in music for children. At their Creative Music School for the past seven years they have offered private and group lessons in piano and guitar. They say group lessons stimulate interest in children and make the study of an instrument more fun. Mr. Carlson likes to incorporate some folk music for pleasure along with his classical instruction in guitar for children. Mrs. Carlson's piano pupils seem to enjoy the recital demonstrations as much as their parents because of the group lessons. Mrs. Carlson teaches piano for children from five years on.

Youths Convicted

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Two teenage youths were convicted of first-degree murder last Friday night, but a jury's recommendation for mercy spared them the death penalty.

The jury returned the guilty verdict against George H. Mitropoulos, Monterey, and Dale Johnson, Salt Lake City. Both are 15.

They were convicted of killing Gordon W. Bloxham, 18, a substitute night watchman at a suburban war surplus store Sept. 5.

Snowstorm Deaths

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A mighty snowstorm, already blamed for more than a dozen deaths, swung fresh punches today at a sector stretching from the central Rockies over much of the Southwest.

The icy storm isolated towns in several states, shattered communication lines, halted travel and knocked out power lines.

El Paso was buried in 6 to 8 inches of snow.

The storm slackened its fury in New Mexico and Arizona while dumping more than six inches at Canon City in south central Colorado since noon yesterday.

Big Fire In S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 4-alarm fire swept an industrial section near downtown San Francisco early today.

At least eight business establishments were gutted and five persons were injured, police said.

Nearly 200 spectators watched firemen bring leaping flames under control at a two-story wood frame and brick building at the corner of Third and Townsend streets, south of the city's business district.

A fireman suffered burns while rescuing a lone occupant in a small hotel. Cause of the fire was not known.

Sees Drug Overcharge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Druggists in California are overcharging consumers, says the state's consumer counsel.

Mrs. Helen Nelson told the State Assembly Interim Committee yesterday the markup on prescription drugs is 50 per cent. This compares, she said, with markups of 40 per cent on men's clothing, 34 per cent on furniture and hardware and 30 per cent on liquor.

Capsule Grab Due

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — The Discoverer XVIII satellite is scheduled to eject its 300-pound capsule containing radiation-testing and sky spy gear on its 48th trip around the earth late today. The Air Force said it would try to catch it.

Scissors Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 23-year-old mother of three daughters killed one of them with a pair of scissors in a fit of anger Friday night, police said.

Her mother, Joanne told police she was cutting another daughter's hair with a pair of 5-inch shears when Diane and Barbara, 5, began making noise.

"I became furious and threw the scissors down," she said. "I didn't realize what had happened until I heard crying."

By the time an ambulance arrived the child had bled to death.

Mrs. Guss was not charged.

Truman Predictions

CHICAGO (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman predicted today that Americans eventually will elect a Jew to the presidency and name a Negro vice president. "I'll probably be dead in 50 years when that happens, but I'd like to live to see it," Truman said.

Truman was here to accept the "Man of the Century" award at a dinner tonight.

They Will Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson intend to resign from the Senate shortly after the Electoral College makes their election as president and vice president official on Dec. 19. Shaw's Letters To Actress To Be In Book

NEW YORK (AP)—A collection of letters written by the late George Bernard Shaw to an American actress—known only to a few persons and hidden for years — will be made public next week.

In the 125 letters, most of them discovered in an old trunk in Rome.

The letters were written between 1921 and 1949 to Molly Tompkins, an American actress. She died this year.

Was there a romance?

"Who knows and who cares," answers Mrs. Tompkins' son, Peter, a Washington, D.C. author who discovered the letters during World War II when he was an officer serving in Italy. She had hidden the letters before fleeing Italy at the outbreak of the war.

The letters will be published in an illustrated volume, "To a Young Actress," with a foreword by Tompkins.

Guest Speaker

By PAUL MILLER

Marin Catholic and Tamalpais high schools—two aggressive and skillful clubs—will clash tonight to determine which will become the 1960 champions of the Marin County Athletic League's second annual Christmas Basketball Tournament.

An overflowing crowd at the San Rafael High gymnasium last night watched a precisioned Marin Catholic team down the less smooth, but hard fighting San Rafael Bulldogs 42 to 38 while,

Tamalpais, which had moved into the semi-finals with a "bye," whipped Novato 34 to 14 in a mundane contest. The Hornets will go against San Rafael in the early tilt of tonight's double-header to determine third place.

The tournament's defending champ, Redwood, saw the celler last night, and were locked in it by fifth place Sir Francis Drake High 38 to 21. The Pirates looked strong as they moved ahead of the Giants in the first quarter and maintained domination until the final buzzer.

Last night's lineup of teams was a result of Tuesday's contests in which Marin beat Redwood 42 to 36, and San Rafael dumped Sir Francis Drake 41 to 27.

In the semi-finals, Marin Wildcats' Jerry Smith and Ed O'Connell lead their spirited squad with efficient ball handling and well-run offensive patterns. Although the Bulldogs had a slight edge on the backboards in hard playing Randy Petrini and Rich Robertson, the 'Cats operated a lethel defense on the floor.

Offensive leaders for San Rafael were Rich Curry and Denny Hall, who scored highs of 10 points each. Equally effective on defensive play was Joaquin Horton, a 5-foot, 10-inch senior.

The lead went back and forth until the final period in which Marin doubled San Rafael's five points, most of which were chalked in the final minutes by the red and white squad.

Marin Coach Bernie Schneider pointed up Smith, O'Connell and Jim Soden as outstanding performers. He also mentioned reserve defenders John Enos and Jim Purtell for their backboard work and ball-blocking. Smith was high pointer of all last night's games with 17. O'Connell recorded 10 digits.

Bulldog coach Robert Muster felt that his boys fell by the wayside because "their shooting was off." San Rafael hit about 25 per cent of the time. Muster said the norm was 34 per cent.

"However, Marin is a real good ball club—some real little horses—a team to be reckoned with in this league," he said.

Tam Coach Ed Chavez drew mostly from his reserve corps in the second and third period against Novato. The latter club was 10 points behind at the end of the first quarter when Chavez jerked out his first stringers. He put them back into action for about two and a half minutes of the fourth period. They scored four quick buckets and were rebenched. Reserve Indians finalized the game with one more basket.

The best defensive action for the Hornets was by Lu Haas. Novato forwards Jim Sewell and Bob "Moe" Sparrow, as leading scorers, were held to two free throws and one basket apiece.

Norm Kreuter sparked the Indians, both as defenders and aggressors. The 6 foot, 1½ inch, All League football player tallied a high of eight points, and stole most of the night's rebounds. Forward Dennis Langhoff followed Kreuter with six points.

Novato suffered from ball handling mistakes which included some poor passing; and the number of the team's successful shots from the floor was also lean.

Drake Coach Carl Brown said his boys played their best game of the year against Redwood. The Giants opened up the tilt with a flurry of points, but in about two minutes lost the lead for the rest of the game. Redwood's bucketeers were Herb Schrieber and Rich Brear with six apiece.

Brown's boys were led by Ed Collins who put 10 digits on the board, and by gridiron All-Leaguer Mike Bresnan who scored eight points.

Tonight's contest between Novato and San Rafael begins at 7 o'clock, and between Marin and Tam, for the championship, at 8:30 o'clock.

All officers and team captains are urged to attend.

The women's assn. announced Greenbrae Lanes has been selected as site for its first county tournament.

On the distaff side, The Chateau team of the Nave Alley Kats League had Virginia Moorhead rolling a 476 and Dot Keaton of the same team had 462. The Modern Eves swept four games due largely to Rosemary Newirth's 475 and Lil Dennison's 460.

Chuck Bowen on the Galli's team in the men's Monday night Handicap league rolled an impressive 200-582, helping his team sweep four games from the Cox Tv'ers. Doc English for Ken's Alleycats had 205-577.

A COUPLE of outstanding performances highlighted the Splitniks women's league at Greenbrae this week.

Eloise Simpson turned in a sizzling 552 series on lines of 179, 176 and 197 and Sally Powers came up with a 507 on 157-189-161. Pat Lee fired high game of the day with a 207 which helped her to a 459 total.

Other leaders were Millie Burgess 471, Corina Bacigalupi 463, Dottie Rosso 461 and Jo Ahlers 460.

OVER IN Greenbrae's Coffee Cuppers League a 488 series by Lee Golsch moved her to the head of the class. Also on the league's honor roll were Sally Powers 465, Jean Molino 455, Jeanne Blumenfeld 450 and Val Berry with high game of 185.

GREENBRAE LANES featured a mother-daughter high scoring act this week in the Koch of California League.

Mrs. Joe Filippo led the women scorers with a fine 526 series while her daughter Shirley, Mrs. Richard Endy, turned in a creditable 452.

Saving face for the menfolk, however, was Herm Salkin whose 543 led all scorers.

Champ Paret Defends Title Against Slugger Thompson

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny "Kid" Paret, the boxer, puts his world welterweight title on the line for the first time tonight when he takes on Federico Thompson, the slugger, in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

This second clash between the fancy Dan from Cuba and the hard-punching Argentine is expected to draw some 7,000. It'll be nationally-televised (ABC) starting at 7 p.m. (PST).

The first time they met, last March 25 at the Garden, it was a 12-round draw. Paret then hadn't won the 147-pound crown.

In 116 fights, Thompson has a record of 100 victories, including 53 knockouts. He is unbeaten in his last 35 bouts. Paret's record is 37-7-3 with only nine knockouts.

Both have used former champion Don Jordan as a stepping stone. Thompson jumped among the contenders after eight years of obscurity with a fourth-round knockout of Jordan in a non-title fight last December.

Paret lifted the crown from Jordan last May 27. Since then, Paret has broken even in two non-title fights. He knocked out Sugar Hart in six rounds and lost a 10-rounder to Denny Moyer.

It's a pick 'em affair tonight with Paret's age (23) and fancy boxing expected to offset the punching of the 33-year-old Thompson. In the first fight, Paret appeared the stronger at the end. But Thompson claimed he was handicapped by having less than two weeks to train after arriving in New York.

Novato Wrestlers Score First Win

Novato High School's wrestling team chalked up its first victory of the season this week against Las Lomas High School of Walnut Creek.

Winning two matches each for Coach Ralph Cutler's Novatans were Bill Carrigan in the 95-pound division, George Vandyke (112), Walt Halkovich (120) and Doug Simpson (145).

Mariners Get First Cage Win Of Season

College of Marin Tars—as a unified and high-scoring quintet—scored their first basketball victory of the season by dumping Santa Rosa Junior College at Kentfield last night 72 to 66.

The Tars jumped into the lead in the first period, and at half time had a 40-34 advantage. Santa Rosa, strengthening itself in the second half, managed to close the gap twice, once by a point, and again in the final period when the Tars led 66 to 64. But in the final minute and 10 seconds of play Tar guard John Blomquist iced it after he was fouled and scored both his free throws. During the final five minutes, although they got a few buckets, Marin played control-ball.

All five first-string Tars were strong. Lynn Levie, a guard, led the quintet with 20 points. He was followed by guard Blumquist (17); forwards Ron Blum (16) and Ernie Bray (10), and Mike Rawitser, pseudo-center (5).

Coach Cal Riemcke, who uses a weave offensive pattern in which any player may function as a center, saw his strategy result in 47 per cent of the field goals being successful, and 79 per cent of the free throws going through the loop.

Rebound robbers Ron Blum and Blomquist played an intense defensive game. Blumquist held Santa Rosa's outstanding shooter, Al Baccala, to one free throw.

Coach Riemcke said his players "have been pleased with the way they continue to improve."

"This was the first time we had no real lapse in the game and played consistently. The fact that they played together as a team was exemplified in the individual scoring," added Riemcke.

The defending Golden Valley Conference Champions will battle the alumni tonight, and Contra Costa Junior College Monday. Both tilts will be at Kentfield at 8 p.m.

Hub American Legion To Initiate Members

San Anselmo Post 179, American Legion, will initiate new members and hold its Christmas party Monday night at the Legion Log Cabin at Sonoma Avenue and Los Angeles Boulevard, San Anselmo.

Ceremonies will be conducted by members of the 40 and 8 initiation team. The Christmas party will follow the initiation.

HECTIC NFL RACE

Pressure On Colts In L.A. Tomorrow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was no sign of panic, but the pressure was on the Baltimore Colts today on the eve of their important game with the Los Angeles Rams in L. A. Memorial Coliseum.

The Rams have nothing but personal satisfaction as an incentive to win this one. They have a 3-6-1 record for the season.

But Coach Weeb Ewbanks' defending National Football League champions headed into the fray with a 6-4 record of wins and losses — tied in the Western Division with the Green Bay Packers and the San Francisco 49ers.

The entire herd of Colts tuned in on the nationally televised contest at San Francisco today between the 49ers and the Packers.

Quarterback Johnny Unitas and mates have lost two straight games, to San Francisco and last week to the Detroit Lions.

The Colts suffered a similar two-game setback in 1958 and 1959 and still came on for title victories.

Ram General Manager Elroy Hirsch predicted 65,000 die-hard fans, most of whom died hard last week when the club was beaten 23-7 by the 49ers, would be on hand for the kick-off at 1:35 p.m. tomorrow.

Coach Bob Waterfield, who has shuffled the starting quarterback assignment all season among Bill Wade, Frank Ryan and Buddy Humphreys, decided to give Ryan the opening shot against the Colts.

BASS TO START

He also named Dick Bass to move into the backfield with Jon Arnett and fullback Joe Marconi.

Baltimore will depend upon Billy Pricer to fill in for the injured Alan Ameche at fullback.

The Colts are 7-point favorites to make up the half-game edge slated for the winner of today's Packers-49ers showdown.

In the event of a Green Bay-San Francisco tie, the Colts will have a chance to move a half-game in front by beating the Rams, then clinch their third straight Western title by whipping the 49ers next weekend. The Packers play at Los Angeles next week.

If the Packers, 49ers and Colts all go 1-1 for the two remaining games, the Chicago Bears (5-4-1) could take it all by beating the Browns at Cleveland tomorrow and the Lions at Detroit next week.

LIONS HOPEFUL

The Lions (5-5), by defeating the Dallas Cowboys (0-10-1) at home, then the Bears, could force a four-way tie with the current leaders in the event of that threeway 1-1 split and a Bear falldown. The Lions are 13-point favorites, the Bears 7-point underdogs.

A four-way Western tie would push the title game—now set for Philadelphia on Dec. 26—back to Jan. 8. The first alternate date is Jan. 1.

With the Philadelphia Eagles (9-1) already assured of the Eastern crown, the question is who will finish second, the New York Giants (5-3-2) or the Browns (6-3-1)?

The Eagles are two-point favorites to defeat the Pittsburgh Steelers (4-5-1) at Pittsburgh. The Eagles have won nine straight, including a 34-7 victory over the Steelers at Philadelphia.

The Browns and Giants are the only teams with a chance to finish second in the East and gain a spot in the NFL runner-up playoff at Miami Jan. 7 against the Western second-place team. They meet next week in New York.

The Giants are favored by 7 points at Washington over the Redskins (1-7-2).

Mrs. May Winner In Golf Tourney

Mrs. William May's 94 won low gross honors Thursday in the Marin Golf Club's guest day golf tournament.

Winners in handicap divisions for the 18-hole event:

Class C—Mrs. Gordon Wardlaw, 102-26—76; Mrs. Arthur Sears, 107-25—32; Mrs. A. E. Wilson, 110-25—85.

Class D—Tie Mrs. George Richardson, 115-31—84 and Mrs. Leo Ross, 116-32—84; Mrs. Fred Christians, 116-31—85.

UCLA-Syracuse Grid Game Slated In 1962

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Syracuse gridsters will meet UCLA in the Coliseum in 1962, the Bruins report.

The game Dec. 8 will wind up both teams' regular season in 1962. In their only previous meeting Syracuse defeated the Bruins here 35-8 in 1959.

HUMBOLDT SLIM FAVORITE IN PLAYOFF TILT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Lenoir Rhyne and Humboldt State College square off tonight in a Holiday Bowl football game.

Humboldt, slightly favored, has run up a string of 20 consecutive victories. The Californians would become the 1960 National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics champion by winning this one.

Lenoir Rhyne of Hickory, N.C., goes into the title game with 10 victories and one tie for the season.

Yachts Race Tomorrow In Bay Regatta

Providing the weather is favorable, the Corinthian Midwinter regatta, the third event in the series of five, could well attract a 200 boat fleet tomorrow. And by favorable weather the emphasis is more on a healthy supply of wind rather than sunshine and clear skies.

In the two previous regattas, the entry lists have been large despite pre-race conditions that promised little or no winds and many of the boats failed to reach the finish line. Yet these winter racing cats are all born optimists. They always come back, so maybe tomorrow will be their day.

The same procedures of past races will be followed: The first contingent will get the starting gun at 11:30 a.m. and will comprise yachts in the Acorn and Pacific classes. The balance of the fleet will start at five-minute intervals as follows: 11:35, T. I., Junior Clipper; 11:40, Fleur Bleue, Carinita; 11:45, Maya, Yankee, Folkboat; 11:50, 210, Buccaneer, Sea Horse; 11:55, Div. 14, Div. 15, Div. 17; 12 noon, Div. 9, Div. 10, Div. 11; 12:05, Windward, Hurricane; 12:10, Bear, Knarr; 12:15, Rhodes 33, Spaulding 33; 12:20. I. C., Farallones; 12:25, P.I.C., Bird, Golden Gate; 12:30, Cruising Club, "A", "B", "C".

Richard R. Brear of 14 Bretano Way, San Rafael, is among 40 selected high school students who will use part of the Christmas holiday season to attend the first industry-sponsored "engineering preview" at California State Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo.

DAVIS CUP TRIUMPH

MacKay Upsets Staggering Odds

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Fighting staggering odds, stout-hearted Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, won a five-set victory over Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli today and sent the United States into an imposing 2-0 lead in the Davis Cup interzone tennis finals.

Pietrangeli, who saw eight match points go up in smoke in a heart-breaking two-day marathon, left the court in tears after MacKay had hammered out an 8-6,3-6, 8-10, 8-6, 13-11 triumph.

The U.S. Davis Cup captain, David Freed, said he felt so sorry for the beaten Italian star that "I could not stand up and cheer. I wanted to cry with him."

The triumph which followed Earl Buchholz's victory over Orlando Sirola in the opening singles Friday puts the Americans within one point of clinching the spot in the challenge round. They could grab this point in the doubles which were postponed today because of the length of the MacKay-Pietrangeli match. Pietrangeli and Sirola will be favored over the St. Louis schoolboy pair of Buchholz and Chuck McKinley.

The final singles now postponed until Monday sends Buchholz against Pietrangeli in the first match and MacKay against Sirola in the final.

The winner of the best of the five match series qualifies to meet Australia in the challenge round starting Dec. 26.

MARINITE'S PAINTING

This is Tiburon artist Frank Milner's "And All Their Kings Shall Meet," one of 40 entries in a fine-art exhibit held this week in San Francisco during the assembly of the National Council of Churches. The Church World Service, which sponsored the display, announced its purpose was to ". . . visualize concern for human suffering, and to enlarge the meaning of Christian moral obligation to meet it."

Southern Baptist Mission Becomes Mill Valley Church

The Mill Valley Mission which was under the auspices of the Southern Baptist Church of Novato has become the First Southern Baptist Church of Mill Valley by a vote of the congregation in formal organizational services held last Sunday.

Fifteen months as a mission, the new church is led by Rev. R. Young Gerrard of Mill Valley and has a congregation of 59, reported Mrs. Elizabeth J. Marble, member.

Taking part in the services at the church, which meets in the Masonic Temple on Corte Madera Avenue, were Dr. Elmer L. Grey, interim pastor of the First Baptist Church of Novato who presided; Rev. T. J. Du Bose of Vallejo; William Porter of Novato; Rev. Wallace Hough, pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Rafael and congregation members.

The church began holding services in the Masonic Temple in July, 1959. Its program includes Sunday school classes and Baptist Training Unions for all ages; Woman's Missionary Union with missionary education groups for young people and children, and midweek prayer meeting.

Sunday services are at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The church sponsored vacation Bible schools last summer in Mill Valley and in Tamalpais Valley.

Japan Missionary To Speak In Novato

Missionary Pastor Harold Eimon of the Japanese Mission Field of the American Lutheran Church, will be guest pastor at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Novato tomorrow.

Rev. Eimon, on leave from Japan, will preach at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services, as well at give an informal presentation with visual aids at a family potluck dinner at the church at 6:30 p.m.

The missionary and his family are presently residing at the Presbyterian Mission House in Berkeley.

Rev. Eimon is a graduate of St. Olaf College and was in the same class as Pastor Ole Winter of Good Shepherd Lutheran.

Letter To President

In a letter to President-elect John F. Kennedy, Dr. John W. Behnken, president of the Lutheran Church's Missouri Synod, pledged the support of the 2,400,000-member church body with its prayers "as it ever does in its prayers for the President of our beloved country," reported the Lutheran Layman newspaper last week.

School For Alaskans

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — After 15 years of proposing, planning, fund-raising and building, the Methodist Church has opened its new Alaska Methodist University on the outskirts of Anchorage, with an enrollment of 150 students. President Dr. Fred P. McGinnis heads a faculty of 15 full-time professors and 11 part-time instructors.

Ministers Comment On Merger Proposal

In view of the dramatic proposal made this week at the assembly of the National Council of Churches in San Francisco that four major Protestant denominations merge, representative ministers in Marin County were asked to comment.

Pastors of the United Church of Christ, the Episcopal Church, the United Presbyterian Church and the Methodist Church in Marin were asked by the Independent-Journal whether or not they favored a merger, and why?

Three of the four preachers questioned approved of unification.

Rev. Edgar Nelson, pastor of the Methodist Church of Mill Valley expressed disfavor with formation of his denomination and any others under one authority.

ONE BIG BUNDLE

The problems that "face religion are not going to be solved by placing them in one great big bundle," he said.

"The so-called spirit of competition and 'good' rivalry aid, rather than injure, the cause of the Christian community. Different denominations form a set of checks and balances similar to those in our federal government," he declared.

The Methodist minister explained, however, that he did favor the past mergers of the segments of the Methodist Church within its own denominations because "we (Methodists) all come from the same theological stock."

FAVORS PRINCIPLE

Rev. D. Murray Hammond, dean of the Episcopal Convocation of Marin, and rector of the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley, said that without committing himself on "any particular plan" he favors the principle of unification as expressed by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia.

"While recognizing the fact that there are many differences that cannot be ignored in the four groups, each group does bring traditions of values and traditions of shortcomings," he said.

"I favor a merger because I feel that there is too much disunity—perhaps to say that disunity is a 'scandal' in view of the fact that we preach a 'oneness' in Jesus Christ," said the dean.

BROAD CHURCH

Rev. Hammond felt that "all sorts of responses" would be expressed by Episcopalians regarding a merger. He added that the Episcopal congregations within Marin County exemplify this broadness.

"I'm glad that the proposal was made," said Rev. Jack E. Biersdorf, pastor of the Fairfax Community Church which is a member of the United Church of Christ.

"If there is a union, much work must be done to preserve the strength of all the denominations' traditions, and to insure that there be a lasting and effective union," he said.

Rev. Biersdorf stated that the recent merger of the Congregational, Evangelical and Reformed Churches into the United Church of Christ has "shown that a vitality is created in unity, but that careful and extremely thorough work is necessary in the formation of a united church.

SHOULD NOT OBSCURE

"I feel that this rather sensational proposal by Dr. Blake should not obscure the steady effort in the area of unification through education in local churches by the Faith and Order Department of the NCC," said Rev. Biersdorf.

The Fairfax pastor declared that "organizational juggling" was not the important factor in a merger, but rather the "awareness and realization of a single mission by the Christian community because it is in Jesus Christ."

Rev. John C. Bonner, president of the Marin County Council of Churches, and pastor of the Community Presbyterian Church of San Geronimo stated he favored a merger, "principally because I feel that when groups unite to present a more composite front for christendom, this is always better than all the groups doing a lot of little jobs. It presents a better operating program and it is more in keeping with the ecumenical nature of the Christian church at large—the church should be united rather than divided."

Rev. Bonner felt also that the church could "use a more authoritative speaking voice to the non-Christian world. He said the theological differences within the Christian world could be "ironed out, when, from a Christian perspective, one looks at the Bible as signifying one faith, one Lord, and one Baptism."

Adventists Begin Caroling Tonight

Tonight and tomorrow night members of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Marin County will be caroling along with other Adventists throughout the United States for the church's annual "In-gathering for the Up-lifting of Humanity."

Rev. John H. Toppenberg announced that Marin members would be carolling periodically from now until Christmas, and that tonight and tomorrow's group will leave the Adventist Church at 75 Park Road in Fairfax at 6 o'clock.

Christmas Music

The chancel choir of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo tomorrow will present a Christmas Choral program at 4:30 p.m. entitled "Twilight Music," which will include a choral cantata, "Rejoice Beloved Christians," and a motet, "Open to Me the Gates of Justice."

The choir will be directed by Wilbur Russell and will be accompanied by violin and organ music.

Christian Scientists Hear Healing Lecture

A free public lecture on "How Christian Science Heals Fear," will be held at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Mill Valley at Lovell and Olive Streets Monday at 8 p.m.

Richard L. Glendon, currently on tour in the Bay Area as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak in the edifice. Glendon of Los Angeles, entered the full-time practice of Christian Science healing in 1934.

During World War II, he was a Christian Science wartime minister, and has served as moderator of several television programs of the series, "How Christian Science Heals."

Young Pair With Insanity In Families Should Take Problem To Psychiatrist

P.L. "There is insanity in my family and in my husband's. He and I have been well all of our lives. So have our children. However, our daughter wants to marry a boy whose mother is in a mental hospital. We're worried. Will their children by crazy?"

Reply. Mental ill health usually is the product of two factors, heredity and environment. Both factors are complex and hard to analyze. It's safe to say that the odds won't be as favorable for your daughter's children as they would be for youngsters born to families in which there has been no mental illness. However, the right care and upbringing could do much to protect them.

Have your girl and her fiance prepare family trees, showing where and when mental illness has appeared. Have them take them to a psychiatrist to discuss the possibilities. The odds may be better than you think.

Mrs. F.B. "My son was tested by a psychologist, who said he was highly gifted. However, he never has learned to work. He gets A grades, but idles his way through school. I want him to buckle down. He is in the eighth grade now. Is he unusual? How can I make him work?"

Reply. He is not unusual. Many highly gifted children loaf their way through school when their studies are geared to their more average classmates. Some schools now are setting up special programs for them. Talk with your boy's school counselor. Ask to have him programmed with the fastest pupils in the school.

Are there any accelerated, high speed classes? If so, ask to have him admitted. Set up a regular study routine at home and do your best to follow it. Encourage him to develop special hobbies. Many gifted idlers learn to work hard in this way. For further suggestions talk with the psychologist who tested him.

3 Pioneer Journalists Enter Hall Of Fame

Three pioneer journalists were added to the honor roll of California's Newspaper Hall of Fame last night at the annual banquet of the California Press Assn. in San Francisco.

Justus F. Craemer, chairman of the Independent-Journal's corporate board of directors, is president of the California Press Assn.

The three, all active in the 1880s, were the late Duncan McPherson of Santa Cruz, Henry Kuchel of Anaheim and William Pitt Bartlett.

McPherson, who came to California from New York in 1856, first owned the San Mateo Gazette starting in 1871. His most notable effort there was his advocacy of construction of the Dumbarton Bridge.

He acquired control of the Santa Cruz Sentinel in 1874, and the newspaper still is owned by the McPherson family. His grandson, Fred Jr., is present editor and publisher. The Hall of Fame honoree installed one of the first typesetting machines in the state, championed the building of a street car system in Santa Cruz, and was a leader in the conservation effort which saved the Big Basin redwoods as a state park.

On hand to acknowledge the award was Mrs. Fred McPherson Sr., daughter-in-law of the honoree and mother of the present Santa Cruz Sentinel editor and publisher.

Henry Kuchel, a native San Franciscan, acquired the Anaheim Gazette in 1887, although he was employed there as early as 1870. His outspoken newspaper was widely circulated to state and national leaders in politics, journalism and civic affairs.

His efforts are credited with the formation of Orange County in 1889. Although blind in later years, his influence increased; politicians, national figures and the famous came to visit his country editorial office.

Present last night to acknowledge the honor were Kuchel's widow, who took dictation for him during his blind years, and his two sons, U.S. Sen. Thomas Kuchel and Ted Kuchel, still associated with the Gazette in Anaheim, both of whom read extensively to their father when he was sightless.

William P. Bartlett was the founder of the Livermore Herald in 1877 in then-tiny Livermore. His influence through his newspaper is credited with saving the town from extinction during its trying first decade. He wrote two books on early California history. He was a staunch advocate of improving schools and after he sold the Livermore Herald and went to Porterville, his efforts there were recognized by naming a park and a junior high school after him.

Bartlett's election to the Hall of Fame was acknowledged by Maitland Henry, veteran publisher of the Livermore Herald.

Garage Damaged In Mill Valley Fire

Fire, believed to have started in a storage box beside a hot water heater, caused $6,000 damage to the home of Mrs. Bert Worthheimer yesterday noon in Mill Valley.

No one was home in the building at 426 East Blithedale Avenue when a neighbor saw smoke coming out of the garage and reported it to the fire department.

Fire went through an air duct from the garage where the fire started to the living room, burning the wall, mantlepiece, several pieces of furniture and rugs. There was smoke damage throughout the house and some water damage in a small apartment downstairs.

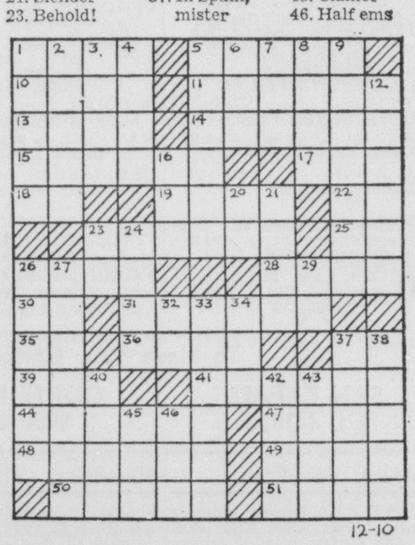
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

J W W Y S A Z M P K J B K M S K J — K A W J J.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: LIKE HUNGRY GUESTS, A SITTING AUDIENCE LOOKS—FARQUHAR.

Tiburon Families Patrons Of Art

Twenty prominent families on the Tiburon peninsula have become Patrons of the Arts by their support of the Cove Players little theater group, according to president Arny Schultz.

For their financial support of the group, the families receive two tickets to each of the three plays staged in the theater season and their names listed on the programs; Schultz said.

Financial support is necessary because of the $1,500 fixed cost for use of the Tiburon Playhouse theater and the $3,000 annual production costs, Schultz pointed out.

Police Warn New Orleans Lawbreakers

Governor Urges Segregationists To 'Stand Fast'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Police Chief Joseph I. Giarrusso warned today that he will crack down on lawless acts in the wake of harrassment and threats to white parents who ran a segregationists blockade to put their children in a desegregated school.

Despite the protection of U.S. marshals who escorted the whites to the William Frantz School, the parents continued to receive telephone threats throughout the night. The threats also were levelled at persons who helped the parents get their children to the school.

"FAIR WARNING"

Giarrusso issued a "fair warning to all of our citizens, no matter what their sentiments are, that I am not going to tolerate open lawlessness."

Gov. Jimmie Davis, in a statewide telecast, pledged the state would "avoid violence in its efforts to maintain state sovereignty," but urged segregationists to "stand fast" and not "break ranks."

Davis said he would continue "vigorous and legal denial of federal authority to interfere with the operations of the federal schools.

ASKS INVESTIGATION

In Shreveport, in North Louisiana, the Louisiana Assn. of Citizens Councils called for an investigation of persons who have helped white parents slip their children through stone-throwing crowds who tried to blockade the streets around Frantz.

The association's president, Charles Barnett, suggested "subversives" were among those who supplied cars to the blockade-running effort.

Recreation Programs End For Yule

Recreation programs at eight school playgrounds in San Rafael ended yesterday with the beginning of the San Rafael Park and Recreation Department's Christmas vacation program.

Albert Park will be the only supervised play area until Jan. 3. It will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. everyday except Christmas and New Year's Day.

Included in the vacation program is a production of "Christmas Around the World" to be presented on Dec. 21, at 8 p.m. in the E Street School auditorium.

Featured will be the tableaux by children from six San Rafael elementary schools depicting songs and traditions of Germany, France, England, China, Italy and the United States. Also on the program are the San Rafael Recreation Chorale under direction of Byron Jones and a guest choir from Trinity Lutheran Church of San Rafael under direction of Mrs. Lloyd W. Casselman.

Free tickets are available at the Recreation Department office at Albert Field between 9 a.m. and noon every day. Seating is limited.

Beginning Dec. 17, the sports program at Albert Park will emphasize archery instructions for youngsters eight to 14 years old and basketball contests for boys nine to 14.

Archery instruction will be held from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Dec. 19, 21, 26 and 28. Recreattion officials warned that only a limited amount of equipment is available.

Basketball playdays will be held on Dec. 20 and 22. There will be contests and awards.

Other games being sponsored during the vacation program include four-square, kickball and football.

Defected Red Sailor Sees Disneyland

ANAHEIM (UPI) — A Soviet sailor who defected to the United States from Nikita Khrushchev's ship, has accomplished what the Russian leader could not— a red carpet visit to Disneyland.

Viktor Jaanimets, 29, escaped from the Soviet liner Baltika in New York last October because, he said, his travels had shown him what the free world was really like.

After a Los Angeles press conference yesterday, he did what most visitors to Southern California get around to doing sooner or later—took a trip to the world-famed amusement park.

Khrushchev, however, did not go during his visit here in September, 1959. Almost every week since he has bemoaned the fact, saying that he wasn't permitted to do so.

As early as the day following his departure for San Francisco, the Soviet premier expressed disappointment for "not getting closer to the American people and visiting Disneyland."

Manufacturer Files For Incorporation

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan announced L. J. Elkin Co., Inc., a Marin County company representing food manufacturers, has filed articles of incorporation with his office, to be capitalized at $25,000 in $100 par shares.

Directors of the company were listed as Jean Elkin, 1955 Center Road, Novato; Robert Hodgkinson, 770 Austin Avenue, Sonoma, and Ramona Stansfield of Daly City.

Tiburon Chamber To Elect Officers At Lunch Tuesday

The Tiburon Chamber of Commerce will elect officers for 1961 at its noon luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Anchor Cafe on Tiburon's Main Street.

The nominating committee's slate of officers presented at the last meeting is: president, William S. Johnstone; vice president, Mrs. Elva Paske; secretary, Fred C. Hannahs; treasurer, Howard J. Langford. Running for two-year directorships are current president Robert A. Sterling, David Allen and George Bitter.

Nominating committee chairman Stuart Burt said nominations may be made from the floor at the meeting. Richard C. Less, Langford and Bitter served on the nominating committee.

Also on the agenda are committee reports on the year's activities and discussion of the children's movie Christmas program sponsored by the chamber, scheduled for Dec. 23.

Surgery Slated

Rev. Aloysius Sullivan, former parish administrator of Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato, is scheduled to undergo surgery Monday at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco. Father Sullivan entered the hospital about a week ago.

Two Promotions Announced By Marin Bank

Horace N. Corona today was named assistant manager of the Novato office of the First National Bank in San Rafael, replacing Glen E. Tovani, who was appointed manager of the bank's new Terra Linda office.

Replacing Corona in the Mill Valley office will be Fred H. Brylka.

Brylka has been with the First National since 1950 and has held posts in the San Rafael, San Anselmo and Petaluma offices. During 1952 and 1953 he served with the Army in Korea.

He is on the board of governors of the Marin chapter of the American Institute of Banking and is treasurer of the Marin Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Corona joined First National in 1952. He was chief clerk in the San Rafael office and assistant manager of the Mill Valley office. A veteran of the Air Force, he served in World War II.

He is a governing member of the Y.M.C.A., on the board of directors of the San Rafael Little League, president of the Marin chapter of the American Institute of Banking and a member of Lions Internatitonal.

Slay Charge Filed Against Former Barber

A murder charge was filed yesterday against Elwood Williams, San Rafael barber who allegedly shot his wife to death, then fired a bullet in his own chest in Woodland, Yolo County on Nov. 10.

The warrant will not be served, however, until Williams has sufficiently recovered from his self-inflicted wound, said Yolo County Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas Purtell.

Williams has undergone three operations since the shooting, Yolo General Hospital attendants said. They described his condition as "good" and said he was improving. The .22 caliber bullet entered a lung, hospital reports indicated.

The 29-year-old barber reportedly killed his wife, Holly Germaine, 27, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Jonellen Goddard of Woodland. He had followed his wife there to talk her out of divorce proceedings, police said.

Sewer Hookup Delays Granted

Time extension to Jan. 9 for making hookups to sewer lines of the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District was granted by the district board Thursday to 23 residents of the Golf Links Tract, annexed to the district last summer.

All connections were to have been made by Nov. 26 and more than 75 residents, three-quarters of those affected, did the necessary work in time, the board was told. Septic tanks had been in use previously.

Portola Gardens sanitary affairs have all been taken over by the district as result of annexation last summer, with funds turned in and obligations assumed, according to another report.

School Committee Meeting Monday

Larkspur School District's citizens advisory committee, organized last month, will hold its second meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in Larkspur-Corte Madera School, chairman Donald Fox of Larkspur announced.

A subcommittee to explore summer school matters will make its report. Other subcommittees on various school problems are still working.

Fox said anything the public wants to bring up will be discussed.

Group Asks $5.5 Million For Shelters

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The governor's shelter committee yesterday approved a $5.5 million building program to keep California's state and local governments operating in case of nuclear attack.

The approval came in a 10-point program covering all aspects of radiation shelters. The program now goes to Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who will decide whether to ask the legislature for necessary funds.

Allan K. Jonas, committee chairman and director of the California Disaster Office, said that the federal government would pay 50 per cent of the building costs. His group's program asked that "immediate steps be taken" to construct or remodel buildings into "emergency operation centers."

PROPOSED CONSTRUCTION

A $2 million addition to a proposed structure here would become the state's government center. Six other centers would be situated over the state for county and city governments in their regions.

The committee, composed of representatives from the departments of finance, public works and education, began studying shelters last September. It found that "the advantages of community type shelters appear far more numerous than those of family shelters."

LESS EXPENSIVE

It explained that community shelters were less expensive and made more equipment and skills available to their occupants.

The committee also asked for A state constitutional amendment exempting shelter construction from ad valorem taxes; and legislation to allow an accelerated depreciation of a shelter's value for state income tax purposes.

Federal government financing or guarantees for shelter construction costs.

State aid for shelter construction at six "pilot study" schools, if federal funds are not available.

Permission for residents of a given area to create a "shelter district" for community construction and maintenance of a shelter.

U.N. Forces Told To Shoot If Necessary

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Army strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu ignored an ultimatum for the release of ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba today and kept him in prison in Thysville hours after the expiration of the deadline.

The pro-Lumumba triumvirate ruling Stanleyville, Oriental province, threatened to arrest all whites in the province and start cutting off the heads of some of the Belgians unless Mobutu freed Lumumba.

The ultimatum's 48-hour deadline passed at 3 p.m. yesterday. Lumumba was still in army jail.

U.N. forces in Stanleyville were ordered to resist with bullets if necessary to protect the white population.

Consular officials from five Western embassies—the United states, British, French, Greek and Portuguese—flew to Stanleyville under U.N. protection. They will make arrangements for protection of their citizens and a possible mass airlift out of the province.

Stanleyville, 775 airline miles northeast of Leopoldville and capital of Oriental Province, is ruled by three men—Lumumba's former secretary, Bernard Salumu, Lumumba's brother, Louis, and Communist-leaning Antoine Gizenga, former Congo deputy premier.

U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold gave orders for the U.N. force of 1,800 Ethiopians in Stanleyville to use force if necessary to protect the 1,000 white Europeans in Stanleyville. Eighty per cent of the whites are Belgians. Two American missionaries are among the whites trapped in the isolated city.

Ex-Marin Student To Play Trumpet At Inauguration

Richard Simon, a former Redwood High School student, will attend the inauguration of President-Elect John K. Kennedy as a member of the prize-winning Capuchino High School band in San Bruno.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mort Simon, who recently moved to San Bruno from Marin. Richard attended Neil Cummins School where he received his music training. He transferred from Redwood to Capuchino High and joined the trumpet section of the marching band.

The band won first place in the Class B division in the all-western band competition at Long Beach. Roger Kent of Kentfield, Democratic Party state chairman, invited the band to represent California at the inauguration parade in Washington. Band members and parents are now conducting a campaign to raise the $40,000 necessary for the trip.

Daring Havana Stand: 'Cuba Yes, Russia No'

HAVANA (AP)—Trouble piled up today for Prime Minister Fidel Castro on the labor, church and military fronts with the issue of Communist infiltration of his regime playing a central role.

Shouts of "Cuba yes, Russia no" came from demonstrators in front of the presidential palace—and they got away with it.

BOLD ASSEMBLY

Anti-Communist leaders of the Electrical Workers Union took a bold and daring stand by boycotting a Communist-managed union general assembly, which voted to demand their ouster.

In Santa Clara, five Cuban men were sentenced to death by a firing squad for trying to hijack a Cuban airliner in flight over Cienfuegos Thursday night. They were thwarted when the pilot crashlanded. One woman defendant was sentenced to 30 years, another woman acquitted. One of the condemned men escaped in the landing and is still at large.

The palace demonstration was by members of the Electric Workers Union.

The union leaders' defiant refusal to bow to the Red-leaning Confederation of Cuban Workers (CTC), which demanded their ouster, could have troublesome repercussions for Castro in the labor sector—mostly docile up to now.

MARCH ON PALACE

Several hundred members of the union marched on the presidental palace last night, protesting what they called Communist infiltration of their union.

Led by their popular secretary-general, Amaury Fraginals, the shouting workers demanded an audience with Castro or President Osvaldo Dorticos.

The peaceful demonstration broke up quickly after a commission headed by Fraginals was admitted to the palace. But informants said the commission never got to see Dorticos, as promised, or even his secretary, Luis Buch.

The ouster movement against Fraginals was cloaked behind a CTC call for a union general assembly to condemn sabotage of Cuban Electric Company facilities, formerly U.S.-owned but now run by Castro's regime.

Bianchi Elected To Farm Position

Alfred J. Bianchi, Point Reyes rancher, has been elected chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Marin County Committeemen who will assist the secretary of agriculture in administering the 1961 agricultural stabilization program in Marin.

Others chosen are David B. Burbank, vice chairman; Tom Furlong Jr., regular member; Christian Baur, first alternate; Alfred Grossi, second alternate.

ELECTION PRANK

'Kennedy Quarters' Circulating

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strange red-and-silver quarters featuring George Washington dressed as a Roman Catholic cardinal are being widely circulated in some parts of the country—and there's no law against it.

The coins are known as "Kennedy quarters" and represent an elaborate post-election prank. They are named, of course, for Sen. John F. Kennedy who on Jan. 20 will become the first Roman Catholic to serve as president.

Mint officials said today the coins are standard 25-cent pieces doctored to disguise Washington as a prelate.

The doctoring is done in any of several ways. Some of the coins are painted with red enamel and some are dressed up with pieces of red plastic tape in appropriate shape.

The mint has no evidence that "Kennedy quarters" are being mass produced by any particular group or organization.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Don Jensen Has Done Fine Job For The County

Just five years ago next week, the Marin County Board of Supervisors, by a 4 to 1 vote, passed an ordinance setting up the office of county administrator, and started the search for a man to fill the job.

From some 120 applicants, Donald A. Jensen was selected to be the county's first administrator.

Frankly, we didn't give him much chance of lasting out a full year of service. We would have almost wagered he wouldn't last two years. There were too many things apparently going against him.

To begin with, he did not have the unanimous backing of his bosses, the supervisors. In addition to this there was unrest in the courthouse. A county-wide reappraisal of the entire county was underway, independent and over the protests of the county assessor. There was much talk about a county charter, one which might eliminate some of the department heads. Elective office holders were touchy about their prerogatives and department heads nervous about possible infringement upon their authority.

Into this situation Jensen was thrust. His job was to organize county government on a more efficient and effective basis, keep the supervisors happy, eliminate friction in the courthouse and handle the multiple problems of an expanding community.

The fact that he has remained nearly five years, until his resignation to take a state position, is a tribute in itself.

We are sure that even he is not 100 per cent satisfied with the job he has done. It has been too necessary to make major compromises, it has been too necessary to worry about how each action will affect so many people for an administrator to do the kind of a job he'd like to.

But we think there is little doubt that Marin county government has moved forward more in the last five years than in any other period of our history. Much of it would have come without Jensen's presence. But he has been the guiding hand, the soothing voice and the easy scapegoat for a period of terrific change.

He has proven, we believe, the effectiveness of the necessity for a county administrator, or even a county manager. He has accomplished a great deal in organizing a more effective and efficient operation in county government.

We haven't always agreed with him, but we appreciate the job he has done for the county. We are truly grateful.

We wish Don Jensen success in the future. And success too, to Alan Bruce, who succeeds him as county administrator.

Bouquets And Brickbats

A BOUQUET to 16-year-old Bill E. Rubinsak, son of a Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant, whose quick-witted alarms probably saved the lives of two persons in a burning building at the base.

BRICKBATS to those among you who forgot that today is the last day to pay the first installment on your property taxes; if you hurry you can still get it in the mail so it will have a Dec. 10 postmark.

A BOUQUET to William O. Weissich for making a test case on the point that two persons, joint owners of a car, can be fined for the parking offense of one (maybe somebody else altogether).

A BOUQUET to Larkspur Councilman James T. Lienkaemper, who is encouraging active participation by and full information for the citizens of Larkspur in the activities of their city government.

A BRICKBAT to each unsportsmanlike bass angler who brawled over use of an overtaxed public boat launching ramp in Sausalito last Sunday.

BOUQUETS to the members and staff of Marin County Humane Society who, in the past year, have handled nearly 10,800 animals and returned to their owners or found homes for more than 2,000 of them; that's about six animals a day.

WORK CAN BE A PLEASURE

"Labor is a pleasure in itself," is an ancient maxim that many moderns would regard with jaundiced eye. The press of hard facts, however, forces upon men sooner or later the awareness that they never find true fulfillment without hard and rewarding work.

Before the coming of Christ, Virgil, the Roman poet, said: "Labor conquers all things." His comment was echoed by that of Horace: "Life gives nothing to man without labor."

The early Christians sanctified, or made holy, all work in the home, at study, in the fields, shops and arts. They knew that their efforts, however insignificant, had a part to play in rebuilding the earth according to God's design for man's happiness in time and eternity.

See in each day's tasks a fresh opportunity to participate in the creative power of Him who made the world. Armed with this positive viewpoint, you will have discovered the deepest joy of labor.

"Come to me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will refresh you."
(Matthew 11:28)

Thank You, O heavenly Father, for allowing me to be Your co-worker in renewing the face of the earth.

LEGISLATIVE PROBLEM

North-South Split In Demos Faces Kennedy

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — Statistics on the outgoing 86th Congress indicate the magnitude of the problem President-designate John F. Kennedy may face in bringing his fellow Democrats into line behind his 1961 legislative program.

A Congressional Quarterly voting study shows that Northern and Southern Democrats were divided—that is, a majority of Southern senators and representatives in the party opposed the stand taken by a majority of the Northern members—on 40 per cent of the Congressional roll-call votes of 1960.

SOUTHERN SUCCESSES against their fellow party members in the Northern states are almost totally dependent, however, on the support of Republicans for the Southern position. The Southern Democratic position prevailed over that of the North on only three roll-call votes of 1960 where a majority of Republicans did not support the Southern view.

Kennedy backers are hoping that the new President will be able, by using the full powers and persuasions of his office, to swing enough votes from both Republicans and Southern Democrats to carry his program through.

Of the 207 Senate roll-calls of the year, Southerners opposed the Northern view 85 times. In the House, the split occurred on 34 of the 93 roll-calls of the year. The CQ survey counts a North-South split whenever a majority of voting Northern Democrats opposed the stand taken by a majority of voting Southern Democrats.

THE OVERALL percentage of North-South splits was about 10 per cent higher than in most recent years, due in large part to a group of 33 House and Senate roll-call votes on the explosive civil rights issue which occupied the attention of Congress from mid-January to April.

In addition to civil rights, Northern and Southern Democrats disagreed on a wide variety of domestic and foreign policy issues:

DEPRESSED AREAS. In 1960, a majority of Southern Democrats voted against the area development bill which had Kennedy's support—then and during the subsequent Presidential campaign.

FOREIGN AID. Southern Senators and Representatives consistently voted against mutual security program authorizations and appropriations, and they opposed the new International Development Assn. (IDA) to aid underdeveloped nations.

TAXES. Various tax reforms, backed by Northern Democrats, were opposed by a majority of the Southerners. Among them were moves to reduce gas and oil depletion allowances, to establish a withholding tax on income from interest and dividends, to repeal the 4 per cent tax credit on dividend income and to curtail tax deductions for business entertainment.

MINIMUM WAGE. Southern Democrats opposed the $1.25 minimum wage backed by Kennedy and other Northern Democrats, and they favored a minimum extension of current minimum wage coverage.

AID TO EDUCATION. Southern Democrats in 1960 opposed federal aid to education, either for school construction or for teachers' salaries.

HOUSING. Southern Democratic Senators opposed increased public housing authorizations, while Southern Representatives voted against urban renewal and slum clearance grants.

FARM PRICE SUPPORTS. Southern Senators voted to reduce price supports for wheat, in opposition to the stand of Northern Democratic Senators.

MEDICAL CARE FOR AGED. Southern Senators voted overwhelmingly against the Kennedy-backed plan to provide medical benefits for Social Security retirees, financed through an increased Social Security payroll tax.

Education Study Faces Questionable Future

By CHAPIN A. DAY

The two-year study—made by the Citizens Advisory Commission on Public Education faces a questionable future in Sacramento.

The report, and its accompanying minority report, were presented to the legislature's Joint Interim on Education this week. At first it appeared as if the committee wouldn't even discuss them.

Chairman G. H. Winton Jr. (D, Merced-assemblyman) had a letter of transmittal to the legislature all ready for committee consideration. It said that because there had not been time to "make the thorough study necessary to review the report in detail," the joint committee "has made no independent recommendations and merely transmits the commission's report, together with the minority expressions, to the legislature without critical analysis."

THIS PROSPECT bothered some of the committee members. "What," they asked, "are we here for if it isn't to consider and discuss the report?"

There was plenty to discuss. The commission's final report makes 104 recommendations for improvement of the state's school system. Of these, 54 involve legislative matters. The others are recommendations to school boards, administrators, and other education officials.

The minority report, signed by three members of the 27-man commission, contained 42 recommendations. Some of these concerned matters covered in the majority report, but half dealt with matters either considered and rejected by the majority or not taken up by the full group.

THE MINORITY report came under fire of the commission majority chairman, Dr. William V. Lawlor, Glendale dentist. He told the committee that the minority report is not truly a product of the committee. He said the report had not been submitted to the majority although "an opportunity was made for its presentation and they (the minority) decided not to present it."

Minority members have stated they offered to present their views, but that the majority had decided not to hear them.

ASSEMBLYMAN Carlos Bee of the committee objected to some of the language in the minority report. He said its introduction and parts of the text referred to "the commission," when it actually meant the minority.

More specifically he objected to three statements in the introduction to the minority report: (1) that the "commission has found considerable evidence that the State Department of Education is deliberately flouting the laws of the state," (2) that the departments philosophy of "Progressive Education" is "using all the children of this state as guinea pigs"; (3) that "additional funds will not solve the problems of education in California."

Bee said he failed to find evidence in the report to back up these statements in the introduction.

MEMBERS OF the committee expressed interest in further discussion of the report and of hearing more about the evidence behind the recommendations of both the majority and the minority. They refused to approve Winton's proposed letter of transmittal and set next Wednesday at 10 a.m. as time for a joint meeting of the committee and the commission.

They indicated they would print and circulate both of the reports in substantially the manner in which they were received, although they will probably make changes in the minority report to make clear that it represents the thinking of the three signers and not that of the entire commission.

Will the committee make recommendations for legislation to carry out the recommendations? Not if Chairman Winton has his way. He says the committee does not have time to study the reports point by point and prepare legislation on them. He urges individual members of the committee, however, to select portions they wish turned into law and submit their individual bills on them to the legislature. The interim committee would have no stand as a unit either for or against such proposals.

Some of the committee think this is wrong, that they should implement at least some of the recommendations by committee action before the legislature.

Next week's meeting should indicate whether the chairman or the committeemen will prevail.

Better Year For Needy Children

Independent-Journal:

Thanks to your readers' generosity, and to the outstanding support your newspaper gave the Trick or Treat for UNICEF program in your community, 1961 will be a better year for needy children in many parts of the world.

The Halloween collection figure of "more than $3,500" you recently published will translate itself into any one of the following in terms of aid given by the United Nations Children's Fund:

The vaccine to protect 350,000 children from tuberculosis; a daily glass of milk for 87,500 school children for four weeks; the penicillin to cure 70,000 children of yaws, a crippling tropical disease; the antibiotics to save 17,500 children from the blindness of trachoma; the DDT to protect 28,000 children against malaria for a year; the sulfone to treat 3,500 young leprosy victims successfully for three years; 1,400,000 vitamin capsules for children suffering from malnutrition.

Please share the assurance of our heartfelt gratitude with your readers and with your staff.

Everybody Rakes In When Stripers Begin To Run In Bay

The fabulous striper runs at Sausalito and Tiburon have far-reaching effects. Party boats rake in, anglers rake in, and then the Marin courts begin to rake in.

After last week's striped bass haul, a stream of fishermen have begun to show up in court to pay fines. Most of them were caught with more than their limit of three. Many were caught using two or three poles at the same time.

Fines are running as high as $75.

BUT THE ODDEST looking fisherman of the week was San Rafael photographer Ken Molino. He dressed up in Sunday best, suit and tie, to take fashion shots of beauties on water skis off Sausalito waterfront.

He snapped the pictures about 100 yards offshore from a boat, wiped his hands with his silk handkerchief and sat back for the short ride back to the pier.

Suddenly the skipper says, "Here, hang on to this pole. Might as well troll even for the few remaining yards."

Then bang, bang. Two big ones hit. In 12 minutes, he had 15 pounds of fish.

Startled, and worried about the creases in his suit, Molino didn't have time for another cast before the boat docked.

PEOPLE STILL can't believe that San Rafael fashion model Marian Bellamy voted for Richard Nixon—she looks so much like Jackie Kennedy.

SHERIFF'S DEPUTY Ted Hughes, who's getting to look more and more like Santa Claus, is not playing the part this year. He's the one that headed the toys for Christmas drive in past years. He regrets he can't carry on this year, but his law enforcement duties make it impossible. So, please don't send him any more toys.

AN "EXPERT" on bad checks gave some free advice to Bay Area peace officers at a check conference in Oakland last Wednesday.

Introduced as a "Mr. Bagette" from Sacramento, he turned out to be none other than the state's most wanted check passer, Clarence Pomeroy Rand, 66. They had got him special court permission to leave Oakland jail to speak to the group.

After six years of field training before being caught, Rand told the investigators how he passed more than a thousand checks with arthritic hands that could barely scrawl the 150 aliases he used.

HERE ARE TIPS from expert Rand:

For some unknown reason, store owners are suspicious of $25 checks. But $35 checks go like life jackets at a ship sinking. The people he feared the most were women who specialize in check cashing at large department stores.

"The moment she glances at the check, gives me a quick once-over and says, 'Will you wait a moment, sir,' I get out of there. She knows her business!"

SANTA CLAUS must be overworked this season. He's sending all kinds of things in the mail that customers did not order.

A San Rafael woman reached into the mailbox and came up with a handful of dollar bills.

Mailman Bob Pillus found six gas tank caps inside the mail collection box in Terra Linda.

Independent-Journal:

The story that appeared in the paper of Dec. 5 re the cutting of the old cypress tree in the side yard of the San Rafael Library property reminded me of the story of a few years ago of the cutting down of the oak tree in the middle of "E" Street.

The tree was located between the Library and the Presbyterian Church. It was described, a number of years ago, in the Believe It Or Not column of Robert Ripley.

The old oak was the smallest park in the world. Captain John Fremont is supposed to have camped under its spreading branches. It also served as San Rafael's hanging tree. I recall hearing the story of an Indian who had committed a crime and had been sentenced to hang. He asked for a few days reprieve so that he could say goodbye to his family and friends. In exchange for the few days he agreed to return. He lived up to his promise and was hung on schedule.

The location of the old oak tree can still easily be found by the patch on "E" Street, unless in the last paving job done by the city, it was covered over.

Gardeners Are Easy To Shop For

By EARL AARONSON

And how's your gift list coming?

We thought we'd offer a few suggestions, including back liniment for over-enthusiastic garden addicts. How about some books, with a comfortable chair attachment for relaxed reading?

Then there are gloves that bear the forthright, war-like legend, "I hate weeds." They come in men's and women's sizes.

Watering cans, made of metal or plastic, come in several sizes. One hold nine quarts. There is also a small one with a brass plunger that forces out a gentle mist for small plants. If your plants are big and hardy you can get one that squirts less gracefully. If you have lots of surplus bottles kicking around, you can get a plunge sprayer that screws into the bottle top.

Do a little investigating before you buy your friends garden gradgets or tools for Christmas. For instance, don't buy the hedgeless fellow a hedge trimmer. If you are going to send a subscription to a garden magazine, make sure the recipient doesn't get that magazine already.

For outdoors, how about garden accessories such as ornamental pots, planting boxes or tubs, sundials or bird houses?

Gift certificates for roses are popular. So are packets of seeds or house plants. There are gift packs that include seeds, small hand tools, plastic bags for cuttings, peat moss pots in which to start seedlings indoors early, and a thermometer.

And what would I like? If the heirs and heiress keep their promises to help in the garden next spring, especially digging new ground, especially weeding, especially pruning, especially grass cutting and trimming, I'm going to need a comfortable hammock and wide-brimmed straw hat to keep the sun out of my eyes. Bet I get a new hoe. I can always lean on it when I get tired of looking for the heirs and heiress.

Men Of All Sizes Can Dress Stylish

One of the real developments in men's fashions has been the broadening of styles for all men. No longer does one have to be a "perfect size 40" to wear the smart fashions: No longer must a bigger or smaller man take whatever he can get.

Look at some of today's best-dressed men — huge Jackie Gleason, tall Bud Palmer, thin Frank Sinatra, etc. So whatever your size, and whatever your taste—you can be as smartly-groomed as the fellow who wears size 40.

Aprons you make yourself are thoughtful and inexpensive gifts for the ladies to whom you would like to give a small present.

Gifts That Protect The Health

The greatest gift any man can bestow on his family is the gift of health.

You can't buy health in a department store, of course, but there are a surprising number of gifts a family can select for each other that will mean better health for all its members.

Important among these is an automatic electric dishwasher. This work-saving appliance sanitizes dishes, glasses, pots, pans, utensils, and silverware with ultra hot water and special detergents, making them cleaner and more germ-free than if washed by hand. This sharply reduces the threat of spreading colds and other diseases from one family member to another.

Today's dishwashers are available in built-in or portable models. For families who rent or live in an apartment, portable models are ideal because they go along like a piece of furniture.

Another important gift healthwise is today's new electric refrigerator-freezer. This remarkable new electric appliance offers so much storage space and so many other space-age features that it actually can become the key to more nutritive, healthful meals in any kitchen.

For example, a new electric refrigerator-freezer keeps more frozen and fresh foods longer and better. This means that a supply of foods for nutritious meals is constantly on hand, resulting in better, more appetizing meals everyone will enjoy.

Modern refrigerator-freezer combinations are compact yet spacious enough to hold sufficient food so that only one weekly visit to the supermarket is necessary, saving wear and tear on the family shopper and freeing her for other duties.

Some other appliances available to assist families retain better health are humidifiers to add needed moisture to dry air; electric heaters to warm cold spots; food blenders for vitamin-rich drinks and dishes, and electric blankets for cold weather sleeping comfort.

Put System In Shopping

To put a little fun into your life at Christmas shopping time—or at least to take some of the misery out of making the rounds of the beautifully decorated stores try using a systematic approach.

The American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear points out that systematic shopping for wearables for the men on your list will make the task easier and pleasanter and, more than likely, will result in gifts that are "right" for the men who receive them.

An accurate listing of the correct sizes and likeliest possibilities for gifts for dad, big brother or boyfriend, little brother and granddad can turn a confusing, time-consuming chore into an easier, more rewarding job.

PRACTICAL LUXURY . . . GOLDEN ARROW S. D. C.

A gift that will make a lasting impression — the first all-cotton shirt that never ever needs ironing, dries perfectly, permanently smooth no matter how it's washed. The new self-ironing Belfast cotton is silkier, more luxurious, more comfortable. It never discolors and is the fastest-drying cotton of all. "Sanforized-Plus." Special collar and cuff design gives 40% longer wear. $5.95

Lacquered Furniture For Color

Combine the colorful gaiety of the Christmas season with the very stylish trend of brightly or subtly lacquered furniture and you've chosen a "right" gift, advises the Home Furnishings Industry Committee.

Committee director, Virginia Pegram, says colored lacquered finishes also appear in all style ranges from provincial to sophisticated traditional and on into the most modern style.

These colorful finishes are created with modern lacquers which are compounded to take the "gaff" of day to day living. They can be easily cleaned with a mild soap and water. They are applied in several coats, so that chipping is no problem.

One new group of classic styled furniture includes a terra - cotta shade accented with gold and black lines and motifs on drawer or cabinet fronts. In a large collection of Early American cherry furniture several subtle pastels are included. These are in the cooler shades, such as pale blue-green, soft gold, or soft dark green.

Gay and charming as Venice itself are the colors on some Italian Provincial pieces. A tall arched top secretary desk is painted chalky white. Arched panels of the doors and drawer fronts are outlined in Mediterranean blue. The surprise when the doors are open; the shelves of the cabinet are painted shocking pink.

Some Gifts Of Comfort

Getting together for an old fashioned Christmas this year? Well, get together and buy mother a leather chair she'll treasure for many years to come.

Rich, warm-looking, and easy to care for, furniture in the new lightweight, supple upholstery leathers blend with the decor of any home—period or modern — and merge beautifully with the whole range of walnut, mahogany, cherry, fruitwood and other favorite furniture woods.

Leather upholstered chairs and couches are available in literally hundreds of colors, from cool greens to warm beiges and tans, hot corals and reds, to jet black.

Coffee tables covered in lavishly tooled red-brown leather bring a "cherry" note into a period room. A high lamp with base and column in starling oyster white leather draws the eye in a modern room.

Leather chairs lend style to a quiet dining room or feminine frippery in a boudoir. Quilted leather headboards and stripped leather venetian blinds — both easily wiped clean with a damp sponge — introduce a note of luxury in a bedroom.

No man can resist the inviting comfort of a deep leather armchair. Nor can he fail to get that VIP feeling when his new desk has a leather top.

Wrap Cookies Well For Safe Delivery

Planning to send a box of cookies in the mail? After all the time and effort you've spent baking—be sure to expend just a bit more to assure that they arrive looking as pretty as when they were sent.

First, wrap each cookie seperately in a small piece of waxed paper, aluminum foil or Saran Wrap.

If you are using a cardboard box, line it with waxed paper. Then place a sheet of cardboard and several layers of waxed paper between each layer of cookies.

When packing a metal container, make a cushion of wrapping paper at the bottom. Separate each layer of cookies here, too.

Next, wrap the box with corrugated paper; cover with wrapping paper and tie securely with cord.

One sure way to "snap" into your Christmas gift list is by giving a camera. Photography is a hobby that belongs to every age group; and fortunately, it now belongs to every income group.

There's hardly anyone who doesn't want to "get into the pictures," and the nice part is you needn't be afraid of giving a beginner one of the current advanced models.

However, to play it safe, you can buy any number of cameras in the inexpensive group that are ideal for the amateur. They come boxed, including all the essentials — batteries, flash attachment, film, bulbs — and, in some cases, a slide projector and screen.

Another nice feature about giving a camera is that a second, or even a third, one isn't "overdoing it." A person interested in shooting pictures actually wants several cameras, as each type (and there's a large variety) does a special job.

If you're buying a gift for someone who already owns several cameras, your local photographic shop can advise you on supplementary items which are favorites with a "camera bug."

Inquire about the 35-millimeter camera which takes both prints and slides, filter kits, exposure meters, range finders, dark room supplies, and film.

And don't overlook an album or a leather carrying case. Good pictures look even better when they're kept in the proper setting.

Dressy Nightwear

Remember when nightwear and robes were the most drab of all attire? Today's—or tonight's — casual living, however, has brought about a style step-up, and a man can be dressed right in the confines of his home as at any other place or time, notes the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. Pajamas and robes, incidentally, rate high on the lists of Christmas gifts for men.

Nautical Gifts For The Kids

If your boating activities are a family affair — and whose aren't?—nautical gifts can help solve the problem of what to buy the kids for Christmas. Having their own "gear" on board will make boating an even brighter pastime for the youngsters.

The Mercury outboard people suggest these last-minute gifts to gladden the heart of any junior boatman:

If the child is young, his very own lifejacket, suitably labeled with his name, will add a proprietary note to his zest for boating.

Perhaps it is time for the novice water skiers to have their own skis. Skilled skiers will appreciate the new two-way radio built into the tow handle to enable communication between skier and observer.

It will probably be lost or worn out before he ever gets near the water next spring, but a "captain's hat" with a bright gold medallion is sure to be a hit with a young boy. You'd better plan on having one for his sister, too, especially if she's under 10 years old.

There are many inexpensive brands of sleeping bags on the market. Not only will they make sleeping aboard a more exciting event, but kids are crazy about them. They will probably camp out on the bedroom floor Christmas night.

Most manufacturers of canvas-and-rubber boating shoes make them in children's sizes. The kids will love this symbol of the "professional" boater. They're safer for climbing around the boat, easier on the deck finish, and can save a good pair of shoes from accidental soaking.

Battery-powered miniature outboard motors, available at marine dealers, will work equally well in the bathtub on a rainy, "What shall I do?" afternoon, or at the lake while dad is launching the full-sized boat.

Poinsettias Require Care

Jot down poinsettia on your shopping list to help bring the warmth and cheer to the holidays into your own home or that of a friend's.

You'll find it takes care and known-how to keep this fiery plant bright and lovely throughout the wintry days.

Poinsettias can't take sudden changes in temperature and humidity without losing their leaves. The correct day temperature is under 72 degrees and the night temperature in the room should be no colder than 60 degrees. Never let the plant dry out between waterings.

Over-heating and underwatering will cause leaves to turn yellow and drop off.

The poinsettia is a real sun worshiper, so place it where it will receive as much direct sunlight as possible — away from drafts and hot air registers. The higher the humidity in the home, the better poinsettias will thrive.

IN NEXT WEEK'S MAGAZINE—

BEHIND THIS ornate gate lies San Rafael's Boyd Park, one of Marin's most popular and most beautiful municipal parks. Within easy walking distance of downtown San Rafael, it offers residents and visitors an oasis of greenery and shade among the business buildings, homes and pavement. In next week's Marin Magazine, reporter Paul Miller will tell you about this park and the man responsible for its care.

'ROUND MARIN

by Don Keown

Marin County Has Become Mecca For Craftsmen In Ceramics Field

THIS EDITION of your Independent-Journal Marin Magazine contains a story about a current pottery show at the De Young Museum in San Francisco, and takes special note of the large number of Marin craftsmen who are represented in the exhibition.

Just a few weeks ago this magazine ran another story about a weavers' exhibit at the same museum. And again the large Marin representation merited special mention.

It's an old story.

Whenever you visit an arts or crafts show in the Bay Area, you can just about bet that you will run into the work of a sizeable number of talented Marinites.

And this is to say nothing of the considerable number of such shows which creative Marinites conduct with success in their own home county.

We wondered just how many artists and craftsmen actually do make their home in Marin. And we asked Edwin A. Cadogan, head of the fine arts division at the College of Marin in Kentfield, if he could supply the figure.

Ed says that the best estimate he has seen is that Marin County now has in its population about 1,000 artists representing all the various creative fields. It's a rough guess, he admits, but very probably a reasonably accurate one. And certainly it is an impressive figure.

Ed notes that the vigorous community interest in things artistic is reflected in the size and scope of the art classes, both day and night, at the college as well as numerous private and local community groups.

For instance: The ceramic department at the College of Marin is one of the best equipped in the entire country — bar none. And it currently has a whopping enrollment of 250 students.

Ed also points out that the college program has achieved sufficient stature to attract students not only from many states of the Union, but also from foreign countries. College of Marin has become one of "the places" in which to study pottery.

And in addition to the studio potters who operate either as a vocation or avocation, Marin, or more specifically Sausalito, is also the home of Heath Ceramics, whose products are widely distributed and much admired.

Nor does a Marin "census" of its ceramic craftsmen give the total picture of this county's influence in this particular art field. Cadogan notes that no small number of the potters participating in the current De Young Museum exhibit with non-Marin home addresses nevertheless received their schooling in ceramics at the Kentfield college.

Marin is influential in all art fields and activities in the Bay Area. But in ceramics it is more than influential. It is the pacesetter. It predominates.

Just something to keep in mind if you are fortunate enough to get to see the present show at De Young. And if you don't make it to that exhibit, bear it in mind next time you do attend a showing of fine ceramic work in the Bay Area. Note just how many of these topflight craftsmen-artists are your fellow Marinites.

The Key Club Motto: Youth Serves Youth

By DON KEOWN

"I pledge on my honor to uphold the objectives of Key Club International; to build my home, school and community; to serve my nation and God and combat all forces which tend to undermine these institutions."

This is the pledge taken each year by a select group of boys at San Rafael High School.

THEY ARE the fortunate ones chosen for membership in Marin's only chapter of Key Club International, a service group for high school youth sponsored by Kiwanis International.

"Youth Serves Youth" is the organization's motto.

And currently dedicated to that motto are 33 young member of the San Rafael chapter.

Membership is by application. Acceptance, by a screening committee from the club, is on the basis of grades and activities.

The boys meet once a week during the school noon hour for their business sessions, where they discuss projects such as the painting of garbage cans on the school grounds, the conducting of a book cover sale, work days on floats for school parades, etc.

Each such meeting is attended by an observer from the sponsoring Kiwanis.

AND WHILE the Key Clubbers frequently call upon the experience of their Kiwanis Club "big brothers," the high schoolers are proud that they are financially self-sufficient, raising their own funds for their own activities and for charitable causes.

Those activities have included a breakfast served to all the male faculty members as a means of fostering better understanding between teachers and students.

Also included is the annual Moonlight and Mistletoe dance, held during the holidays in the school gymnasium. This year's event is scheduled for next Saturday night with the band of Justin Murray of San Francisco scheduled to provide the music.

The Key Club has raised funds for such worthy purposes as Guide Dogs for the Blind, American Field Service, etc., through a variety of money-making projects including the book cover and a peach sale.

WHEN THE Parent-Teacher Assn. encountered a problem in decorating the school gym for an evening dance because the gym had to be in use for school purposes well into the afternoon, the Key Clubbers stepped into the breach. After school they pitched in, and by evening and dance-time, attractive decorations were awaiting the P-TA members.

When the Key Club boys noticed that the garbage cans on the school grounds had become battered and scarred, a "paint day" was scheduled. And the cans were soon all a gleaming white.

The San Rafael High School youths are members of an international organization that had its birth in May of 1925 at Sacramento when the Kiwanis Club of that city founded the unit primarily to carry an active vocational guidance program directly to the whole student body on a year-around basis. As it developed this work, many other opportunities for service on the school level were noted and carried out. And so today the Key Club is, in fact, the service club of its high school. No job is too large or too small. The members thrive on active work and service for others.

FROM THE original Sacramento club, the idea spread among the Kiwanians of other communities. By 1939 the first convention was held in Florida. And finally in 1943 an international organization was formed.

International by-laws and a constitution were adopted at the third Key Club international convention in 1946. And these have served as the firm foundation for today's vigorous and growing organization.

The current leadership of the San Rafael chapter lies in the hands of a set of officers headed by Jim Kuehn as president and Mike Casselman, vice president; Warren Davis, secretary; Mike Fennel, treasurer, and Jim Rosa, sergeant at arms.

Patrick Costello is the faculty adviser.

New officers will take over the reins next semester. But, regardless of whom they might be, you can bet they will be students who will continue to steer their organization on the path of service to their school, to their community and to their country.

WHEN KEY CLUB members at San Rafael High School noticed that the garbage cans at the school had become scarred and battered, they grabbed paint spray guns and set about remedying the situation. Mike Fennel operates the spray gun here with fellow Key Club members Jim Morehouse and John Taylor helping out. (Photos by Rich Rains and Ken Nunes)

THIS IS the emblem which the boys of Key Club International wear so proudly.

JIM KUEHN is the current president of the San Rafael High School chapter of Key Club International. Here he wears his Key Club jacket with the club emblem over his heart.

STEREO HI-FI

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

The other evening I decided to explore some Baroque music. I chose a Kapp Stereo Record, "Trumpet and Orchestra." Partly because at one time I made a living playing trumpet, and secondly I was curious to see how a conductor like Emmanuel Vardi would blend a solo trumpet into a background of strings. The results were delightful.

A few evenings prior to my Baroque excusion, I was listening to a copy of Ernie Heckscher's new disc called "Dancing on Broadway." Ernie's discs have all been excellent, but this one adds a new touch. It is a unique blending of voices and instruments and should be a must on everyone's Christmas shopping list.

By this time, my readers are probably wondering if I have given up engineering and taken up record reviewing. Certainly not. I am trying to make two points clear. One, that even though I spend most of my time in my Hi-Fi Stereo Store talking and demonstrating music quality, I still spend a considerable amount of time in my own living room listening to music, serious undisturbed listening. Secondly, as easily as selecting a disc or tape from your collection you can whisk yourself back to the 17th and 18th centuries, or return to the 20th Century.

BOB TROPPMANN

Builder Of Champs At Redwood High

By JIM GILMARTIN

A high school coach is many things to a boy. He's a brother, a father, a teacher, a babysitter, a nurse and, most of all, a pal, all wrapped up in one package.

When we asked a high school football star the most enjoyment he got out of his team, his answer was simple: "My coach."

When asked to elaborate, the star needed no coaxing. He stated, "Well, all the guys on the team are like a big happy family and the coach is like our dad. Heck, he's like one of us. I mean, he'll clown around with us, but also he keeps us on our toes with an iron hand and won't put up with any guff. I know I speak for the rest of the guys that he's the real champ on our club."

The player was a member of Redwood High School's championship team and he was speaking, of course, of Bob Troppmann, one of northern California's most respected high school mentors.

TROPPMANN recently completed his second straight championship season in the Marin County Athletic League, but he didn't close his football book until next fall like many coaches. "My hobby," he explains, "is football. To me it's enjoyment for 24 hours a day, 12 months a year."

His enthusiasm is partly detected in a recent note to the Independent-Journal sports department. It read: "Come on, gang, let's get hustling. Only 276 more days until the 1961 football season."

Besides producing championship timber among the Redwoods, Troppmann compiles thorough files on all his players, past, present and future; statistics and records of all his teams; generates intense enthusiasm toward football in his school; has written eight articles published in the Athletic Journal, a national sports magazine; and has written a booklet on "Championship Drills," for the Continental Athletic Supply Co.

He is also originator and chairman of Redwood High's football coaches clinic, the largest of its kind in the state, held annually during March.

Some of his other projects have included sitting in as a member of the Corte Madera Park Commission and serving as a director in the Northern California Pop Warner Conference, first vice president of the California Coaches Assn. and as Marin County representative for the East-West high school all-star game in San Francisco.

ALONG WITH his numerous duties as coach, director of athletics and recreation director, Troppmann has maintained a tremendous interest in his first love — football, and his teams show it. A former Marine Corps officer, he demands neat appearance and rigid adherence to training rules from his athletes.

Each player must sign an "athletic contract" before he can turn out for the team and enforcement of the rules is strict. For example, close-cropped haircuts are a must. Neckties and suits are mandatory on road trips; levy trousers are not worn with the school's lettermen sweaters; a player may not date a girl friend at any time during the season; and all players must be home by 9:30 each night.

On the field Troppmann's teams are models of discipline and polished execution of plays. During practice and games, helmets are worn continually, even by the benchwarmers. And players are not permitted a swig of water at any time.

Explains the coach, "We started a tradition at Redwood of taking pride in our appearances and we intend to keep it that way. We want our teams to act like pros."

The Redwood record book is a success story in favor of Troppmann, even though his first team in 1958 won only four games while losing four and tying one. Last year Redwood went undefeated and won the mythical championship of Northern California schools in its enrollment bracket. This year the Giants won seven and lost two for their second straight title, and a three-year record of 19-6-1.

Against Marin County opposition Redwood has won 12 games and lost only one—a 25-12 setback to San Rafael in 1958.

REDWOOD TEAMS are noted for their ability to rise to the occasion and win the big, crucial games. Thanks to Troppmann's thorough scouting system, Redwood players know almost as much about their opponents as the foes do themselves.

In brief, Troppmann approaches his job with the finesse of a college mentor, a trait he absorbed while serving as an assistant coach at San Francisco State from 1950 through 1953.

Troppmann has been mentioned prominently for the last two years as possible coach for the North team in the annual North-South High School Shrine classic in Los Angeles. "That one goal I have," said the Redwood mentor, "and I'm sure that I share the ambition with every high school coach in the state."

Troppmann's life is wrapped up in young men and he loves it. "I find the challenge of working with teen-agers is stimulating," he says.

In football, Troppmann examines a boy's desire above all. "In my mind, desire is the first thing I look for — desire to compete, desire to do better and desire to be the best at whatever he does. Secondly, I look for speed, and lastly, size."

And, his favorite sport has provided Troppmann many thrills, including "the thrill of winning two championships, the thrill of seeing young boys rise to the occasion and become 'men' over night, the thrill of seeing the boys that I have coached go to college and play football. Every time you step on the field with your team is a thrill."

WHEN ASKED of his ambitions, Troppmann said, "Naturally all coaches would some day like to coach at Notre Dame and I think each coach should have a goal to become the best in his profession. However, there is nothing like coaching high school boys — to watch them from freshmen to seniors. And the relationship you have with them after graduation is something money can't buy."

Robert James Troppmann is a native of San Francisco, one of four children of Carl Martin and Clare Carberry Troppmann. His father died in 1937; his mother lives near him in Corte Madera; his sister Clare also resides in Corte Madera while brother Carl resides in Reno and another sis, Mrs. Jean Patterson, lives in Santa Rosa.

In school days Troppmann was a versatile athlete, competing in basketball, football (a center) and track at Lowell High School from 1939-41; football, boxing and track at University of San Francisco in 1942-43 and those same sports, plus basketball, at University of Redlands in 1943-44. His stay at Redlands was as part of the Navy's V-12 program, after which he was sent to Marine Corps Officers Training School in Quantico, Va.

After discharge from the Marines as a second lieutenant, with a 13-month tour of duty in Japan, Troppmann had a taste of professional football as a center for the San Francisco Clippers of the Pacific Coast League, the forerunner to the present day 49ers.

The Redwood coach, who gained his Bachelor of Arts and Masters degrees in physical education at San Francisco State in 1948, was baptized into the coaching profession at Richmond High from 1948-50, after which he moved to the S.F. State assistant's job, then to Drake in 1954 and to Redwood in 1958. "I dreamed of becoming a coach when I was a little guy," he reflects, "and if I had it to do over again, I'd do exactly the same thing."

Next month he will celebrate the 15th anniversary of his marriage to the former Marilyn Norton De Vore of Redlands, a marriage that has produced a team of five offspring: Jim, 14, Joan, 13, Janet, 12, Judith, 10, and John, 4½.

Next year Jim Troppmann will be old enough to play varsity football and his dad describes him as a promising quarterback.

However, Jim won't be anyone special on the team. He'll be just one of the guys on Redwood's "big happy family."

She Converts Your Old Memories Into New Jewelry

By JOANNE DREJES

A small gold nugget, the dirt still clinging to it, a handful of old jewelry and two loose stones — bits and pieces of useless things, but to their owner a small mound of memories hard to discard.

And for Amy Grant, Fairfax jeweler, these are the raw materials for a piece of new jewelry. A pendant is to be designed that will be in itself an exciting ornament while retaining its keepsake value for her client.

Designing and executing new jewelry from old is only a part of Amy Grant's new business. And the jewelry business is only a part of her day. As wife, mother and student there are many other things to do.

In many ways the problems and successes of Mrs. Grant are representative of a large number of Marin artists—men and women who desire to work with their hands, to create beauty from raw materials. People who have found a hobby to fulfill that desire have often also discovered an art that satisfied their own need of expression, and then supplied others with quality pieces of original work.

THE REALIZATION of this need to create is a curious thing. In some people it is so well defined that from the earliest years of life the course of study and practice is apparent. In others it can emerge suddenly, and at a time when even the thought of developing a new technique seems very remote.

For Amy Grant the discovery of art took just as long as her trip to Marin. Born in Hamburg, Germany, of Czechoslovakian parents, she came with her family to America in 1922 and lived with an aunt in Washington D.C. It was May, 1936, when she married John Grant and they moved farther west to Colorado where Jack was to major in sociology at Colorado A & M College. After his graduation, Jack took a teaching post at Walden in the northern Colorado mountains.

The new teacher, his wife and their 10-year-old son, John, Jr., found themselves living a pioneer existence. The school for the first eight grades was a one-room schoolhouse, and the teachers residence a log cabin. The cold was bitter and could not be kept outside. During the winter months at 2 in the morning the Grants would rise and build a fire to keep the room temperature high enough so that their supplies of canned goods would not freeze. Ironically enough, background music for this nightly chore was supplied by an Hawaiian radio station.

Finally the conflict of pines and palms was too great, at the end of the school year the Grants crated their belongings, booked reservations on an Hawaiian bound boat and made way for the port of San Francisco.

But 1949, the year of the great Colorado blizzard, was also the year of the dock strike in San Francisco. The Grants sat in their hotel room waiting for the ship to sail. The strike was long and their fare was used up in the waiting. Jack took a job teaching at a private school in San Francisco and the Hawaiian bound crates were unpacked in San Francisco quarters. A year later they moved to Marin when Jack took a civilian job with the Navy. Two years ago they moved to their present Fairfax home.

IT WAS CHRISTMAS, 1953, that Jack gave Amy a do-it-yourself jewelry kit, "because she loved jewelry and liked to work with her hands." The kit found itself in good hands and it is still a part of her Fairfax studio.

The "studio" is a tiny room just off the kitchen, and her most comfortable working surface is an ironing board. The room is banked with agate and amethyst, garnets, opals and apache tears, loops of gold and silver wire, kilns and torches, chains and findings. It's an exciting little room, and more fascinating still are the pieces of finished jewelry that leave it.

Copper enameling was the first step in development of her art. Research into copper techniques sparked an interest in gems and their setting. Since some of the gems were not complimented by the color of copper, she went into silver work and studied at the College of Marin under instructor Franz Bergman.

By 1955 she had attracted

JEWELRY-MAKING has become a family hobby and enterprise with the John Grants of Fairfax. Wife Amy has been known for a number of years for the striking design and fine craftsmanship of her exciting pieces of custom-made jewelry. Now husband John or Jack has taken up ceramic jewelry as an added hobby.

the attention of other Marin artists. It was the late Henry Malcheski who insisted that she take a booth at the Sausalito Art Fair that year. So with a display of bracelets, necklaces, earrings, cuff links, rings, tie bars and equipment for an art-in-action exhibit, Amy Grant made her debut.

The wonderful response from her first fair prompted Amy to take her jewelry to other Bay Area exhibits. While the hours involved in setting up and maintaining a booth are long, this personal contact with the people who would buy her work proved to be satisfying and stimulating. All the hours of designing, ordering supplies and the actual working time were well repaid — not in a monetary sense, for the craftsman's hourly wage is very low — but by the reactions of her patrons.

THE MARIN Society of Artists has provided Amy Grant and hundreds of others of their members the opportunity to discuss new techniques in art and the problems that confront the artist. Through this organization Amy has come to study oil and watercolor painting under Anton Dahl and Richard Yip. She sold her first painting only a few months ago.

It was inevitable that this Grant home could not long persist without stimulating others of talent. Jack Grant, who was long satisfied with his photographic hobby—one that developed into his profession, is adding a new ceramic jewelry line to Amy's displays, and is studying ceramics at the College of Marin.

The wide variety of jewelry by Amy Grant can next be seen at the Marin Society of Artists Christmas Sale, Monday through Dec. 18, at the Frances Young Gallery in the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. Hours of the show are Monday through Thursday, 2 to 4 in the afternoons; next Friday 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.; and next Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 18, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Paintings and crafts of all kinds suitable for Christmas gifts are to be featured at the sale.

Hundreds of items at this sale will be the expressions of people like Amy Grant, who found the need to create and developed it into a fine art.

The original handicrafts and art work will be features at popular prices with the greatest percentage of work priced under 15 dollars.

During the first four days of the sale the gallery will be attended by a staff assisting Mae Ralston, chairman of the Christmas Sale. During the Friday, Saturday and Sunday hours the artists and craftsmen who created the articles will be on hand to make their own sales.

PORTRAIT artists Lucienne Bloch, Mary Rowley and Elizabeth Vreeland will be available for appointments during the last three days of the show.

An informal atmosphere is always characteristic of this gallery event. "Mamma" Gravander will have Swedish cookies and glug or coffee for patrons and guests.

Among the artists whose work will be featured are potters Bernice Brown, Evelyn Eoksuzian, Margaret Kintner, Eva Kamp, Gertrude Mueller, Ed Cadogan and Mary Plunkett; painters, Sonia Bermingham, Barbara Melichar, Winifred Koch, Louis Dessauer, Louise and John Bowman, Warren Brandon, Gay Fahrner, Barbara Carpenter, Viking Leon, Inez Martini and Very Borzy; weavers, Marianna Rauschnabel, Gerd Jakob, Gladys Fossey and Lois Purdom; jewelers Amy Grant, Alice Shannon and Beth Matajack; leather goods by Norma Sodaro and Mabel Moxom; Christmas cards by Carla Flood, and mosaics by Ruth Alexander and Nellie Rucker.

The Marin Society of Artists Christmas Sale will be only one of the special events at the Marin Art and Garden Center during the next week. The Decorators Guild will also hold its annual Greens Sale next weekend.

AMY GRANT JOINED several other Marin Society of Artists leaders that met at the home of Mrs. Arthur W. Ralston of Fairfax, chairman of the organization's annual Christmas Sale, to make plans for the event. Admiring some of the original Christmas cards which will be offered for sale are Mrs. Grant, Miss Leslie Ezekiel of Larkspur, Mrs. Carla Flood of Larkspur, and Mrs. Vera Harlan of Sausalito.

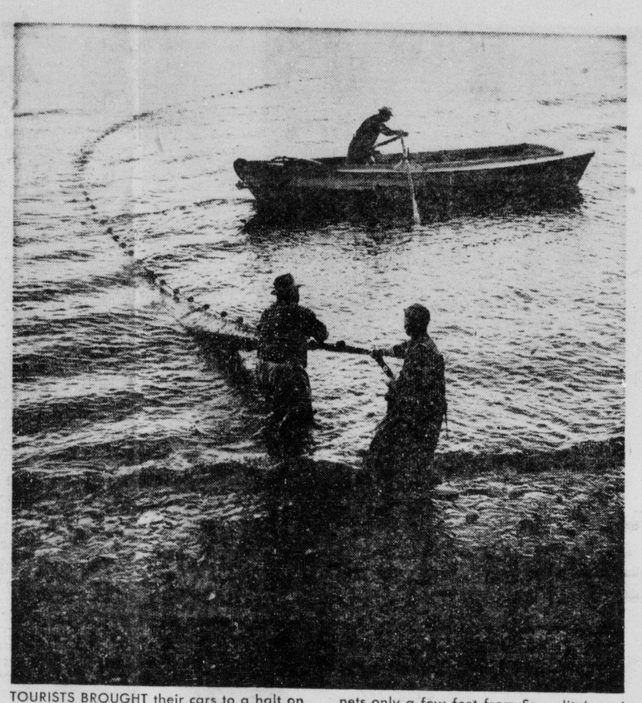
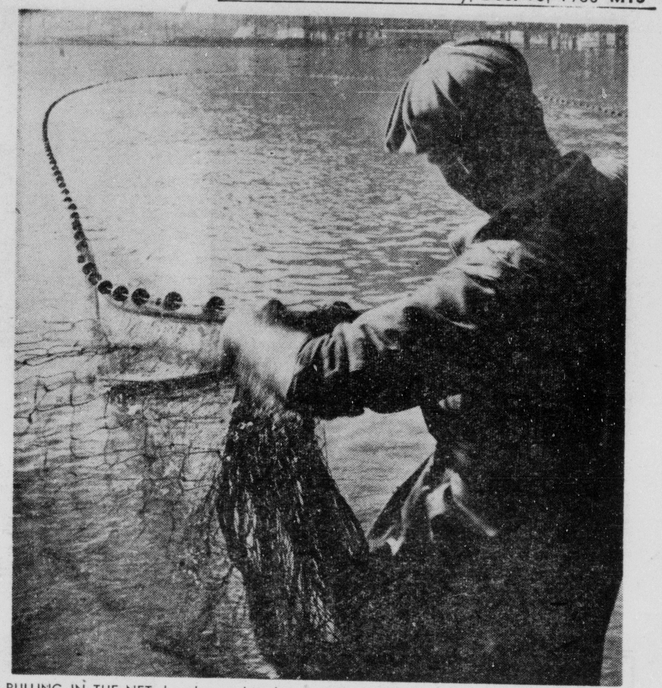
THE FISHING BOAT, Leonilda, is anchored off Sausalito's colorful shoreline with San Francisco in the distant background. And the crew members row in toward the shore in a skiff for a day's fishing. (Photos by Ellen Bry)

No Tourists, These Weekend Sausalito Visitors



TOURISTS BROUGHT their cars to a halt on Bridgeway and watched with interest as these San Francisco fishermen put out their nets only a few feet from Sausalito's main street. Fred D'Amato rows the boat and feeds out the net in a 60-fathom circle.



PULLING IN THE NET, hand over hand, is Frank Balestrari, one of the men off the Leonilda. It's tough work for a rugged man. The crew of the Leonilda says it believes it is the only one in the Bay Area which uses nets from the shoreline as its fishing technique.

THE NET COMES in, bringing with it jumping, sloshing perch, smelt and herring. Occasionally crab, bass or squid are also brought in, and are returned to the salt water. Frank Balestrari and Fred D'Amato pull in the catch.

THIS BLACK POODLE wades into the water to help the crew load the net back into their skiff. The men, left to right, are, skipper Phillip Battaglia, Frank Balestrari, Fred D'Amato and Frank D'Amato.

THEIR SKIFF FILLS with fish as the fishermen prepare to head back across the boat to the Leonilda and the return voyage to their San Francisco homes.

THE MEN IN THEIR skiff row back to the Leonilda, a heavy day's work almost over. On week days the Leonilda is used for crabbing. But on weekends it becomes a fishing boat. And it was on the weekends that it becomes a familiar sight to Sausalito residents and visitors.

DRIED MATERIALS such as these — the oak calyx, buckeye balls, tanbark oak husks, deodora cones and cotton pods — would generally be wasted. But they are salvaged by members of the Decorations Guild who then use their creativity to fashion imaginative decorations that are especially popular during the holiday season. Christmas Greenery Adds Holiday Gaiety In Homes Of Marin

Objectives of the Decorations Guild, one of the most active groups at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, are to help support the center, "to stimulate the creation of objects of beauty . . . to promote and encourage skill, and to exalt hand work."

To this should be added: "To help conserve nature's materials which might otherwise go to waste."

Members of the guild do just that. They salvage literally hundreds of materials from California's forests, fields and home gardens, and use them for making "objects of beauty."

Cones from the mountains, palm fronds and stalks from the desert, seed pods, grasses and dried plants from everywhere go into the stock of raw materials at the Decorations Guild Building. With these the guild's volunteer members create decorative articles which they sell to help support the center.

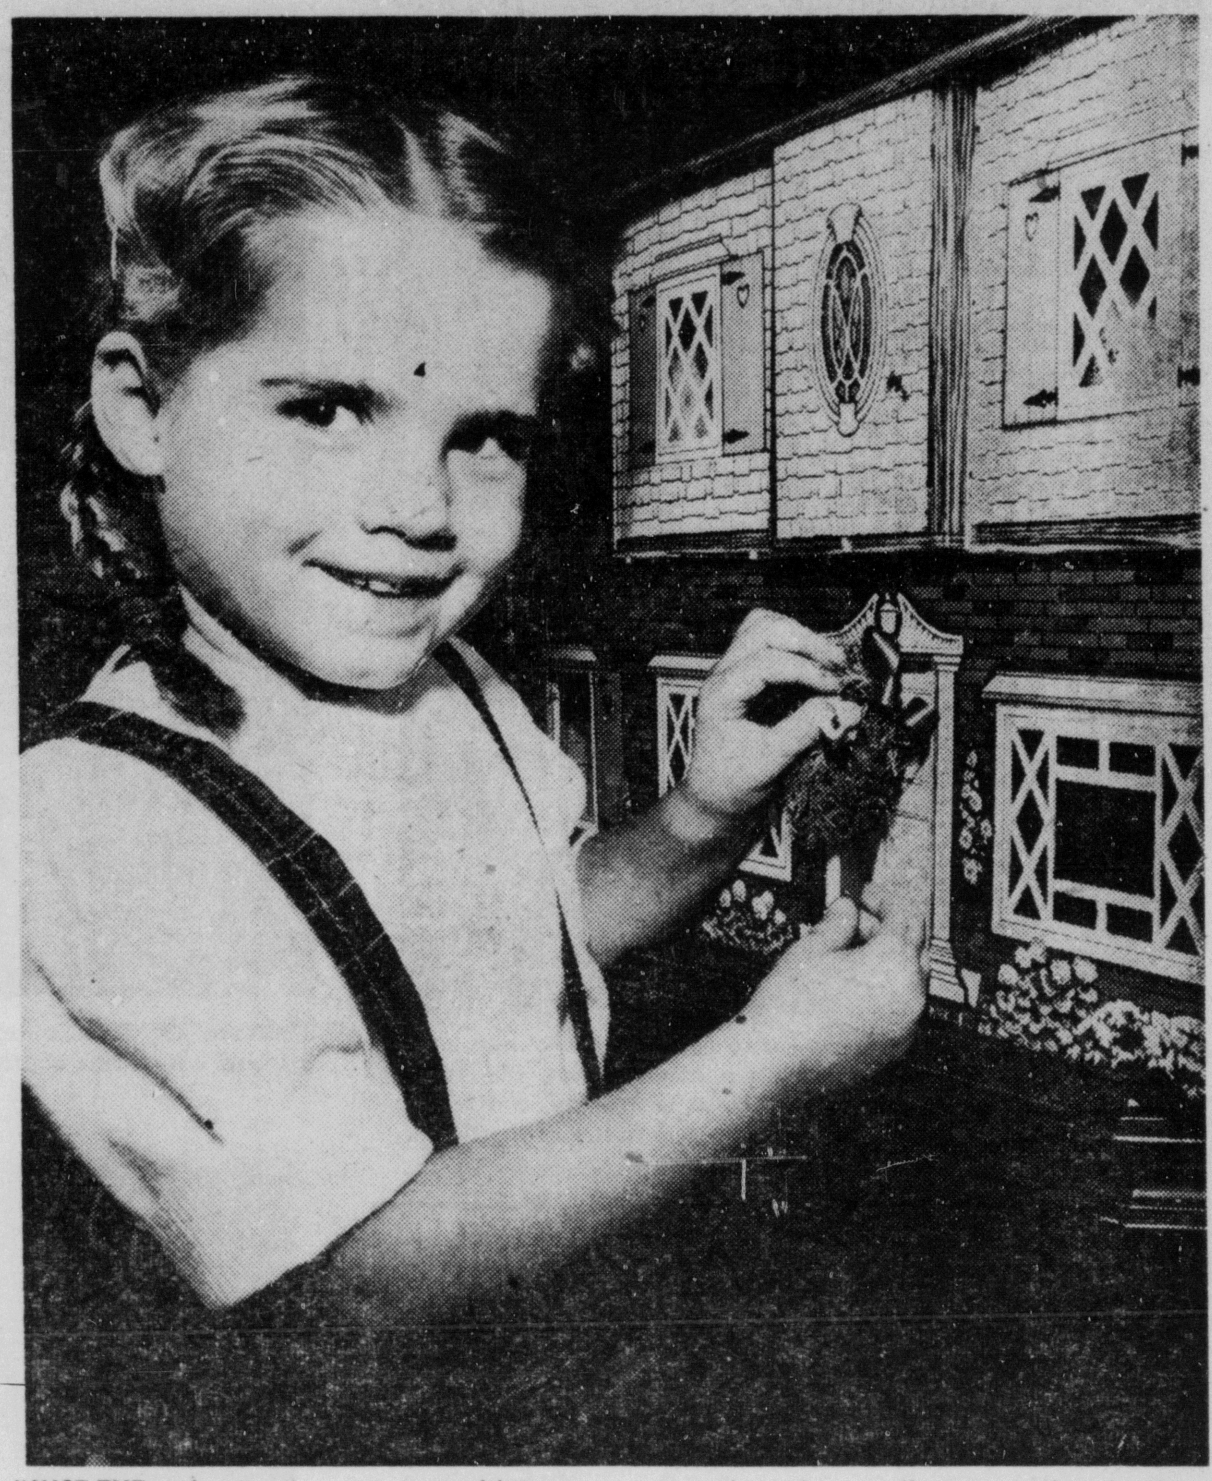
The guild has a year-round program of work and classes, but its most intensified efforts are directed toward a holiday sales program. This has become not only a major source of financial help for the center, but one of the biggest events of its kind in the entire Bay Area.

In December, work with permanent dried materials takes a temporary back seat as guild members turn their attention to fresh materials. Here again they work in the field of conservation, as they solicit evergreen cuttings from Marin residents and make them into the traditional fresh wreaths, garlands and swags for holiday-time decorating.

The guild's annual Christmas Greens Sale is on the calendar for next weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A public preview party, complete with music and free hot punch, is scheduled for 6 to 10 p.m. on Friday. Hours on Saturday and Sunday will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Christmas Cupboard, featuring homemade holiday foods, will be held at the same time under the sponsorship of the Pixie Parents, another center affiliate.

Also on next weekend's calendar at the center is the annual Christmas Sale sponsored by the Marin Society of Artists, to be held in the Frances Young Gallery. And the Northgate Group's Antique Shop will be open.



"JUST THE right size," says 4-year-old Dana Krohn, our little cover girl, as she tries a tiny Christmas wreath on the door of her doll house. Actually a lapel decoration, Dana's wreath is the smallest made by the Decorations Guild at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. Wreaths for "grown up" houses are far bigger.

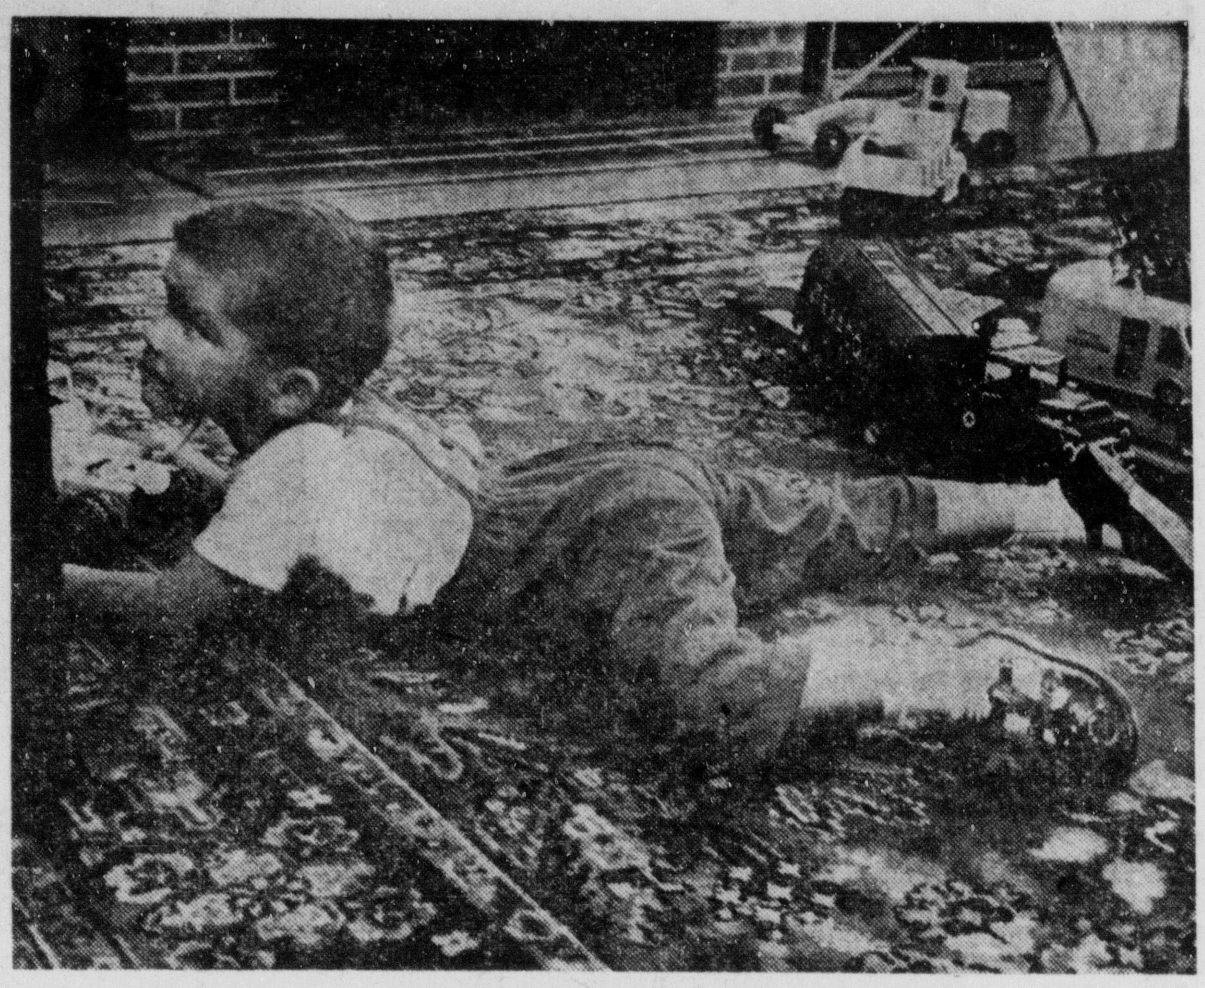
THIS IS TONY Hartmann of Corte Madera, who like any other 3-year-old enjoys wearing a cowboy hat. But Tony is no ordinary child. He has muscular distrophy, a disease which lays waste to the voluntary muscle tissue of the body.



BECAUSE OF THE ravages of the dreaded disease which has attacked his small body, little Tony cannot run or even walk like most children. As his principal method of locomotion, he must depend upon crawling.

MARINITES JOIN BATTLE AGAINST DREAD DISEASE

Last Sunday volunteer marchers went house to house throughout the county to collect funds to finance the search for a cure for dreaded muscular dystrophy.

Marin householders donated generously.

But at many homes the occupants were absent. And at these homes the marchers left behind addressed "sorry I missed you" envelopes for the householders to use in mailing in their contributions.

Today the Marin Muscular Dystrophy Chapter reminds you that, if you are among those who have not yet returned your envelope and contribution, your money is sorely needed by the Institute of Muscle Disease and its worldwide program against human suffering.

If volunteers failed to visit your house and you have no addressed envelope, you can still do your part. Just mail your donation to Marin County Chapter, Muscular Dystrophy, Box 604, Kentfield.

Little Tony Hartmann and many others like him will thank you.

DESPITE HIS HANDICAP, little Tony is a courageous and independent youngster. It is a difficult feat for him to feed himself, and his mother, Mrs. Hans Hartmann of 472 Corte Madera Avenue, sometimes has to help him a bit. But Tony prefers to feed himself.

NOR DOES his ailment prevent young Tony from being a happy child. He and his 5-year-old brother, Hans, are buddies. And here they enjoy a play session together in the Hartmann living room with a toy dragline and toy trucks.

TONY HAS THE advantage of a loving and caring family. His mother holds Tony on her lap while she reads to him, his brother Hans, and his sister, Margaret, 6. What Tony does not have is a weapon to cure his disease. That is what the Institute of Muscle Disease is seeking. And what the current Muscular Dystrophy Fund drive is all about. BOOK REVIEWS

Story Of A Traitor Carries Its Warning

I, BENEDICT ARNOLD, by Cornel Lengyel, Doubleday and Co., 214 pages, $3.95. Reviewed by Bryce W. Anderson.

The downward course of Benedict Arnold from being the first great hero of the American Revolution to becoming its greatest villain is made understandable — and highly readable — in "I, Benedict Arnold."

Author Cornel Lengyel, a Californian by adoption who lives on a homestead in El Dorado National Forest, has given his volume the sub-title, "The Anatomy of Treason."

It is, indeed, the anatomy of Arnold's treason. And running through it is the thread to be found in other famous —and infamous—lives: The same perversion of nationalism linked to a conscienceless hunger for power that made a French corporal the Emperor Napoleon and a German corporal the Reichsfueher Hitler; the same placing of self-interest above all that led Cesare Borgia to a kingdom and a dungeon cell, Ivar Krueger to a fabulous fortune and suicide.

The story takes Benedict Arnold from the height of his glory, when his horse fell atop him and broke his hip at Saratoga, to his death in England in 1801, a bitter, frustrated old man whose every scheme had been rejected—since the one scheme to deliver the fortress of West Point to His Brittanic Majesty's troops in September, 1780.

One is left with a little nagging wonder as to whether, if his injury had not incapacitated him for active field command, Arnold might not have gone on to greater glory as a leader of the American Revolution—glory, perhaps, to rival that of Washington himself? And if he had, might not the crown that Washington spurned have been placed upon Arnold's brow by the Tory schemers? The seed of treason was there in Arnold, coupled with the ability and the daring—the stuff that has made other heroes into despots from the earliest history to the present.

"I, Benedict Arnold" is worth reading for entertainment, for knowledge, for stimulation—and as a warning.

HENRY A. WALLACE. QUIXOTIC CRUSADE 1948 by Karl M. Schmidt, Syracuse University Press, 362 pages, $5.50. Reviewed by Don Keown.

Henry A. Wallace was, without question, one of the most controversial figures in American politics during the 1930s and 1940s.

There were those to whom he was a dangerous radical—a Communist dupe. There were others who regarded him as an impractical idealist or mystic. And there were still many others to whom he was an inspiring, courageous leader and humanitarian.

Professor Schmidt's book is more an account and analysis of the 1948 presidential campaign of the Progressive Party headed by Wallace than it is a biography of Wallace. And as such it presents a fascinating picture of a third party's struggles in this two-party country. But it also offers a sympathetic and enlightening picture of Wallace himself.

As Schmidt sees him, the two guiding principles of Wallace's political career were his complete devotion to Christian ideals and his steadfast dedication to the welfare of the common man. Schmidt sees Wallace as an effective, stimulating ideological leader, but at the same time as a man with no ability for or interest in political organization.

The Progressive Party's campaign of 1948 was a dismal failure, Schmidt believes, largely because of the swing to the left of the Democratic Party as engineered by Harry S. Truman, which stole much of the thunder from Wallace's domestic programs; the belligerence of Russia at a time when the Progressive candidates were trying to convince this nation it could deal with the Soviets in the interest of peace; and the success of the opposition in linking the new party with the Communists.

On the latter point, Schmidt feels that while the Communists influenced the course and policies of the Progressive Party, they did not control it. The Communists' voice would have been smaller, he adds, if more anti-red liberals had responded to the third party call.

He also feels that despite its resounding defeat at the polls and its subsequent disintegration, the Progressive Party did leave a lasting imprint upon the American political picture.

Professor Schmidt's research is exhaustive and scholarly, his writing lively and interesting. An excellent book for those who like to look and probe inside politics and politicians.

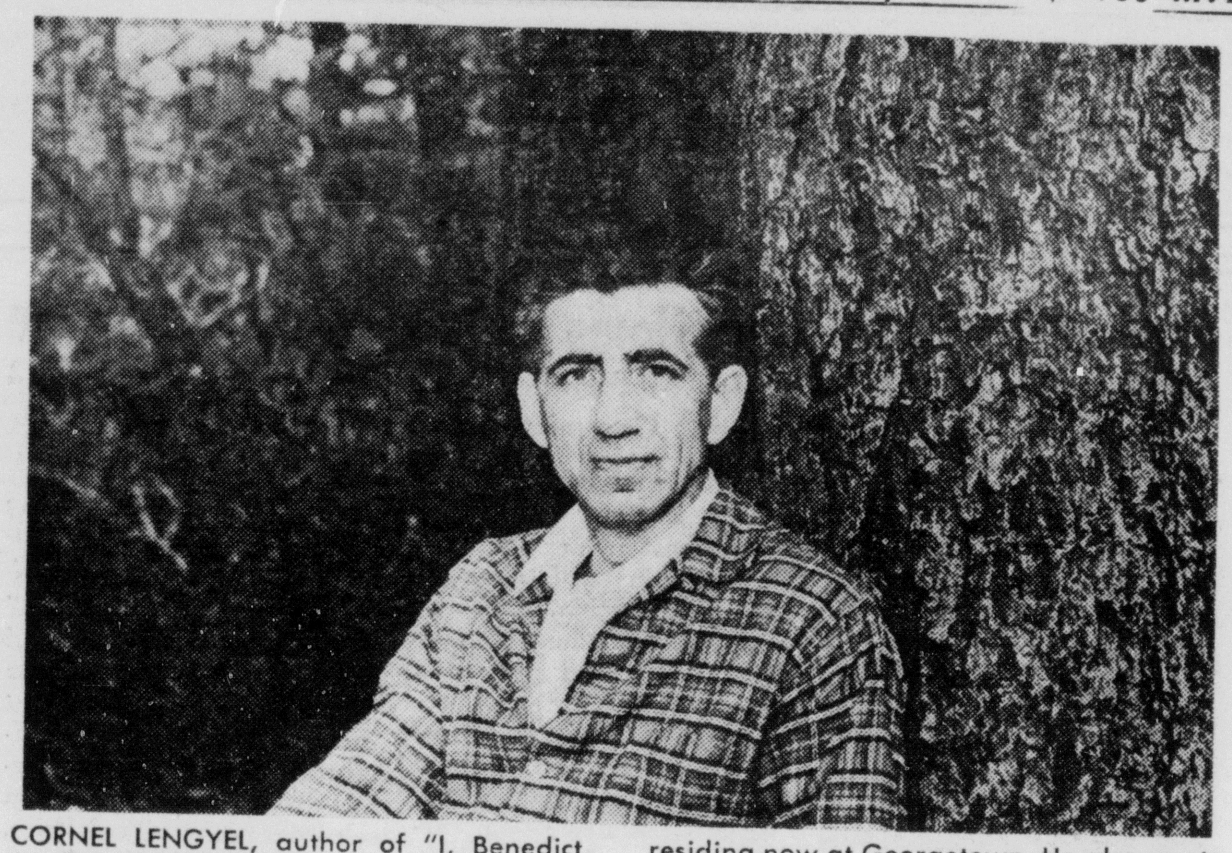
LISTEN, YANKEE by C. Wright Mills, Ballantine Books Inc., 192 pages, 50 cents. Reviewed by Don Keown.

Most Americans are not afraid to hear "the other side" in any controversy. This, then, is the Cuban side of the current controversy between the U. S. and the Castro government.

Written by C. Wright Mills, author of "The Causes of World War Three," "Power Elite," "White Collar" and other books, it is in the language of a Cuban revolutionary. This Castro-ite asserts, in brief, that the Cuban revolution has been misrepresented to the people of the U.S., that Cuban resentment against the U.S. is based on real grievances, and that unless the U.S. awakens to its mistakes it will lose out in Latin America, Asia and Africa.

It is an angry, outspoken, admittedly biased assertion of the Cuban point-of-view. But all of us should be willing, even anxious, to learn more about what the people in control of this Caribbean country at our doorstep are thinking—and why.

While the review copy we read was a paperback issued by Ballantine, the book has also been published simultaneously in hardcover form by the McGraw-Hill Book Co.



CORNEL LENGYEL, author of "I, Benedict Arnold," dealing with this country's most infamous case of treason, is a Californian, residing now at Georgetown. He also wrote "Four Days in July," the story of the Declaration of Independence.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Mr. Wizard, TV Favorite, Now Available In Books

BEGINNING SCIENCE WITH MR. WIZARD by Don Herbert and Hy Ruchlis, Doubleday and Co., two books, 32 pages each. Reviewed by Don Keown.

The first two of a scheduled four-book series, these deal with flying and heat. Those yet to come will be on water and light.

Herbert or Mr. Wizard is, of course, the star of the television show which has both entertained and enlightened children for the past decade, and which has won numerous TV honors. Co-author Ruchlis is a science teacher.

In these books the two attempt to answer the questions of curious youngsters in the 6 to 10-year-old age range. They succeed well.

Simple and convincing experiments which any child can perform in his own home without special equipment are outlined. And black and white line drawings by Mel Hunter are a further aid to the young readers.

If your child enjoyed the Mr. Wizard TV shows or if he is at all curious about the natural world about him, he will both enjoy and profit from the books of this series.

HUNGER PAINS

A need for recognition, the ego's favorite food
is an essential part of diet for my growing brood.
The simple fare they ask for—their special cup of tea
and one they never tire of is "Mama, look at me!"

I've heard it from a treetop, and lifting fearful eyes
have seen it wear a show-off smile when caution
it defies.
It also speeds around the block—no hands for me to see
and the catching of a garden snake prompts, "Mama, look at me!"

Marking time on the board at the summer pool
are two knobby knees shivering over waters cool—
then a frog-like leap toward the distant sea
carries the air-borne words, "Mama, look at me!"

And the sheep I envisage for counting at night
are frightened away by this freckled-face sprite
as he gambol's o'er fences, coaxing tired eyes to see with a "Don't sleep yet, Mama—first look at me!"

"IS WEIGHTED SILK SERVICEABLE?"

A silk is termed "Weighted" when it has metallic weighting usually tin salts, or some adulterating material in the fabric. The Federal Trade Commission has ruled that silk fabrics that have more than 10% weighting (in black silk 15% is permitted) must be labeled and sold as weighted silk and the amount of the weighting must be on the label.

Of course a weighted silk is not as serviceable as a pure dye silk. The more weighting a silk has, the less serviceable it becomes. A weighted silk may split or crack with very little wear or when it is dry cleaned. Perspiration and sunlight weaken it quickly. Removal of spots and stains is more difficult than in pure dye silks because the spot removal agents may react on the weighting and damage the fabrics.

But all is not gloom surrounding weighted silks. They are, in most cases, less expensive than pure dye silks. Frequently they drape better than comparable construction of pure dye silk fabrics. Also, weighted silk can be dry cleaned, wet cleaned or laundered, depending on the dye, the weighting and general construction.

In the case of "Silk," "Pure Dye Silk" or "All Silk" the Federal Trade Commission has ruled that these fabrics must not contain any weighting materials. Look for labels when selecting your silk fabrics. Weighted silks should so state. Both weighted and pure dye silks have their places in your wardrobe, and next week we will discuss "Pure Dye Silks."

THIS TALL VASE, 19½ inches high, stoneware, dipped glaze, dark blue and black, won for Edwin A. Cadogan of Kentfield the 25 dollar Heath Ceramics Award in the current Association of San Francisco Potters exhibition at the M. H. de Young Museum in San Francisco. The exhibition will continue through Jan. 4.

Marin Well Represented At Pottery Show In S.F.

The Marin influence is apparent at the current Association of San Francisco Potters juried exhibition of pottery and sculpture at San Francisco's M. H. de Young Museum.

Twelve of the 46 association members whose work was accepted for display are Marinites.

And perhaps the most influential single exhibitor of the lot is Edwin Cadogan, head of the art department of the College of Marin in Kentfield. His tall dip glazed blue and white stoneware vase won the 25-dollar Heath Ceramics Purchase Award.

Furthermore, everyone of the 11 other Marin potters represented in the exhibition have at one time or another worked and studied under Cadogan at the Collegeof Marin.

A native of San Francisco, Cadogan graduated from the California School of Fine Arts and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from San Francisco State College and a Master in Fine Arts degree from the California College of Arts and Crafts.

He started working in ceramics in 1934 and now teaches both regular and adult classes at the College of Marin, as well as being the head of the art department. He has done much experimenting with local clays and minerals.

He has won many local and national awards including Syracuse, N.Y., National annuals and Pacific Coast annuals, the California State Fair, the Richmond Art Museum annual, the Scripps College, Claremont, internationals and the Marin Society of Artists.

He also teaches painting at the College of Marin and has had one-man shows in Paris, where he studied painting, in New York City and at Gumps Gallery in San Francisco.

Other Marin exhibitors at the pottery show include Mrs. Esther L. Beasley, Mrs. Vera Borzy, Mrs. Bernice Brown and Mrs. Frieda Burkhart, all of San Anselmo; Mrs. Mary Lindheim, Mrs. Elizabeth Prest and Almada Washburn of Sausalito; John Dempsey and Mrs. Billie Wilson of Kentfield, Mrs. Ann Jack of Corte Madera, and Mrs. Gwynne Peticolas of Mill Valley.

Also on display is the pottery of Fred Roth, a student at the College of Marin who has won the 1960 Elisabeth Moses Memorial Award given for outstanding work by a student in the field of ceramics.

The eleventh exhibition of the Association of San Francisco Potters will continue at the de Young Museum through Jan. 4.

STEREO NOTES

Two Of The Brightest Choices In The Deluge Of Yule Records

By JOHN SUNIER

CAROLS FOR CHRISTMAS by EILEEN FARRELL — Columbia MS 6165 — and THE HOLLY AND THE IVY by MORMON TABERNACLE CHOIR—Col. MS 6192.

Here are two bright choices out of the annual deluge of Christmas records, graced with beautiful stereo sound.

Eileen Farrell can sing just about anything, from gutsy blues to Bach arias, and her voice is one of today's musical wonders. She brings her usual fine musicianship and enthusiasm to this program of carols in special arrangements with orchestra and chorus conducted by Luther Henderson. The arrangements are different without being over-arranged.

The 375-voice Mormon Tabernacle Choir conducted by Richard P. Condie assemble in stereophonic g r a n d e u r amidst the cavernous acoustics of the Salt Lake City Tabernacle for their program of Christmas Carols. Being a larger group than Mrs. Farrell-Reagan, (some may disagree on that point) they would seem to be more difficult to understand, especially in the unfamiliar selections among the carols. However, the stereo sound makes enunciation much clearer. It has long seemed to me that the most startling realism in s t e r e o reproduction was achieved with choral groups.

Both fine albums are excellent gifts.

SOUZA—Frederick Fennell and Eastman W i n d Ensemble — Mercury SR90264.

Even people who don't especially like marches will be thrilled by this stirring effort of Maestro Fennell and his superb ensemble.

This is the second volume of Sousa marches by the group, the first being "Marching Along," also in stereo on Mercury. That must have included the more popular marches, because most of the ones in this set are rather unfamiliar to me.

THIS ALBUM cover is from the second volume of Souza marches recorded by Frederick Fennell and the Eastman Wind Ensemble on the Mercury label.

The stereo effect is such that you will be tempted to move aside to let the band march right out of your loudspeakers!

THE MUSIC OF BOB COOPER — Stereo Records S7012—Bob, senior regular with Howard Rumsey's Lighthouse All-Stars, recently appeared at San Francisco's Blackhawk with that group. Perhaps a goodly number of records are sold to persons who have just heard the particular performer in person. At least that's what happened to me with Bob Cooper.

His clean, neat and imaginative solos on tenor sax and oboe made me want to hear more, and this Stereo Record provides its.

Side one is taken up by "Jazz Theme and Four Variations," a ballad theme followed by four variations in various moods, derived from parts of the original theme. The sextet consists of Lighthouser Frank Rosolino on trombone, V i c t o r Feldman, vibes; Lou Levy, piano; Max Bennett, bass, and Mel Lewis, drums. On the second, third and fourth variations, the sextet is augmented by three trumpets and a trombone. Each variation allows plenty of improvisatory space, but still the whole work hangs together beautifully.

Side two presents five jazz standards, including a standout version of "Frankie and Johnny," a nice treatment of "Day Dream," a favorite of Bob's wife, singer J u n e Christy. My only complaint is not hearing at least one track with Bob's famous oboe, on which he really wails.

The two-channelling sound engineering is superb and the music will withstand repeated hearing.

A fine addition to a stereo library of West Coast jazz.

THREE CONVICTS help smooth the road to romance for this young couple — James Menlove of San Anselmo and Catherine Mersereau of Belvedere — in the current Cove Player attraction, "My Three Angels." It is seen Friday and Saturday nights in the Tiburon Playhouse, starting at 8:30 p.m. A three weekend run ends next weekend. (Photo by Ken Reichard)

Wood Box Handy When Winds Howl

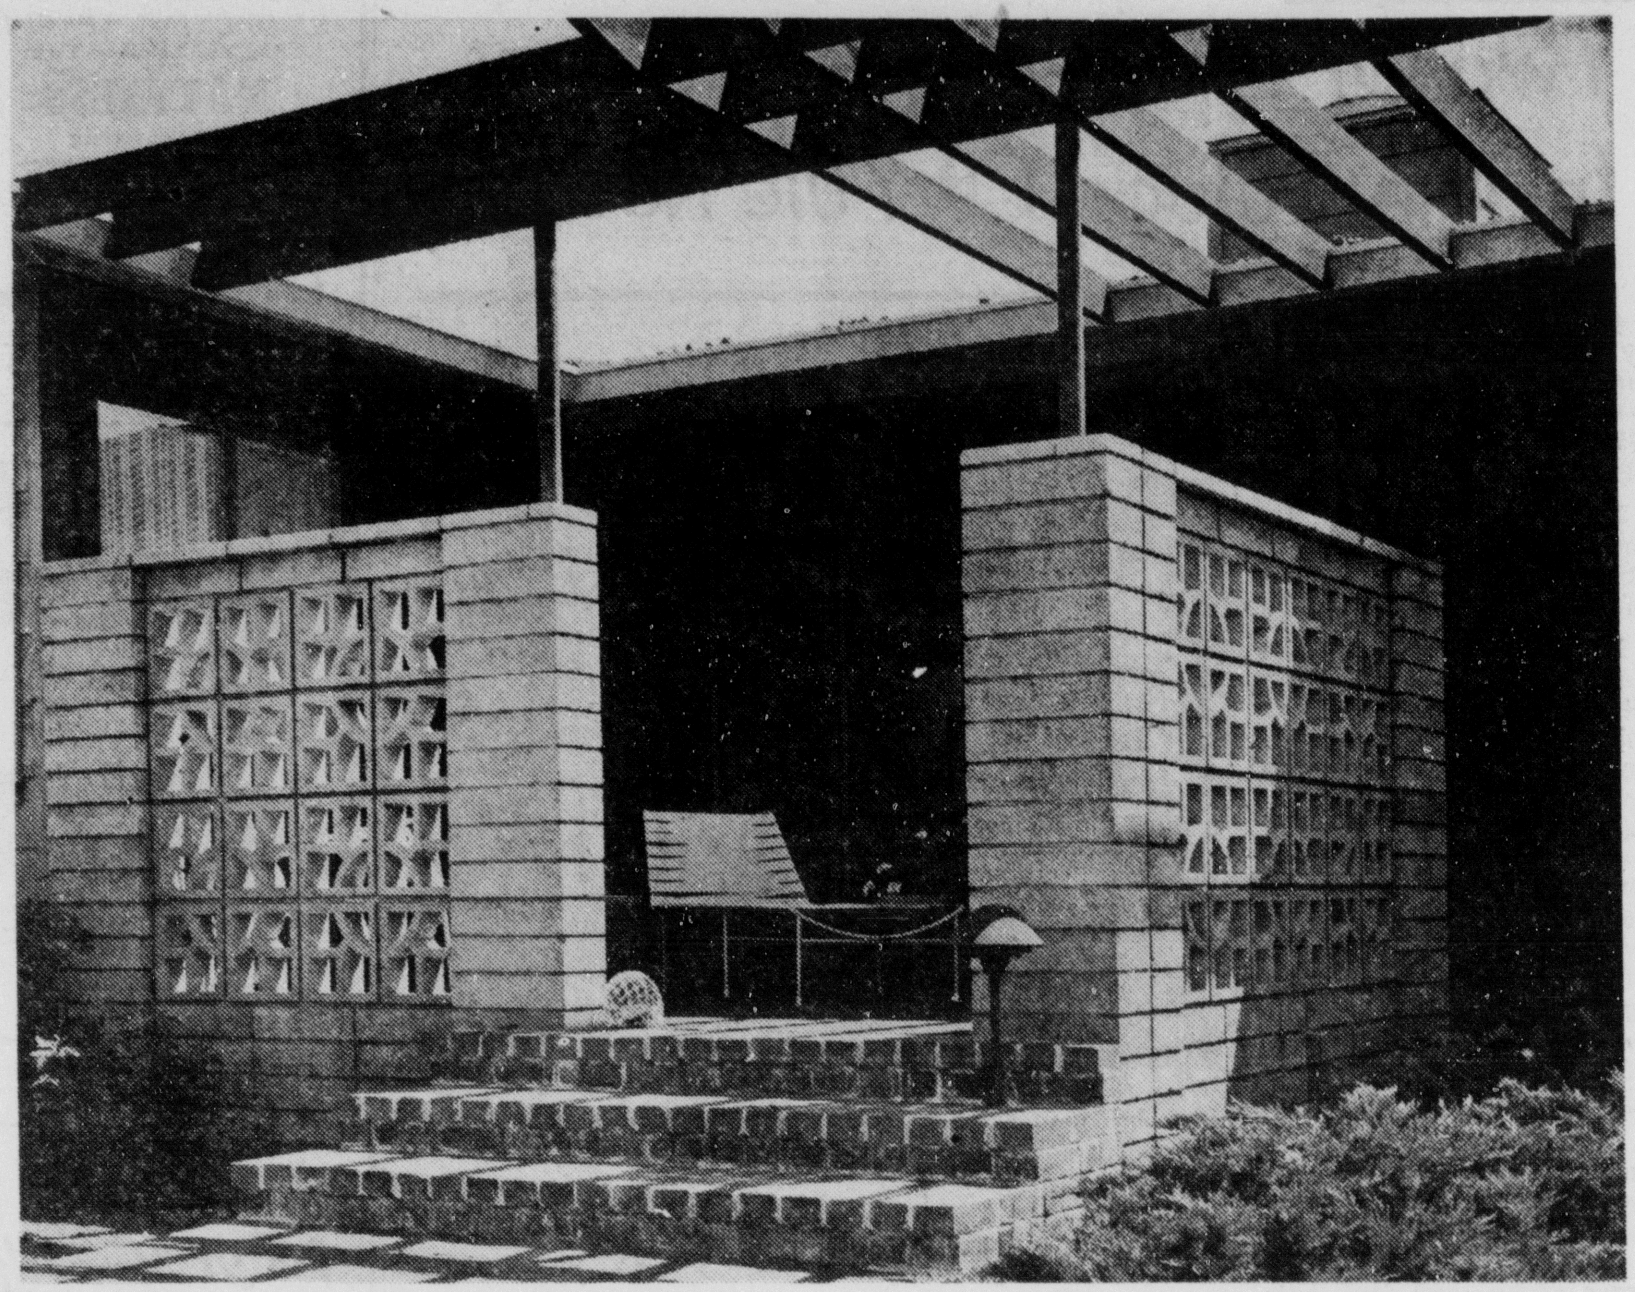
When winter winds howl and rain pelts against the windows, there's nothing like an open fire.

However, the man of the house usually resents (and rightly so) going to the cellar or the back yard for an armload of wood.

A rugged wood box can be built of rough-sawn lumber stained to match a rustic room. Or, you might prefer a smooth, painted surface. An interesting decorative idea is to stain the wood with color pigment to match or complement other colors in the room. The wood box may or may not have a top on it, as you like.

When selecting wood for the box, you will find the 10 western pine region species readily available at your retail lumber yard. These woods are easily shaped and worked, and may be finished to a wide variety of effects.

The Western Pine Assn. recommends using screws rather than nails in building the box. The screw heads may be inset and the holes filled with plastic wood. The result will be a sturdy, rugged box ready to add charm to your home . . . and pre-storm storage for your fireplace wood.



AN INTIMATE entrance from the street that also serves as a splendid winter sunning area (with western exposure), that's what landscape architect William Kapranos and landscape contractors Cagwin and Dorward provided at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hulme at 79 Summit Avenue in San Rafael. Kids Love A Living Yule Tree

Such ever-green, ever-fresh looks are not to be found in trees off a lot. And, of course, the "living Christmas tree" will stay fresh looking in your living room.

Kids love the idea of a real live tree—one that grows with them and shares their holiday seasons with them year after year. And you'll love having an attractive tubbed conifer to grace your outdoor living area during the other 11 months of the year.

Californians have long made use of "living Christmas trees" for outdoor use. Every year more people are discovering the joy of having them indoors, too. According to the California Assn. of Nurserymen, the Deodar Cedar has long been the favorite for hanging outside lights on. Its perfect, conical shape, lacy texture and full foliage have also put it among the top conifers for indoor use. It seems happy in a tub and will serve you well for several years when left in one. Foliage is light green with a silvery cast. Spruce hold heavy ornaments better.

In the spruce family, nurseries offer two lovely specimens for use indoors or out. Norway Spruce has been moving up the popularity scale as more people discover its merits—rich green foliage, full symmetrical form and short, trim "needles" which show off decorations to advantage. The other is Colorado Blue Spruce, whose fir-like foliage has a definite blue cast to it. Conical in shape, it is extremely full and attractive.

Of the Pines, Monterey Pine and Japanese Black Pine start out slowly enough in life to be of use during the holidays. There is a certain rustic charm in their long needles that many people like, and the natural symmetry of young trees can be prolonged by growing them in containers. Plant them later in the garden and watch them grow to forest-size proportion. You get your money's worth for sure.

SOME DECEMBER SHORTS FOR MARIN GARDENERS

The mortality rate among Christmas gift plants is needlessly high. People get them, "ooh and ah" over them and expect them to take care of themselves. Don't forget that these same blooming specimens will live to bloom again and again if you take care of them. Plenty of water is the first need and can best be supplied if you occasionally sink the pot in a tub of water long enough for the root ball to soak through.

The call is out for holiday decor and you'll find plenty of answers at any nearby nursery lot. Pyracanthas are showy and colorful. Holley comes in myriad shapes and sizes. The native California Christmas Berry (Toyon) is one of the best not only in berry, but in foliage during the rest of the year. A trip through the nursery at this time will turn up others as well.

The deciduous Saucer Magnolias are one of the most colorful contributors to the garden in early spring. Their cups of bloom—usually white with varying degrees of purple—are borne in such profusion as to cover the tree or shrub entirely before the foliage arrives. Slow growing, they will fit into pocket-size situations in practically any garden.

EARLY ARRIVAL

The New Bareroot Roses Are Here, But Are You Ready?

Bareroot rose planting time is upon us in Marin.

The nurserymen tell us that the plants are arriving early this year.

And if you haven't already done so, then, they say, you should at once take a long, hard look at the roses you already grow. Are they performing as they should? Or has old age and/or neglect reduced them to only a fraction of their flower-producing capabilities? Are they the varieties you really want? Or would some of the newer roses be more to your liking?

Such decisions are yours and yours alone to make, but if uprooting a long-time resident of your garden is more than you can bear to do, your nearby nurseryman can lend you some moral support.

He reminds us that the rose is one of nature's most prolific flower-producing vehicles. It is not grown for foliage, but for the continuous weeks of color it offers us in spring, summer and fall. If a rose seems reluctant to produce this show, it is only natural to replace it. So harden your heart and pull. Then go shopping for new rose plants.

If your ground is poor, you should already be in the process of preparing planting holes for your new roses by working in liberal amounts of steer manure, some leaf mold and some bone meal.

If you are introducing roses into your garden for the first time, select a sunny site with enough room to accommodate rose bushes. While one rose may be better than none, several are a hundred times better than one.

Roses were meant for each other, and are far more effective when grown enmasse.

A CHECKLIST FOR MARIN GARDENERS

Here is the checklist for Marin Gardeners for the coming week:

- Deciduous fruit trees can be pruned now. Check with your nurseryman to find out which ones to prune and how much to prune them.
- Another planting of Ranunculus will keep the succession of bloom going longer next spring. Keep planting them through winter.
- The perennial vegetables — Artichoke, Asparagus and Rhubarb — can be planted this month and next. All three have some ornamental value.

Christmas To Make Itself Felt On Television During Coming Week

THE CHRISTMAS season will begin to make itself felt on television during the coming week.

One of the big holiday specials will be seen Friday at 8:30 p.m. on KRON-TV (Channel 4) when Patricia Neway, Brenda Lewis, Stephen Douglas and Jerome Hines star in Philip Bezanson's original opera, "The Golden Child." It has a California gold rush setting, a Christmas theme.

A holiday mood treat for the small ones will be a showing of the two-hour Judy Garland movie classic, "Wizard of Oz," over the CBS-TV network and KPIX-TV (Channel 5) tomorrow at 6 p.m. Richard Boone and his 7-year-old son, Peter, will act as hosts.

Adults will also have their funfest when the 90-minute TV version of Mary Chase's Pulitzer Prize-winning comedy, "Harvey," starring Art Carney, is repeated Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. on KPIX.

All will not be light and frothy, however. Recently TV showed us a stark documentary revealing the shameful plight of our migratory field workers.

Tonight KPIX will carry a report on another segment of the neglected—this time the 15 million refugees overseas. Actor Yul Brynner will narrate the film based on his recent visit to refugees in Europe and the Middle East in his role as special consultant to the United Nations high commissioner on refugees. It will be seen at 8:30 p.m.

Also tonight: A debate between Professors C. Wright Mills and Adolph A. Berle Jr. on U. S. Cuban and Latin American policy at 9:30 p.m. on KRON.

Sunday's best: An Omnibus report on New York's "Night People," 5 p.m., on KRON, and Nathaniel Hawthorne's masterful ghost story, "The House of the Seven Gables" with Shirley Temple, Agnes Moorehead, and Robert Culp, 7 p.m., also on Channel 4.

Monday at 9:30 p.m. Bob Hope will host Jimmy Durante in a battle of the noses, with pretty Polly Bergen refereeing: It will be seen on KRON. And again on KRON, Tuesday at 10 p.m., a one-hour adventure special, "O'Connor's Ocean," starring John Payne. It's a trial balloon for a possible series.

KQED's Tuesday night (8:30 p.m.) "Open End" program will be devoted to movie talk by a panel of writers, directors and producers. And Channel 9's Friday, 8:30 p.m., "Drama Festival" will repeat the BBC production of Maxim Gorsky's "Lower Depths" which was also seen this week.

And Wednesday's "Play of the Week" on KTVU-TV will be the Meade Roberts comedy, "Palm Tree in a Rose Garden," with Glenda Farrell and Barbara Baxley.

FOR THE SPORTS fans during the coming week:

For the second straight weekend this evening's Saturday night boxing bout will be a championship affair. Benny (Kid) Paret defends his welterweight title against Federico Thompson in a 15-round all-Latin American affair that will be seen at 7 p.m. on KGO-TV. And tonight's college basketball game, starting at 8 p.m. on KTVU-TV, will pit the St. Mary's Gaels against the California Golden Bears.

Two pro football games will be on TV tomorrow. KRON-TV will carry the Philadelphia Eagle-Pittsburgh Steeler clash starting at 11 a.m. And KPIX-TV (Channel 5) will air the Baltimore Colt-Los Angeles Ram tilt beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Next Saturday will be an even bigger football day. The bowl game season will get underway then as KRON-TV carries the Liberty Bowl contest between Pennsylvania State and the University of Oregon at 10 a.m., and KPIX covers the Bluebonnet Bowl tilt between Texas and Alabama universities beginning at 10:45 a.m. Then at 1:30 p.m. KPIX will shift to pro football and air the Green Bay Packer-Los Angeles Ram tussle.

ON THE MOVIE front this coming week:

KGO has scheduled a full week of Jimmy Stewart movies in its 11 p.m. time spot starting Monday.

Thursday at 3 p.m. KRON will show an Ingrid Bergman suspense film, "Fear." And an only average Bergman movie still ranks well above the best efforts of most of our other stars.

Other good bets: Tonight on KGO at 11 p.m., Ronald Colman in Charles Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities"; tomorrow at 1 p.m. on KGO, the Barrymores — John, Lionel and Ethel—in "Rasputin and the Empress"; Wednesday at 2 p.m. on KTVU, Paul Muni in "The Story of Louis Pasteuer"; and Friday at 11:15 p.m. on KPIX, Bing Crosby and Sir Cedric Hardwicke in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," a remake of the old Will Rogers classic.

LEE CROSBY, once with Marin's station KTIM, has joined the staff of KHIP-FM, San Francisco's 40,000 watt all-jazz radio station.

A specialist in traditional jazz, blues and American folk music, he is heard Monday through Saturday from 5 to 6 p.m., and on Sundays from 4 to 5 p.m.

Crosby is the founder and president of the Societe' Jazz Traditionale, an organization composed of several thousand devotees of Dixieland jazz.

Still another recent recruit at KHIP is John Sunier, the young Sausalitan who is an expert on just about everything stereo, and who writes record reviews for your Marin Magazine. He recently made the switch from another Bay Area station to rapidly-rising KHIP. Sunier now has a new program—"Sounds Different" from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

At KHIP Crosby and Sunier join the likes of Ralph Gleason and Jimmy Lyons and further strengthen a lively staff that has stolen the jazz limelight away from KJAZ which formerly held down that spot.
